The first postmaster was Mr. Richard Cranch, who received his commission April 1, 1795. This post office was located in the southeasterly street, in a small building placed there for the purpose. This fine estate is now in the possession of Mr. James Edwards.

Mr. Cranch's death occurred in 1811, and Dr. Benjamin Vinton was appointed to succeed him January 1, 1812. Dr. Vinton removed the office to his house on Granite street, corner of Hancock street, (next to the residence of the late John Briesler), which is still standing. Dr. Vinton died in 1813, having held the office somewhat over one year. After his decease Mr. Mottram Veazie, the old Town Clerk, whose portrait still hangs in City Hall, received his commission as postmaster October 1, 1813. During Mr. Veazie's ad ministration the office was kept at his residence, on Hancock street, where the Hancock Hotel, (now the Adams Academy poarding-house), stands.

At the death of Mr. Veazie, he was suc ceeded by Mr. Daniel French, August 11, 1825. Mr. French continued in office until March 20, 1849, having held the position for twenty-four successive years; if we include his re-appointment in 1853, which lasted about one year, it would make twenty-five years that he served the public in this capacity. Mr. French transacted the business of the office in his hotel, which was the old Veazie house, until he erected a more spacious hotel in 1837 on the same site.

A political change in administration of the government caused Mr. French to be

Creates Amusement in the House of Commons by Apt Comparisons. LONDON, Feb. 28 .- In the house of com-

In the course of the debate Mr. Gladstone drew from Mr. Chaplin, president of the board of agriculture, who stoutly opposed the motion, an admission of his belief that the ultimate payer of rates was the landlord, whereupon Mr. Gladstone, amid laughter from the house, said he deduced the important conclusion that the £5,000,000 that Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, recently apportioned from taxation for relief rates was a boon to landlords at the expense of rate payers. On Mr. Goschen's trying to explain what he termed Mr. Chaplin's "unfortunate" admission, Mr. Gladstone created further laughter by saying he wondered at the necessity of one minister explaining another's speech, but supposed it had something to do with the maintenance of union. In the egurse of his stone said he found it very hard to refrain from applying strong words to the proposals of Henry George, whom he would without pity or remorse throw to the tender mercies of Mr. Chaplin. Passed as a Substitute to the Shipping Bill.

MR. BLAIR GETS AN OFFICE.

Nominated and Confirmed as Minister to China-An Indiana Man to Be United States Treasurer, Vice Huston-Other Washington News of Interest.

Washington, Feb. 28.—No measure be-fore the present congress has excited the interest that the shipping bill has. Since it was taken up for consideration on Thursday morning there has been the most earnest canvassing and the widest varying predictions as to the result from ley of Maine, who were leading the fight for the measure, felt reasonably certain of success, but those who were so much interested could see that after the speech of Hopkins of Illinois on Thursday, the drift was against tonnage subsidy.

It was not until yesterday afternoon that the friends of the bill began to be really auxions. They learned that sev-eral western Republicans had turned really auxions. They learned that several western Republicans had turned against them after the vote by which the privileges of the measure were extended to sailing vessels. This it was said would cause an outlay that would frighten the people. The first vote came on the mo-tion for the third reading. It was defeated, 147 to 143. Dingley changed his vote and made a motion to reconsider. Whereupon McMillin moved to lay the motion on the table. McMillin was beaten, and Dingley's motion to reconsider was carried, 148 to 143. The friends of the bill were roused from heir despair by this turn of affairs, and began to count on victory, when Cannon upset all their calculations by mov-ing to recommit the subsidy shipping bill, with instructions to report back immetion of 33 1-3 per cent. on the senate rates. great confusion, many Republicans did not seem to know how to vote. Those who were for the shipping subsidy bill did not want to be beaten, after getting their bill out of the jaws of defeat, and yet as the vote progressed they saw that their strength was waning. The result was a scramble to get the best they could out of the wreck, and dozens, including Mr. Dingley, changed their votes from no to ave. Cannon's motion was finally car-Chairman Farquhar had the mail submade the point that the chairman had no Indian Territory, at Asuncion; J.

To those interested in mail subsidy alone this measure is satisfactory in all particulars but the rates, and the hope is restore the senate rates in conference. Pending Farquhar's demand for the previous question, Breckenridge of Kentucky moved to lay the bill on the table. This was defeated, yeas, 129; nays, 146; and then Farquhar withdrew his demand in order to make a few remarks, in which he declared that as a loyal citizen who wanted to see the flag of his country on every sea, he accepted the verdict of the house, but he held a list of nations and four dependencies who annually expend National bank of Burlington, Vt.

but previous to this he had been taken into the family of Richard Bartlett, where he worked on the farm and studied as opportunity offered. This was a few weeks each year in the common schools and two terms in the Plymouth academy. Then he began school teaching to get money for a college course, but ill health compelled him to be content with a single term in the New Hampshire Conference seminary. Then he read law; then went to the war as major of the Fifteenth New Hampshire regisenent. He was wounded, incapacitated and returned.

His first legislative experience was in the New Hampshire house of 1866, but he went to the senate in the next two years. Then he was a member of the Fortyfourth and Forty-fifth congresses. He was appointed to the United States senate as the successor of Charles H. Bell, took his sent on June 20, 1879, and has held the seat on June 20, 1879, and has held the office by appointment ad interim, and election, ever since that time expired.

The most prominent measure with which Senator Blair has been connected is the educational bill known by his name, in which it was proposed to appropriate some $77,000,000 to be divided among the states according to the degree of illiteracy.

After various vicissitudes, this was killed varying predictions as to the result from the beginning of the debate. The measure had the endorsement of the Republican leaders, with the exception of Mr. Cannon, and the influence of the administration was understood to be strongly in its favor. Up to yesterday afternoon Messrs. Farquhar of New York and Dingley of Maine, who were leading the fight for the measure, felt reasonably certain any section.

Gossip of Interest Concerning the Present and Future.

THE SITUATION IN IRELAND.

Priests are Swinging Toward Parnell and the McCarthvites are Losing Ground-The Prince of Wales' Spat with Her Royal Highness.

Copyright by the New York Associated Press LONDON, Feb. 28.—There is an increased expectancy of a general election in the It is known that Rt. Hon. William Henry Smith, first lord of the treasury, Rt. Hon. George J. Goschen, hancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, president of the Board of Trade, and Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin, president of the board of agriculture, believe the time opportune to test the fortunes of the party by an appeal to the country. Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, and Rt, Hon. C. T. Ritchie, president of the government local board, oppose the idea, the former desiring to accomplish conservative legislation for Ireland by forcing the passage of a local government measure before risking the chance of a long period of impotence out of office.

The members of the ministry who advocate a dissolution of parliament urge that the government can go to the country at the close of the present session, having on its side all the advantages of the split which has occurred in the Irish parlia-mentary party. They also say this advantage will be enhanced by the popularity of the government, gained by the existence of the labor commission and by the good budget records, which, it is generally believed, are not likely to endure for another year. Beneath these surface reasons are the unspoken fears that the Irish local government bill will tend to cause a rupture among the Unionists, while it will heal the dissensions now existing between some of the Irish parliamentary party and the British home rul-ers. Lord Salisbury's attitude on the question is believed to be largely in favor of an election next autumn if he can close the pacific era in his foreign policy by a settlement of the Behring sea d spate

A Social Sensation has been caused by the report of a verbal fracas between the queen and the Prince of Wales at Portmouth. Before going to the launch, the Prince of Wales heard through the foreign office alarming accounts of the position of ex-Empress Frederick in Paris. He decided to go and bring her away and wired the queen his intention. On arriving at the dockyard, and joining the queen's circle grouped around the bow of the Royal Arthur, the queen was heard accosting him with: "What do you sayturn my daughter out of Paris? Non-sense, it is is impossible." The prince replied in an undertone. The queen, visibly enraged, repeated that it was impossible to belive that any insult could be offered to her daughter in Paris. She then sat down and excitedly played her fingers on an electric battery, to the alarm of Pro-fessor Edgard and the dockyard officials, who dreaded a premature launching of

In further conversation she blamed the prince for the injudicious course he had taken and threatened to countermand his telegrams by herself wiring. The con-troversy, however, ended in harmony. The queen, appeared, talked over the matter with the prince, and the latter, before leaving Portsmouth, sent a cipher telegram to ex-Empress Frederick backing his own wishes with the queen's.

house upon the bank. The embankment on which the track lay was lifted above the low grounds, so that the view was unobstructed to the river, the landing, and the hills beyond.

On the low grounds the corn stalks stood in straggling rows, upright or inclined at various angles according to the wind's good pleasure, and the furrows, surcharged with overplus of moisture showed long slushy puddles half hidden, half revealed by tangles of cockle burrs.

Spanish needles and frostbitten pumpkin

Dr. Royal looked about with dissatisfied recognition in his glance. Six years had made no appreciable change in the aspect of Upper Virginia, he thought. The soil was as good-witness the crop of weeds-the system of cultivation as inadequate, and the general look of things as peacefully thriftless as ever. Had he been gifted with eyes in the back of his head and a focus through the opposite window his opinion would have been fully borne out by the dilapidation of the buildings near the station, the stretch of broomsedge and sassafras covered land around, and the joyous improvidence of a couple of negro boys who, with apples to sell and a trainful of possible customers at hand, suffered themselves to be seduced into inattention to business by a dog fight.

Debarred from this additional evidence, there was still enough within the his eyes, folding a railway rug sick man's range of vision to produce a feeling of discouragement which, in a well man, fresh from different conditions, might have developed into exasperation.

"Even the roads are as bad as ever," ther parts of the train, the he mused, glancing along the track which led across the low grounds to the broad opening on the willow fringed bank of the river.

In an instant his attention was arrested by a boat nearing the bank-a long, unwieldy, flat bottomed affair, presumably the ferryboat-guided and propelled by a couple of negroes with long poles. In the end of the boat nearthe dictum of the lady on est the shore sat a man on horseback. e. given with emphasis His reins were gathered up, his body bent slightly forward, and his knees clamped the sides of his horse. AFFAIRS IN HAWAII.

Things Not Running Smoothly with the New Ruler-King David's Funeral. SAN FRANCISCO. Feb. 28.-The U. S. flagship Charleston, just, arrived from Honolulu, brings word that the Hawaiian ministry refused to resign, and that Queen Ltliukaolani has appealed to the supreme court of Hawaii to oust them. Affairs were otherwise progressing quietly.

The funeral of King Kalakaua took place on the 16th inst. The funeral ceremonies occurred in the throne room of the palace, and the services were according to the ritual of the Episcopal church. The bishop of Honolulu and all the clergy of the city participated. The remains were then taken from the palace to the church, where a second service was held. The funeral pageant was the largest ever seen on the islands. The catafalque was surmounted by pyramidal domes, resting on pillars covered with black cloth, entwined with ribbons of silk. At the top of each pillar waved a heavy black plume, with white tips. The casket was an elaborate piece of native workmanship. The band from the Charleston headed the procession, which included officers, marines and sailors from the Charleston, the Mohican, and H. M. S. Nymph, natives and others. At the royal mausoleum, ceremonies were conducted by the bishop of Honolulu and Master Mason Phillips, a native choir chanting at intervals. During the progress of the cortege, minute guns were fired from the men-of-war in the harbor. and bells tolled in the city.

The third annual concert and ball of the Firemen's Relief Association held at Agricultural hall, last evening, was a complete success, the attendance being much too large for the size of the hall which during the early part of the evening was uncomfortably crowded. The hall was very prettily decorated with bunting and banners of national colors, and around the front of the stage was placed a hydrant and a coil of nose, and at the rear of the stage was a large fire alarm gong, upon which the ignal for the formation of sets was sounded and an excellent portrait of Chief Engineer George Cushing.

The special invited guests which included the chiefs of Boston, Malden, Middleboro Weymouth, Quincy, Cohasset, Brockton Abington, Braintree and other cities and towns were received at the Cushing House at 5 o'clock where they sat down to an elegant spread, which mine host Cushing

EXTRA SESSION

A Few Facts Which Indicate It to Be Unnecessary.

MR. BLAIR'S APPOINTMENT.

It is Said He Would Much Prefer Judgeship to the Chinese Mission -Mr. Manderson Chosen President Pro Tem. of the Senate - Other Interest ing News from the Nation's Capital.

WASHINGTON, March 2.-The house has accepted the report of the conference on the new judicial bill. The house, in agreeing to the conference on this bill yielded its own provisions, for the senate amendment was a substitute differing radically in essential features from the bill passed by the house, and reducing the number of judges from eighteen to nine. Of the acceptance of the conference report by the senate there is no doubt. and the bill will reach the president very soon. The certainty that this bill will be come a law has created a great deal of interest in the report that it might make an extra session of the senate of the next congress necessary. It has been sug-gested that it will be deemed important to put this new judiciary act into operation at the earliest possible moment, and that it would be doubtful whether the judges, who would be appointed under it, would care to enter upon their duties without confirmation: accordingly it was suggested that the president might decide to convene the new senate in extra session for the purpose of confirming these judges, as well as to dispose of certain other business, diplomatic in its character, which might be submitted.

A gentleman who is deeply interested in making certain plans which might be materially interfered with in the event of a called session of the senate, and who is on intimate terms at the White House, was successful in ascertaining that the intention of the president with respect to this matter is this: He has not decided to call the senate in extra session at this time, nor perhaps for an interval of some weeks, if at all. If there shall be an extra session of the senate to consider nominations of judges, it is not probable that such a session will be convened for some weeks. Meanwhile senators of influence whose attention has been called to the situation say emphatically that there will be no extra session and that it would not be wise on the part of the president to convene one for such a purpose. Mr. Allison, chairman of the committee on appropriations, expresses that opinion. This view is concurred in by members of the senate committee on judiciary.

It seems scarcely probable, therefore, that if an extra session shall not be convened immediately, there will be one at all, unless a much greater emergency shall arise than that occasioned by the new judiciary act. The president has two night at the Capitol for the purpose of trips in contemplation, both of which would interfere with an immediate session of the senate. The strain upon him in this congress has been intense. He in- resigned the position recently in order to tends immediately after the adjournment | give the senate an opportunity to elect his of congress to devote a week or so to recuperation, and has already accepted an invitation to the hunting lodge, of which he is so fond, near the waters of the upper Chesapeake. The president has also accepted an invitation to go to the Pacific as tellers. Three senators were nomicoast, with his family and members of the cabinet. It is expected that this trip will be taken in April or May. The general impression of those congressmen who ought to be the best informed, is, that when the gavels shall fall on Wednesday next at noon, they will not be resumed in gither house until the 7th day of December next, when the great battle for the presidency will formally begin.

SENATOR BLAIR IN DOUBT.

May Possibly Get a Judgeship in Place of Accepting the Chinese Mission. WASHINGTON, March 2.—Senator Blair has expressed doubt whether or not he will accept the mission to China. One of the reasons assigned is that it is not certain whether or not his family would care to go. But an additional reason has been its labors and adjourn, as it must on discovered. It is said that Mr. Blair would much like to be appointed to one of the places on the circuit bench created days will be mainly devoted to the conby the new judiciary act which has been sideration of conference reports on apsent to the president. But Mr. Blair was death of Daniel Clark. But Mr. Blair was not quite disposed to accept that office and his claims to it were not pressed. The grade of the circuit judge, however, is higher, and the salary is said to be greater, and for that reason, perhaps, he would be glad to receive that place.

A Big Day's Work.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—In the senate, the house amendment to the direct tax bill was agreed to without a division. A bill was passed granting a pension of $2500 a year to the widow of Admiral Porter. Conference reports on a number of bills of accept that office and office glad to receive that place.

can get east. The town has provisions sufficient for ight more days and the Southern Pacific hotel is feeding 1000 people a day. Re-ports from Jakuno, fifteen miles above here, are to the effect that the flood drove the people into the tree tops, and, many becoming exhausted from cold and hunger, dropped into the water and were Fields-Births and Deaths of the Presidents-Incorporation of Massachusetts'

Reports from reliable sources put the oss of life in the valley anywhere from 80 to 100. All along the valley for 200 miles everything is in desolation. Costly houses and barns have been washed away like laythings, while stock and fences have been carried down by the flood, leaving the country as bare as a desert.

Men who were wealthy are now homeless and paupers. Eighty miles south of here, where 5000 Cocopah Indians live, the country is flooded for eighty miles square, and as there are no hills for refuge it is reported that over 100 of them have been rowned. The great valley in Colorado is ee in every direction. The river has s thick and threatens heavy rains. "Care of School Houses." City Solicitor Hayes submitted an opinion M as to the meaning "care of school houses" tinguishes between the REPAIRS and the S eare of said buildings, making it the duty of the Commissioner to attend to the former and directing the latter to remain under the control of the committee. The clause in the charter under consideration modifies the Public Statutes by relieving the committee of the duty of making repairs and by placing that responsibility upon the Commissioner. It was therefore his opinion that the care under said clause. embraces the general charge and superintendence so far as relates to the uses to which said buildings may be appropriated, the selection of janitors, providing of fuel, and other things necessary for the comfort of the pupils, including the making of slight repairs incidental to the occupancy terrogate the School Committee. Senate-Result of the Conferences on

The provisions of the bill, in substance, are as follows:

The postmaster general is authorized to contract, after due advertisement, with the lowest responsible bidders for terms of not less than five nor more than ten tween the ports of the United States and such foreign ports (excluding Canada) as in his judgment will best promote the postal and commercial interests of the United States, the mail service to be distributed equitably among the Atlantic, Mexican, Gulf and Pacific ports. The vessels are to be American-built ships, owned and officered by American citizens, and the crew is to be composed of American citizens in the following proportions: During the first two contract years, one-fourth; the next three, one-half.

THE MAPLE SUGAR BOUNTY.

A Few Interesting Remarks by Mr. Plumb on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, March 3 .- During the debate over the sorghum sugar paragraph of the agricultural appropriation bill, Mr. Plumb made a caustic attack upon Senator Morrill of Vermont, and also upon Senator Edmunds, for their insistence upon a bounty being paid to maple sugar producers as a part of the McKinley tariff bill. He declared that for a time the whole bill had revolved round the payment of 2 cents a pound duty to the maple sugar men. Senator Morrill interrupted Mr. Plumb with ironical suggestions, and the Kansas senator said he would repeat that it might go into permanent history that the bounty had been put in as a matter personal to Senator Morrill members of the finance committee stating that it | She put four bullets into him and it is would aid Senator Morrill, in his re-election. On personal solicitations, he (Mr. Plumb) had voted for the bounty on the distinct understanding that it would be rejected in conference, but Senator Edmunds had then written a letter which was now in Senator Cullom's pocket, say-ing that if the maple sugar bounty was not retained he (Mr. Edmunds) would be paired against the tariff bill.

CITY OF QUINCY,

President City Council:

In my message to the Council January 5th, 1891, I stated that a more careful study of the financial situation was necessary before I could with mature judgment make any definite recommendations for the present year. The city in 1889 had to meet many obligations left over by the town government, which resulted in charging the different departments of 1889 and 1890 with liabilities which they did not contract. These inherited obligations in my judgment should be disposed of by the government of 1891. I believe it to be the true business policy to know our exact condition at the present time and endeavor to limit our expenditures to our income in 1891. I find the financial account to be as follows:

Balar	ace hel	ld in reserve,			$38,621	76
Notes	s in an	ticipation of ta	xes.		58,000	00

1890		"			40,504	51
							$93,280	54

There are in the hands of the Auditor unpaid bills of the executive department to the amount of $2,285.39.

The uncollected taxes of 1887, called assets, are practically worthless, and I would recommend the same to be abated.

meet our yearly

The expenditures of all the different departments for 1891 must be limited to our income, which is $157,480,—but $2,970 over the estimated income of last year. The increased appropriation for street lighting, $3,800; the increase in the pay of the fire department, $1,473; the increased appropriation for election expenses and State aid, forces the limiting of many requirements, and will require the greatest economy in many cases for the departments to complete the year within their

The appropriations for street lighting and for hydrants are about the amounts required by our contracts, so that petitions for further service cannot be granted without a special

The appropriation asked for miscellaneous expenses of highways is not adequate to keep in passable condition the many miles of accepted streets. The citizens expect that a portion of the amount paid by their taxes should show itself in the work of the street department, and therefore demand improvement in

The care of the horses, the purchase of tools and repairs on old equipment take at least $6,000 per year. Every year ten per cent. of the amount appropriated is expended on the same streets repairing the damage caused by the flow of the surface water, and this question of surface drainage deserves the attention of the Council, for until we adopt a system of surface drainage the roads will be at times in an impassable condition.

Citizens also have the right to demand more attention to be given to street crossings and the repairing of sidewalks. Paved gutters and the curbing of the sidewalks will greatly improve the condition of our streets, and it is a great mistake on the part of any city not to meet the desires of its citizens in this public necessity. No better investment can be made on our part than to provide clean, dry sidewalks. They prove a source of comfort, and tend to enhance the value of property, and attract a desirable class of society to seek residence in our midst.

To have these desirable improvements we are obliged to provide for them outside of the tax levy, which is not sufficient to meet any of these demands.

I would therefore recommend an appropriation of $6,000 for sidewalks, to be expended when the abuttors pay one-half the expense of same, above amount to be borrowed on a note of the city for five years.

Also an appropiation of $2,500 for street crossings, to be borrowed on a note of the city for three years, and $2,500 for paving gutters, to be borrowed for two years.

THE WRECKED IOWA.

STORY OF A NIGHT OF PERIL.

The Ill-Fated Steamship Was Sinking Rapidly When Abandoned - Capt. Tolle's Statement of the Rescue of the

NEW YORK, March 3.—The steamship Chester, from Rotterdam, brought the passengers and crew of the steamer Iowa, which foundered in mid-ocean. The Chester is the steamer which was reported by the Red Star line steamer Pennland as having been seen on Feb. 22 taking off the crew of the Warren line steamer Iowa. The Iowa ran into a field of ice and was cut through. The Chester saved her entire crew and all the cattle men who were on board. The following is the report of the wrecked vessel:

The steamer Iowa, Capt. Owens, of the Warren line, sailed from Boston on Tues-day Feb. 17, having on board a general cargo and 422 head of cattle, a crew of 60 men, 14 cattle men, 4 refrigerator men, and 1 stowaway; total, 79 souls. All went well with her till Saturday, Feb. 21, and at noon on that day the ship's position was lat. 43.43 north, long. 49.18 west; 5 p. m., wind north, moderate, clear weather, long northeast swell entered choppy ice; 7 p. m., thin field ice; 7.49 fested in the meeting, as the league is expected to take some action in regard to known throughout the state, was fatally stricken with paralysis.

The government of Brazil has ordered the confiscation of the property of the Countess d'Eu, the daughter of the exemperor. This step will bring considerable sums into the treasury of the republic, as the princess was voted great ond base at a salary of $2500, says he has estates at the time of her marriage.

p. m., ice a little thicker, went dead slow; from then till 11,40 p. m. passed through more or less ice, and at midnight found the ship making much water, forepeak and forehold full; 12.30 a. m. Sunday, 22d, found serious leaks in after cross bunker, tried to stop leaks by hanging sails over the presumed holes; got pumps to work, but with no effect, the leaks gaining, and steered southeast to cross the track of vessels bound east or west. Swung out boats, watered and provisioned them. One man named Michael Donnelley, seaman, was injured in so doing.

At daylight saw smoke to the south, steered for it and came up with the steamer Chester. The steamer Iowa was then listed heavily to starboard, and water had got into No. 2 compartment, and the situation was desperate. Had intended making for the Azores, but saw we could not do it. Lowered the boats and left the Iowa at noon in lat. 46 N., lon. 45.50 W. Capt. Tolle of the steamer Chester treated us with the greatest courtesy and kindness. On Feb. 24 boarded the steamer Dominion (British) from Portland for Bristol and obtained provisions, We entered the ice in lat. 44.25, lon. 47.25 and left the ice in lat. 46.36, lon. 49.50. The Iowa was sinking rapidly when aban-

Capt. Tolle's Statement. Capt. Tolle of the steamer Chester, who rescued the captain and crew of the sinking steamer Iowa, makes the following

We left Rotterdam for this port on Feb.
7. At 8 o'clock in the morning of the 22d we sighted a four-masted steamer which seemed to be in distress. We made her out to be the Iowa from Boston, bound for Liverpool. Capt. Owens of the Iowa reported that he had been in the ice the previous night, and was very badly in-jured. The steamer was still covered with ice, and a large piece of canvas at the bow showed where the crew had sought to patch up the injury to the vessel and stop the inward flow of water.

We signalled to the lowa, offering assistance. Capt. Owens reported that he wished to be reported, and intended to proceed on the way to the Azores. We remained near the sinking vessel for a time.

when it became apparent that she could not long remain above water.

We went alongside, and Capt. Owens decided to abandon the craft. We sent over four boats, and transferred the crew to the Chester. Among those rescued were a stewardess and an injured sailor. The work of rescue was begun at 9 o'clock and continued until noon, when we left the wrecked ship, which was sinking at the rate of twelve inches in eighteen minutes, and in all probability the Iowa went to the bottom six or seven hours after we left her.

their protest to this ruling. The hearing then closed. Upon motion of Councilman Bryant the order was referred to the Committee on Streets with instructions to take such action as it deemed advisable. An opinion was read from City Solicitor Hayes that the order under which the hearing was held was a legal one. Councilman Sherman entered his protest against any action by the Council, believing it should, instead, compel the company to run cars over the route.

Mayor's Estimates.

Mayor Fairbanks and Treasurer Adams submitted their estimates of the receipts and expenditures for the year 1891, the document being in print. Referred to Committee on Finance.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A Four Years' Course of Study for High School Mapped Out.

Committee Follows Precedent of Former Board and Excludes Reporters.

The School Committee held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, every member of the board being present.

Reporters Excluded.

The first business was in relation to admitting reporters at the meetings, which after some discussion was settled by adopting the vote of September, 1889, which was to the effect that the records should be open to the press.

Messrs. Sheahan, Hall and Roche, who were appointed at the last meeting to arrange for the transportation of the pupils, submitted the following report, which was The committee on transportation beg leave to submit the following report-In order to render more easy comprehension of the work done, we have thought it useful to subdivide the subject as follows: 1. Transportation of West Quincy children to and from the John Hancock school. 2. Transportation of the Atlantic pupils to and from the High school. 3. Transportation of West Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy Point pupils to and from the High school.

Since the destruction of the Willard schoolhouse a certain number of West Quincy children have been obliged to walk situated in South Quincy.

In some cases the distance is very great, and your committee has considered a journey of such length to be a serious source of exhaustion to these young pupils, as well as a positive menace to their health. Therefore, we have decided to convey to and from the John Hancock school at the beyond a certain fixed limit, constituted by Ice Cream, Miss Mary McDonnell. Cross street, from its origin at Common street to its junction at Willard street, and by the line of the O. C. R. R. track as it crosses West street. It was also decided to mick. transport in the same way all those children who live on Common street to the north of its junction with Cross. The contract has been given to Mr. John Cashman, who has agreed to convey all entitled to the privilege at the rate of $7.50 per diem. This arrangement has been in operation for nearly a month, and we are glad to say that the work is done in an orderly and effective manner. The number of pupils to benefit by the measure is about 80. The children who live in Atlantic, and who may be desirous of attending our high school, are obliged to perform a journey contest for the gold watch, easy chair and varying in length from two and a half to other prizes. three and a half miles each way. Of course of fact, they have been in the habit of ridupon their parents a considerable expense. Your committee has taken the ground that that children living at a distance possessed the same right to the enjoyment of the higher education as did those living in the vicinity of the school, and that it would be way. painful to reflect that any one was hindered by pecuniary consideration from reaping the benefits of our public school system. That in fact a wise policy demanded the that the citizens of Atlantic had already Wollaston readers of the Ledger. contributed in the shape of taxes their just Residence, 63 SOUTH STREET, QUINCY, share of the expense incurred by the city for the maintenance of our high school, and arrow." and that to impose upon them the additional burden of paying railroad fares was in- new: consistent and illogical. In case of pupils from West Quincy and the Point the result is accomplished by the purchase of tickets from the Quincy Elec- Russell Tuesday. tric Street Railway at the rate of three cents apiece each way, and their subsequent distribution to the pupils entitled thereto. - - OUINCY. The Wollaston children are furnished with at the same price as for those distributed to the pupils from Atlantic.

Number of pupils carried from West Quincy, 22; Wollaston, 18; Quincy Point, 2. It will be noticed that as regards the children from the Atlantic district, we have fully decided that the arrangement now in operation shall continue for the whole year. In all other cases we have made no provision beyond the present school term, preferring to leave to the decision of the full board the question as to whether it would or would not be advan-

work of transportation beyond that period. High School Course. Messrs. Sheahan and Aldrich presented a course of studies for the High school which was adopted. The course as mapped tageous to scholars themselves and for the best interests of the city to continue the out provides for a complete four years' ourse, but pupils may take a three years course if they so desire. Do Doors Open Out. By a vote of the board the various subcommittees were instructed to examine their several school buildings in regard to the outward opening of the doors, etc., and to act at once in any case that seemed urgent and make a report of their investigations at the next meeting of the board.

IN AID OF HOSPITAL.

The Aid Association Planning for Its Annual Fete on June Seventeenth. At the regular meeting of the Hospital

Aid Association 27 ladies were present. The report of last meeting read and accepted.

The Directors held no meeting as there were not enough present for a quorum. Mrs. Simmons reported that she had received $10 more from Mrs. Dewson onthe quilt. Moved that this be added to the last report. Also that she had received from Dr. Rice $90, as the proceeds from the Opera Priscilla. A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Rice.

Voted-That the meetings hereafter be held in Probate Court Room, in the Adams Building. Entrance next door to the National Mount Wollaston Bank.

A committee was appointed to ascertain if the Merry Mount Park could be secured for June 17.

Voted-That we have as last year, fancy, refreshment and ice cream tables, from each ward.

Several years ago Mrs. Fitch divided the diamonds among my sisters, and now my sister, Miss Lizzie are willing to perform this arduous labor, Sherman, intends to sell her portion; but as far as I know at present, my other sisters will retain possession of their that the mistakes are so few. shares. My brother and I have no interest in them. Please state emphatically that there will be no public sale of them. A friend has offered to buy my sister's share, and if she decides to accept her offer there will be no publicity whatever given to the affair. The entire collection is worth, I suppose, about $40,000."

Bonnard and Dekan had been engaged in the fraudulent promotion of the city of Baltimore breweries, the Fletcher mills of Providence and the Sykes Breweries company.

Dockers Draw Out. LONDON, March 4 .- The Docker's union has seceded from the Federated Labor union, owing, it is claimed, to the needless obstinacy and lack of discretion shown by the Seamen's and Firemen's union. The dockers argue that if a general strike is ordered, they will be compelled to support their men from funds already depleted, and as 70 per cent. of the seamen and firemen are always at sea,

THE ROUNDING-UP.

Congress Practically Completes Its Work for This Session.

EVERYBODY IS TIRED OUT.

Big Grist of Bills Assume Final Shape. Long List of Acts Approved by the President - Hawaiian Cable Killed --Copyright Bill Passed - Large Claim Filed by the Barrundia Family - Interesting News Concerning the Ciosing Hours of Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 4.- The closing of ongress is attended by the usual scenes. The sessions of the long night scarcely ends before the sessions of the day begin. The two chambers are in the utmost confusion. The floors are strewed by the litter made by the clearing out of the desks of the members who are about to retire to private life, and the janitors find no opportunity to clear them. The atmosphere is close and stuffy, for the systems of artificial ventilation which have cost the government so many thousands of with to meet, and for these many days, for the rules of the two houses with regard to smoking are openly violated, and disciplinarian, and is an inventor and enforcer of rules of the strictest sort, suffers the familiar rule against smoking to be violated without rebuke, and seems their cigars beneath his nose.

Gathered in the different committee rooms where the conference committees sit are groups of jaded men, earnestly and onscientiously endeavoring to represent the views of their respective houses on the great questions submitted to them, and working without sleep, without rest, without regular food for days and nights together, with a devotion which few would show to their private business, and with an exhibition of strength and endurance which seems incredible.

It is a fact that so far as giving shape the final form of laws, the work of the ongress in its closing days is confined to a few men in both houses, and it is formany men in both parties who are so willbusiness judgment and integrity both parties place such implicit reliance. Great credit is due to these gentlemen that they and that they do it so well. The wonder has the best chance it has ever had in all is not that mistakes are committed, but

The same credit is due the corps of officials of the two houses, who are sleepless at their posts, and upon whose skill and accuracy in the comparison of bills and in the enrollment of them upon the greasy parchment paper, in accordance with the antiquated form, so many millions are involved. The lines which are deepening upon their faces, the haggard estem which makes it necessary to Catholic church, and calls upon the crowd a month's labor into a day's time. French Canadians to oppose him as such. The men who carp and sneer are quite as much responsible, and in most instances the jeers of the congressional critics are misplaced and undeserved.

The great appropriation bills, with the exception of the deficiency, have passed the danger point. The sundry civil appropriation bill conference has been agreed o, although at the very last moment an attempt was made to reopen it in the senate on behalf of a special interest. But Mr. Allison, who had charge of it, delivered so many of those fierce sledge-hammer blows, of which he is capable when aroused, that those who sought to unsettle the points which had been adjusted by the conference were not even numerous enough to force a roll call.

At the White House. The busy men are not not all confined to congress. The President of the United States is as much overburdened as both branches of congress are. The closing hours of congress bring upon him a vast amount of work in the examination of accumulated bills, and the consideration of measures of great importance, such as are filed for probate in the surrogate's office. criminal? We must answer yes. A man almost always left to the end of the session before being presented to him for acof parchments beneath his hands as he two houses who present the bills to him. The desk of the busy private secretary is almost hidden by the vast mass of bills.

The different heads of departments have made it their business to become acquainted with those measures which affect special interests within their jurisdiction, and as they examine then they write their views upon a little slip of paper, which is pinned to the top sheet of each one of the bills, and which forms a very useful guide to the president when considering them. Three or four executive clerks at the White House are kept busy in keeping record of the bills and in seeing to it that none of them get lost. Every one everywhere is wrought to the highest tension, nerves are strained, fingers are busy, brains are tired, feet are lame, and all will welcome the time when the gavels shall fall in the two houses this

New Hampshire House Votes Against Its Repeal.

144 FOR AND 153 AGAINST IT.

Large Crowd of Interested Spectators Listens to an Animated Debate on the Subject-The Vote Not a Party One.

CONCORD, N. H., March 4.-The repeal of that part of the nuisance act which relates to the sale of intoxicating liquor was again taken up in the house of representatives. Whenever this matter is under discussion the balcony is filled with interested spectators. The speaker read a dozen or more petitions from different parts of the state praying for the retention of the law upon the statute books. Hon. J. H. Gallinger called for the special order. Mr. Angell remorked that the many petitions presented here asking that the act should not be repealed were significant, and should have some weight. All are pretty well agreed that the evils of liquor drinking should be abated .- Some property holders want the law repealed. shall we save the buildings or destroy the dollars, are a miserable substitute for the to; also appropriating $0,000 for the relief man? Man never intends to become a drunkard. If intoxicating drink is an evil. we should do all in our power to abate it.

Mr. Nash said that Mr. Davis last week discussed the question from a Republican standpoint, Mr. Spring from a high moral standpoint, and Mr. Morse from a scientific standpoint. The evils of intemperance may be denounced, but that does not wash out the misery of drink. You cannot legislate evil out of the human heart. I say to you as sensible men to come to this matter and treat it as sensible men should do, and repeal the law. If this law is used for blackmailing purposes, we should wipe it off the books. It is not a party question, and we should meet it as men. The reason why the law is not enforced is because popular opinion does not stand behind it.

Mr. Huntington remarked that the nuisance act says that where liquor is sold is a nuisance. It takes the veil from those respectable men who own buildings and shows them to the world.

Mr. Hele's said that the hotels and drug stores are placed on the level with disreputable houses under this law, and Chi believed that the provisions of the present prohibitory law are fully equal to all purposes. He was familiar with the workings of the nuisance act in Cheshire county, and hoped it would be repealed. Mr. Colby remarked that he was in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory statutes and the enactment of high license

Mr. Pillsbury said that he was in favor of keeping the law on the books; he liked the law as it now stands. Mr. Cressy was against the repeal of the law. It is the popular sentiment of New Hampshire that the statute should not be repealed. He severely arraigned the members of the judiciary committee who signed the report for the repeal of the law. Mr. Gallinger said that this was an important measure; the nuisance act on the statute book is not an anomaly, a like law is on the statute book in Massachusetts, Louisville, Ky., made an assignment. Asto the number of 15,000 signed by profes sors, doctors, lawyers and teachers, ask you to stand by the law. Shall we sweep from our books all law because a law is not enforced? What is the controversy before us? It is between the saloon and the home. The saloon wants this law swept from the books. The fathers and mothers pray that the law be not repealed. On one side stand the churches, sabbath schools and women, and on the other the rum dealer. It is said that the Democratic | to four years in the state prison for per party is solid for its repeal. It is not a party question. I say that as long as I have a voice and vote I shall stand by the home and the church. I exhort you all to vote against the repeal of the statute, and

Mr. Greene state I that it has been sugchurch, and others for the saloon and rum seller. The judiciary committee con-sidered the question carefully and con-clothes. scientiously gave their vote. All legislation that has been enacted since 1856 to wipe out all the saloons in the state has failed to do it and the saloon still remains. Every member of the house must say that rum is sold just as openly to-day in the state as it has been for the last thirty-five laws that are wholesome, that are backed by public opinion. Two members of the judiciary committee did not sign either report. I believe it to be in the interest of New Hampshire to have legislation that all men can stand by, and hope the act will be repealed. Mr. Briggs said that he voted against the repeal of the law in the committee and would vote against it in this house. Mr. Sulloway remarked that he voted in favor of the repeal of the nuisance act in the committee, and would vote in favor of its repeal in this house. There are men in New Hampshire, legions in number, who believe that this law should be repealed. It has not suppressed the sale of liquor in any important city or town in the If you enforced this law you would drive the summer business out of the state. In the city of Manchester the respectable dealers were driven out of business at one time, and the result was that the business went into the dives and low places. TORONTO, March 4.—A challenge has been issued by Sculler D. Donohue of this city to Rogers of Worcester and Corbett of Chicago, for a sweepstakes race for $200 to $500 per man.

The vote was not a party one, many Democrats in each county responding for its indefinite postponement, and some Republicans, especially in Marchester, voting for its repeal.

The matter was kept quiet out of deference to the feelings of the mother of the deceased. The cremation took place in Samson's crematory and was witnessed by none but the executors. The body was shipped quietly from Chicago on Feb. 16 and reached here the following morning. The furnace had been heated in the meantime, and in one hour and a quarter the incineration was complete. He addressed nobody in particular, and his glance swept the car, but he knew he could depend on his fellow passengers to attend to his request. The young lady opposite turned an interested, sympathetic face in his direction at once, and the elder one assumed an alert attitude and held herself ready for emergencies. Dr. Royal went forward into the smoking car. He had assumed control of the case with constitutional impetuosity, and now set about ordering it in accordance with his own judgment. The important-nay, the imperative-step, to his mind, was the removal of his patient, as speedily as might be, from the jolting discomfort of the train to some place where rest and quiet might be obtained. He questioned the conductor as to the capabilities of their next station, and learned, to his satisfaction, that twenty minutes would put them in Matoacca, a good sized town among the mountains. When, however, he announced his determination to remove the sick man to a people could be summoned, the official de- | monly like officiousness murred and suggested that the patient himself should be consulted. "What for?" demanded Royal. "Every coffin. He's bound to know that as well as I do. Didn't you say he had been smashed up? I don't know the extent of the damage yet, but I guess it's considerable; and he has lessened his chances by dressed, overhauled and put to bed be-

"God knows!" Royal replied, with a lienced." Mine came from hereaway, and we don't seem natural for mere coincidence. I'll look after him a bit on the chance thicker than water."

Royal struck in imperiously: "Someelay is going to happen if he isn't alked. I ought to know what I'm talking about, I reckon. I've been at the trade long enough to diagnose a case." Then he added more pacifically: 'I know what's on your mind. I heard what you said to the fellow in the other car, and saw the man's badge, too. It's all right. This affair is as much my business as 'tis yours, and on the same ground—more, perhaps, if he joined the lodge in Philadelphia. Most 'meds' do."

Then followed certain communications between the men which resulted in the complete withdrawal of the official pro-

"All right, sir," he assented cordially. 'You are the best judge, of course, and, as you say, it's as much your business as 'tis mine. You understand why I was obliged to hold back at first. The poor fellow seemed so set on gettin' on, and I'd been charged to help him."

Royal nodded. "He's too used up to be set on anything now," he remarked. And then he went back into the other

'I know that I'm to be married before To precipitate one's self into the lives of other people, while in itself a simple matter, not infrequently involves consequences sufficiently complex to form a puzzle, the disentanglement of which will constitute a life work. It may fall naturally into the order of things to board a train like an acrobat, and, when there, to assume control and direction of any stranger whose mental or bodily condi-

That his namesake possessed unusual strength of will Dr. Royal had been quick to recognize, and his sympathies were touched by the gallant endeavor the poor fellow made to second every outside effort for

It would reach them too late to do any good. I'll just rest a bit and go on by that 4:30 train. It's the only way."

He spoke slowly, as one who figures

Royal faced round to the bed. "Are you aware of your condition?" he demanded gravely.

"Perfectly," the other replied. "I've watched the case from the beginning." It seemed hideous, this turning of one's Talked Over by National League science upon one's self; but neither man appeared to find it so. The one doctor made the statement and the other received it quite as a matter of course.

"You know, then," Royal proceeded, speaking plainly because of the urgency of the case, "just what your chance is worth, even with all the help you can get from rest and quiet. To continue this journey will be suicide."

The eyes on the pillow met his resolutely, and the jaw squared itself. "I know that I'm to be married before 12 o'clock to-morrow, and that I've got to be on hand, dead or alive."

The first business taken up was the report of Mr. Rogers of Philadelphia, the league member of the national board, in which he stated what had been done in the cases of the disputed players, Stovey, Bierbauer and Mack. Mr. Rogers, as the sub-committee appointed for that purpose, then submitted a number of amendnents to the constitution, so as to make it conform to the new national agreement. DID ANYONE notice the estimates of Mayor Fairbanks of Quincy, in any of the Boston papers yesterday? Oh, no! There were three Boston reporters at the Council meeting Monday evening, but they were evidently asleep, for they had no knowledge that such a document was introduced, until they read it in Quincy's enterprising daily. It was read by President Thompson by title only, who remarked that it would be unnecessary to read it in full as each Councilman had a printed copy on his desk. That such a report would be introduced was also announced in the LEDGER and PATRIOT

As on a preceding occasion however, it was voted to exclude reporters. True, the records are open to the reporter, (that is if they happen to find the secretary at his office), but our complaint is that many things don't go on record, and when they do it is impossible to learn from it how the members stood on each question. Newspapers and the public want news when it is fresh.

DAILY LEDGER per day during the month of March. The popularity contest has given the little daily a good advertisement, per cent., but there are still some families where the paper does not enter. We know of no better way to do this than by offering the newsboys a grand prize, and the one we have selected is a very valuable one, a custom made suit of clothes which would cost $18 at a tailor's.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Bamford, the well-known tailor in Durgin & Merrill block, who will take the measure of the winner, allow him to select his cloth, and make him a "bang up" suit of the latest style.

Mr. Hale at about 11 o'clock reported an agreement on the deficiency appropriation biil. The senate receded on the Pacific railroad items. Stewart of Nevada began to speak against the bill. The bill carries $28,000,000 for pensions.

Finally, Morgan of Alabama interrupted Stewart to ask whether he wished to kill the bill. Stewart cut short his speech, and the conference report was adopted.

At 11:30 the deficiency bill was received from the house with the signature of the speaker. This was the last of the appropriation bills. The venerable doorkeeper, Bassett, bore the parchment to the vice president's desk. It was instantly signed and carried to the president's room. There remained half an hour for the president to examine this great bill, sign it and return it to the house

vice president arose and made his farewell speech. He said:

I am admonished by the dial that the life of the Fifty-first congress is ended and that the hour of separation and farewell has again arrived. The record is made up and has gone into history. No one of us can be unmindful, as we part, of the fact that all are not with us who answered to the first roll call of this congress. Three members of this body, all taken from one side of the chamber, have answered the summons and gone out forever from the haunts of men, They were well worthy of the love we bore them, and will be cherished in the hearts of the people as able, honorable and pa-

Without previous experience as a presiding fficer, I came with distrust to the discharge of the and complicated situations, the members of the senate have been accustomed to accord to me, nd the honor conferred by the resolution just adopted in my absence from the chair. With the earnest hope that each member of this body may be blessed in every relation of life, I now declare that, the constitutional period of the Firty-first congress having been completed, the senate stands adjourned without day. There was a good deal of applause on the floor and the galleries at the conclusion of Mr. Morton's speech, which was at precisely 13 minutes after 12. In the House. The great throng of persons who had | 000 ongregated in the house galleries, in anticipation of a scene over the customary vote of thanks to the speaker, were disapmajority, which was at variance with the usual rule on such occasions, the resoluion heretofore always emanating from he minority. Many of Speaker Reed's friends doubted the propriety of undertaking the resolution with the solid Democratic party against it. It was in-tended at first by the Democrats to emphasize their disapproval of the speaker's course by remarks, but this was abandoned and they simply called the yeas and nays in order to make a record of their censure. The vote was 152 Republicans and 116 Democrats. A few Democrats refrained from voting.

Speaker Reed's Valedictory. In declaring the adjournment of the nouse, Speaker Reed spoke as follows: After two long and stormy sessions, in some repects unparalleled in a hundred years, the house of representatives of the Fifty-first congress will soon pass with completed record into the history of the country; and its works will follow it. What we have done is in a large measure political. Whatever is political rouses the sternest, the most turbulent, the most unforgiving passions of the human race. Political action can never be justly viewed from a near standpoint. Time and distance are needed for a ripe judg-ment; and the verdict of history is the only verlict worth regarding.

To state in language which would seem to me to be adequate the achievements of the house would not be suitable to this time or to this place. Nor is it in the least needful that I should ere and now rekindle old disputes or fan the dyng embers of struggles past and gone. Whether we have disposed of questions of finance with the wisdom of broad statesmanship time will surely now. Whether the things we have done and the things we have attempted for the further ance of human liberty were actuated by high and honorable motives will be visible to all the world at no distant day. Our actions need no catalogue, and all enumeration and praise by ourselves would be in vain. If our deeds do not praise us our words cannot. Confident as I am of the verdict of time on what we have done, I am still more confident that the highest commendation will be given us in the future, not for what measures we have passed, valuable as they are, but because we have taken so long a stride in the direction of a responsible government. Having demonstrated to the people that those who have been elected to do their will can do it, benceforth excuses will not be taken for performince, and government by the people will be stronger in the land. Toward those who have opposed what the majority of this house have desired we can have no unkindly or personal feeling. Whoever offers batthe toold convictions and faiths must expect bat-tle, and the vigor of the resistance must always bear some proportion to the vigor of the onset.

To members on my left, with whom I am politically associated. I beg to tender my most sincere and heartfelt acknowledgements. No man ever received more ungrudging and unflinching support, or from a band of men more patriotic. I am proud to acknowledge in all that has been done I have been but one in a multitude and that the honors of the Fifty-first congress belong to you alone. I now declare this honse to be adjourned with-

The house adjourned ten minutes before the senate did. Noon came earlier there. There was a lack of uniformity in turning back the clock in the two houses.

THE END.

An Impromptu Concert Winds Up the Fifty-first Congress.

The house of representatives of the Fifty-first congress went out in a burst of song. Its ending was remarkable and unprecedented, and a scene similar to that which followed the declaration of the speaker that the Fifty-first congress was adjourned without day it is safe to say never occurred before in the congress of clock in the senate the long stick with the United States. The vocalists of the which it had been customary to turn back house on the Republican side of the chamber gathered in a body near the front row of desks, headed by Mr. Coleman of Louisiana, Mr. Yardley of Pennsylvania. Mr. Stivers of New York and Mr. Wade of Missouri, and as soon as the house was declared adjourned they started up the ciency bill, with the French spoliation appropriation, he met with a marked ovation.

stirring war song, "Marching Through Georgia," which was taken up by the ass of the Republican tives, who made the hall ring to the great delight and edification of the galleries, packed full of people. A Democratic chorus, headed by Representative-elect John J. O'Neil of Missouri, retorted with the "Doxology," "Praise territories. It was necessary to enroll it God, etc.," but their voices were soon drowned in the superior volume of sound venerable doorkeeper marched solemnly from the press galiery of the house, the reporters having taken up the hymn. Reublicans and Democrats alike ceased their singing to listen to that of their some-time critics, whose full, resonant chorus was very effective. Messrs. Burrows, Allen of Michigan, and Coleman, with Mr. Yardley for precentor, struck up "Our Fatherland" as inquire whether he had any further busi- the closing notes of the "Doxology" died away, and the Republicans joining in points of difference, and the appropriation bills were all saved.

> BILLS PASSED AND NOT PASSED. Action on the More Important Measure

During the Session. The Fifty-first congress is considered by many veteran legislators the most remarkable congress since the war. In actual working time and in the variety and importance of the measures acted upon, it surpassed all its predecessors. Three measures stand forth pre-eminent among all others-the McKinley tariff bill, which became a law; the silver bill, on which, in the first session, a compromise was effected, based on monthly purchases of 4,500,000 ounces of silver, which, in turn, was followed by a more radical measure that failed of passage; and the federal election bill, which, after a protracted, bitter, hotly fought and intensely exciting preliminary struggle, failed in the senate to reach a decisive vote on its merits. Radical innovations in the rules of the house added interest to its proceedings, and determined but fruitless efforts to adopt the most vital of the innovations, president in his relation to the senate, certain only of an unfaltering purpose to do right, and of the patience and forbearance of this great body. I acknowledge with grateful sensibility the courtesy and kindness which, even in critical and courtesy and kindness which, even in critical monde on fewer than twelve of its representation. adopt the most vital of the innovations, remarkable, the call of death having sum- provide for the free coinage of silver; exmoned no fewer than twelve of its representatives and three of its senators.

The expenditures authorized will ex-ged those of any "peace" congress since the foundation of the government. The total appropriations made by the Fiftieth congress were, during the first session, $395,337,516, and during the second session $422,626,343, or an aggregate of $817,-965,859, while the appropriations for the first session of the Fifty-first congress were $460,627,697, and those of the second session will probably bring the total appropriations of the congress to $1,000,000,-

A Comparison of the Work pointed, as far as sensational scenes were concerned. The resolution, however, was house, in the Fifty-first congress, 14,033,

During the Fif-tieth congress 161 bill were vetoed and during the Fifty-first congress 14. In addition to this work there were 18 contested election cases. The house seated 8 of the Papublican contest. house seated 8 of the Republican contestants and declared the seat of one Democrat, Mr. Breckinridge of Arkansas, vacant. Two cases, Goodrich vs. Bullock from Florida, and McGinnis vs. Aldeason from West Virginia, in which the committee recommended seating the Repub lican contestants, were not disposed of by the house; and the elections committee itself never acted on the Eaton vs. Phelan Tennessee case. The senate disposed of its sole contested election case by seating the two Republican senators from Mortana.

Contrary to Previous Experience the more important of the measures which constitute the list of legislative failures found their tomb in the senate, the house throughout the two years having taken the lead in legislation and passed definitely upon every measure of general interest on which the leaders of the majority desired action.

Among the "old stagers," which are now laws, are the copyright bill; the private land court bill (to settle disputes arising over Mexican grants in the western states and territories); the postal subsidy bill; the Indian depredation claims bill the timber and pre-emption law repeal bill (making a general revision of the land laws); the customs administrative bill; a general land forfeiture bill; the bill to relieve the supreme court by the establishment of intermediate circuit courts of appeal; the United States udges' salary bill and the direct tax refund bill. The educational, bill; the bill for the appointment of an alcoholic liquor commission and the "eight-hour" claims bill, are measures which were defeated on test votes; while among those which. after passing one house failed of action in the other and will doubtless; be wrestled with by succeeding congressmen are the bankruptcy bill, the Conger lard bill and the army reorganization bill. The Paddock pure food bill, the Nicaragua canal bill, the Pacific railroad funding bill and the interstate commerce bill (to permi limited pooling of earnings by railroad companies) are among the measures which failed to reach a vote in either house.

These are Now Laws. Among the bills, etc., which became laws, in addition to those heretofore mentioned, are the following: For a World's fair at Chicago; for the admission of Wyoming and Idaho territories to statehood; the anti-lottery; the anti-trust bill (to prevent combinations in restraint of trade); the reapportionment bill; provisions to add three line-of-battle ships, one protected cruiser, one fast cruiser of 7500 tons, and one torpedo cruiser and one torpedo boat to the new navy; the Owen bill, to further regulate immigration and to increase the efficiency of the existing immigration and contract labor laws; the original package bill; the dependent and disability pension bill; the bill enacting the regulations of the international maritime conference to prevent collisions at sea, and to require vessel captains to stand by each other in case of collision; to reduce the fee of pension agents in "increase" cases, except where there are existing lawful contracts, express or implied, to $2 (in the pension apropriation act): the French bill); the meat inspection bill (providing for an inspectiou of exported meats, prohibiting importation of adulterated articles of food and drink, and giving the presi-dent authority to make retaliation by proclamation); for the inspection of live cattle, hogs, and the carcasses and products thereof, which are the subject of interstate commerce, and of export; to prevent the introduction of contagious dis eases from one state into another: to au thorize a charge for the exchange of gold bars for gold coin (in the legislative appropriation act); to limit to 60 per cent. of the rates charged private parties, the rates the land grant railroads shall charge for transportation of government troops and supplies (in the army appropriation act); to require the superintendent of the census to secure farm mortgage statistics and also to increase the pension for total help-lessness; to transfer the weather bureau to the agricultural department; providing for the classification of worsted cloths as woolens; to authorize the payment of drawback or rebate on tobacco and snuff and fixing the duty on binding twine (the last three measures to correct errors in the McKinley tariff act); to permit pension cases to be taken to United States courts after one year's delay in the pension office; for the appointment of some 600 clerks to adjudicate disability and dependent pension claims; to make the shipping laws relative to crews in the foreign trade apply to vessels in the coastwise trade, or trade with Newfoundland and the West Indies or Mexico; to enable the secretary of the interior to carry out the provisions of the act for the division of the Great Sioux In-dian reservation; to authorize the use and improvement of Castle island, Boston harbor; to create the offices of assistant secretary of war, assistant secretary of the navy, fourth assistant postmaster general: to make Hartford, Conn., (instead of Middieton) Rockport, Me., and Enfield, Coun., ports of entry; for the erection, repair or enlargement of public buildings at Houlton and Lewiston, Me., Lynn, Springfield, (shop at armory) Taunton, Worcester and Haverbill, Mass., New London, Conn., Pawtucket, R. I., and St. Albans, Vt.; to place Gen. John C. Fremont on the retired list and to pension Gen. N. P. Banks, Gen. Franz Siegel, Mrs. Crook, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Custer and Mrs. Porter. The following are some of the senate bills which failed to pass the house: To tending the free delivery system to small towns; for the improvement of the marine hospital at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., and for the erection or enlargement of public buildings at Dover and Nashua, N. Because we piedge ourselves to deal honestly and squarely with you at all times and under all circumstances, and if you reside outside the city limits and your purchase amounts to $50 we will pay car fare one way for one person, and if your purchase amounts to $100 or more we will pay car fare one way.

Are these good and valid reasons? We think they are. But perhaps you ask: "Can they do all this? Can they back up their statement?" We answer you most emphatically "Yes," and if you are in doubt why not investigate the matter before purchasing elsewhere: it will cost you nothing to visit our store and learn the truth or falisty of these statements. If true you will admit, we think, that ours is the place to trade; and if false we cannot expect your patronage. Isn't this fair? Could anything be fairer? Then come in and look us over. THE POLL tax resolve passed through the House yesterday, by a vote of over 3 to 1, while the biennial amendment encountered a stumbling block. A bare majority favored the latter, but far from the necessary two thirds.

IT MAY have escaped the attention of the readers of the estimates for the city exincome, which by the way is just as large as it was possible to make it. Mayor Fairbanks and Treasurer Adams think they must have at least $95,355 for the various departments, while the School Committee have asked for $65,125, a total of $160,480. "Tell me how you would go to work to organize one," he said. Then I went on to tell him that I should call the par value of the 'bonds' $200 and should make the assessment $2 a month for each member. "Bond" No. 1, I should assign to myself; "bond" No. 2, to my wife; Nos. 3, 4 and 5, to the triplets in our 1890 brood and Nos. 3, 7, 8 and 9 to the hatch of 1889. If I wanted a few more of the first numbers I should not hesitate to assign them to the broods of previous years. Then I should get me an organizer and a brass band and call a meeting of owls and get them to join n grand combination to pay into the pool $2 a month each and take out a "bond." I should see to it that our mutual contract with each other was so drawn that when enough had been paid into the pool to pay off one bond of $200 it should go to the owl holding the bond bearing the lowest number. The next accumulation of $200 should go to the next lowest number, and so on. You see that if I had the ten lowest numshould last long enough to pay in $2,000 in assessments, I and my kin would get it all. Great scheme I tell you!

An Experimental Locomotive. The owners of what are called the Holman-Caldwell patents are having John E. Burns of West Quincy has fitted up in Milwaukee a locomotive to be equipped with a new style of running gear, which its owners think will accomplish great things in railroading. The new running gear consists of a truck Manager Rooney of the St. Mary's, that with ten wheels, three of which on each side rest upon the rails, and are surmounted by two others, the tires of which have frictional contact with the tires of the wheels below. Then surmounting these two wheels is the drive wheel of the locomotive, the wheel ar-

Death of a Jolly Good Fellow. Mr. Jerome's serious illness recalls to my mind an incident which I noticed with some amusement at his brother's funeral. He was such a jolly good fellow that even when he was in company in a coffin he was not as depressing as an ordinary corpse. Despair. Deeper than all we inherit, More real than far truer lives, Is the wail of the dissolute spirit

That vainly struggles and strives; That prays for death, and it comes not, That hates its life and still stays, That yearns to succumb, but succumbs not The slave of the lingering days.

-B. G. Hosmer.

Could We but Know. Could we but know

The land that ends our dark, uncertain travel,

Where lies those happier hills and meadows low,
Ah, if beyond the spirit's inmost cavil, Aught of that country could we surely know Who would not go?

Might we but hear The horering angels' high imagined chorus, Or catch betimes, with wakeful eyes and

One radiant vista of the realm before us, With one rapt moment given to see and hear Ah, who would fear?

Were we quite sure
To find the peerless friend who left us lonely, Or there, by some celestial stream as pure, To gaze in eyes that here were lovelit only, This weary mortal coil, were we quite sure, Who would endure?
—Edmund C. Stedman

CANADA'S ELECTION

Attended with Scenes of Great Excitement.

THE CONTEST IS VERY CLOSE.

Lat st Returns In licate That 102 Conservative: Have Won by a Greatly Reduced Majority-Three Cabinet Ministers Defeated-Mixed Returns Received Up to Midnight at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, March 6 .- Sir John Macdonald and his Tory government is probably sustained by a slight majority. Incomplete returns give the Conservatives 101 and the Liberals 101 seatsrespectively. When the back counties are heard from, if the Liberal gains continue, the premier's majority of 51, when parliament dissolved, may be converted into a helpless minority.

The day was one of great surprises. No less than three cabinet ministers met with disaster. The indications are that an enorhas been one between a reactionary policy of protection and unrestricted reciprocity with the United States. Both Ontario and Quebec, the banner provinces in the Canadiaan confederation, have overwhelmingly declared against the government. Hence, though the great Tories are apparently leading, a moral victory has been won by Hon, Mr. Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright and the other Liberal

The lower provinces may prove the salvation of the government. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick give Sir John an inreased representation. For days past the Tories have been losing ground. Ecclesiastical interference sylvania railroad, Pittsburg municipal and appeals to loyalty were alike unavailand local stocks, with some $10,000 worth ing. For days past Canada has witnessed a singular spectacle. Cabinet ministers and their supporters paraded the country declaring that the Liberal leaders were conspiring to sell Canada's national birthright. The loyalty cry aroused the Orange element, but created only disgust among the masses. The popular verdict has been unmistakable. Without a majority in Quebec or Ontario the government cannot retain power.

WILFRED LAURIER Leader of the Liberal Party

The election has developed several interesting features. With a single exception all the ultra-Protestant members who voted in parliament against the government for allowing the Jesuits' estate act to go into operation were sustained at the | ners have issued an appeal to the labor polls. This new element, known as the Equal Rights party, will probably hold the balance of power in the new parliament. It will muster twelve votes. The Equal Righter: announce themselves as the opponent of ecclesiastical interference in politics, and propose to avert the possibil ity of French domination in Canada.

LESSON X, FIRST QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 8.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings v, 1-14. Commit Verses, 13, 14-Golden Text, Ps. ciii, 3-Commentary by Rev. D. M.

Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by per-mission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadel-

1. "Now Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master and honorable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria."

"He was also a mighty man in valor, but he was a leper."

Gideon and Jephthah and others who served God are called men of valor (Judg. av afternoon. Engineer Fowler of the vi, 12; xi, 1; I Chron. xii, 8, 30), but so also was Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin (I Kings xi, 28). Some are men of valor or might for God, and some are valiant for the devil. May our song be, "Through God we shall do valiantly" (Ps. lx, 12; cviii, 13). What availed all Naaman's greatness since at a sacrifice. Thus we are he was a leper? And what avails all the might of the world, with all its honor, if one is a sinner in the sight of God, and on out of the land of Israel a little maid; and she waited on Naaman's wife.'

Let any little girl consider well the situation of this little maid, stolen from home, which was as much to her as home is to any child, and now a little slave in a far ing father and mother again; and yet she seems to be faithful in her new home un der these hard circumstances. Let the boys consider Joseph, stolen from home by his own brethren and serving as a slave in Egypt; and yet we read four times in one chapter that the Lord was with him (Gen. xxxix, 2, 3, 21, 23).

3. "Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy."

Not only faithful as a servant, but faithful in testimony, and that for the benefit of her enemy, reminding us of Rom, v. 8. 10; Matt. v, 44; Rom. xii, 20, 21.

> "And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand pieces of gold an't ten changes of raiment." 6. "Behold I have sent Naaman, my servant, to thee, that thou mayest recover him of his leprosy.' Thus wrote the king of Syria to the king of Israel. The Lord who gave deliverance to Syria is not recognized. We cannot wonder at this if we consider the Cor. 8. "Let him come now to me and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel.' Thus spake the man of God when he heard that the king had rent his clothes. 9. "So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the door of The Tailor the house of Elisha."

A great and honorable and mighty man of this world stands in his majesty at the door of this poor and dependent servant In of God. He is now in the right place, but not in the right spirit. He knows that h is a leper, that he has a deadly disease, an he has come a long journey seeking for health; but then he is no poor man; he does not come as a beggar; he is not lik the leper of Matt. viii, nor the ten of Luk xvii. He is able to pay for his healing and he wants it done as to a great and might man. He is dealing with men and wants his position before men to be recognized

For many years family relations were somewhat strained, and then the war broke out and all smaller fires were extinguished in the national conflagration. Miss Royal, by that time a woman past her first youth, and saddened by a dead romance, retired to a lonely plantation in the mountains of Virginia, where she led an isolated life, filled only with old books, old influences and old imaginings. Such neighbors of her own caste as were accessible were people with views as primitive and experience but little larger than her own. Her life and environment interplayed to foster conceptions dress and I'll telegraph at once. I'll of duty and of moral obligation such as to the world at large would be untenable, and, as time went on, her views became more and more unpractical, conservative and romantic. She was a woman of sturdy will and domineering spirit, and, while kind of heart by nature, prone to let that kindness flow he himself was prone to take with his only along channels of her own making. WASHINGTON, March 6. - William E Blackstone of Chicago visited the president in company with Secretary Blaine, and presented a memorial in behalf of the of Christians and Jews recently held in Chicago, and called special attention to the fact that it does not antagonize Russia, but only sought in a peaceable way to give the Jews control of their old homes in Palestine. He pointed out many evicoast towns have been deserted to a large dences of the possibility of great develepment of that country, both agriculturally and commercially, under an energetic government, and said that the railroad now building from Joppa to Jesusalem, if extended to Damascus, Ladmor and down the Euphrates, cannot fail to become an international railway.

He says that the poverty of the Turkish government gives emphasis to the proposed indemnity by funding a portion of the Turkish national debt through Jew ish capitalists, and that only peacable dip-lomatic negotiations are asked for to the end that all private ownership of land and property be carefully respected and pro-tected. In closing he said that, being on friendly terms with Russia and having no complications in the Orient, it is most fitting and hopeful that our government should initiate this friendly movement to give these wandering millions of Israel a settled and permanent home. Her sole surviving sister is Mrs. Mary Buttermore, widow of John Buttermore, The second woman whose death is noted was Mrs. Sarah Rush, of Brownsville. She was the daughter of James Frey, the first regularly installed paster of the Connellsville Baptist church, and was born in Connellsville in 1803. She was the mother of four children-two sons and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Dr. Brashear, of New Haven, and Mrs. Shedrick Holt, lately of Sharpsville, but now of New Haven. She had been a member of the Baptist church for sixty-seven years. The combined ages of these two reached 174 years, and their death removes the oldest representatives of the pioneers of Connellsville. Both funeral sermons were preached by Rev. R. C. Morgan, of MUSIC ROOM, 8 Chestnut St. Connellsville.—Connellsville Courier.

Simply because she insists upon her husband's putting the entire amount of his salary into the bank to educate the children or in case of future need. The husband's salary is fixed, and she is thus sure of saving a certain amount each month. Her own varies, and she makes the expenses of the family vary accordingly. LIBERALS' PROGRAM

Will Soon Be Given to the Public by Gladstone.

PARNELL'S SKILL AND ENERGY

Is Making the Outlook Dubious for Mc-Carthyites-Labor Commission Not Expected to Accomplish Any Good-Foreign Gossip of Interest.

Copyright by the New York Associated Press.

LONDON, March 7 .- The Liberal official circles expect an early deliverance from Mr. Gladstone on the party's electoral program, which will either be issued as a special manifesto or declared in his coming speech at Hastings. The private and persistent entreaty of a number of leading adherents to make his attitude toward the Irish party definitely and unmistakable has finally caused him to decide to speak out. Mr. Parnell's reiteration of assurances to the Irish people that by supporting him they would ultimately bring about the surrender of the Glad-stonians is resented keenly by English Liberal leaders. Mr. Gladstone's pronouncement is expected to let the world know that if the Irish people champion Mr. Parnell the English Liberals will abandon home rule. Apart from Irish questions, the rank and file of the Liberal members of the house of commons are impatient to obtain a definite electoral platform.

To-day the Glalstonian weekly, The Speaker, contains an article entitled "Cleaning the Decks," admitting this feeling and adding that the official program will be in the hands of the electors in due time, and that it will not be found wanting in strength or in practical character. With reference to the Conservative platform, a prominent member of the government, interviewed in the lobby of the house of commons, said that though the cabinet had decided to wind up the session as quickly as possible, and aimed to prorogue parliament in the first week in July, no declaration would be allowed to be given by any minister until early in the autumn. He indicated that in the campaign then commencing the Conservatives would make a feature of the promised labor legislation. Mr. Gladstone has quashed the interest in the motion of the Scotch Liberals, led by Mr. Clarke, proposing to establish fedreal relations between the nationalities constituting the United Kingdom, by causing the whips to intimate that the party ought not to discuss or vote on the matter. When Mr. Clarke spoke last murdering rich natives for purposes of | night the Liberais trooped out, and when plunder, in a communication to The the government put up a minor member to attack the proposal the house was counted out. Mr. Parnell's speech at | dangerous one in town. Clerkenwell was a pointed bid for the labor vote. It was also meant to entice Mr. Davitt, but only stirred up Mr. Davitt's bile. Writing to The Labor World, Mr. Davitt predicts that Mr. Parnell will not humbug the workmen, denounces him for making a hypocritical profession of interest in, whilst actively formenting racial feuds between the English and Irish democracies, and accuses of him of being ready to wreck the home rule movement to pave the way for a Tory-Cum-Parnellite compact like that Poor Outlook for a Settlement. The cabinet finds the constitution of the labor commission a difficult job. A section of the Several others narrowly escaped ministry wants to have Lord Derby as president and to limit the inquiry within the narrowest practical bounds. trades unions demand that one-half of the members be drawn from the working classes has been generally censured. If the workmen get three representatives they will be fortunate. Every great interest in the country is claiming representation. Shopkeepers, manufacturers, railways and co-operative societies all offer delegates. Prolonged confusion, ending in a fiasco is the probable fate of the commission. Labor associations threaten to ignore the commission unless the government accedes to their demands, including a discussion of all subjects formulated in their program.

Dilke Catches It. Editor Stead issued to-day a pamphlet vehemently denouncing Sir Charles Dilke, recalling his promise not to re-turn to public life till his character was cleared, analyzing the Dilke pamphlet as an addition to his offenses by piling up falsehoods, and invoking a combination of the Liberals to prevent the reelection of Sir Charles lest disgrace fall upon the cause of Liberalism. The friends of Sir Charles urge that their position be kept doubtful, because they cannot reopen the case by a direct appeal to law. His Liberal opponents now challenge him to take the only course open for legal vindication - to prosecute the persons charged in the pamphlet with conspiracy from Georgia when the war broke out, and and perjury. On Monday Sir Charles will speak, when his opponents will ask him to step down or prosecute.

'Twas Unreliable Gossip. American papers have been received here in which Mr. Burdett-Coutts is named as defendant in a divorce suit, and frank allusions are made to the parties concerned which have been common property for weeks. W. T. Sherman." These statements are incorrect and misleading. The book referred to is one to be issued by Hubbard Bros., Philadelphia. The author is W. Fletcher Johnson, Esq., of New York. Some time since I promised to review this work before issue, chapter by chapter, with a view to criticise and correct, should any misstatement be discovered. I further agreed to write an introduction, if the book on completion proved to be a good one in its print, pictures and substance, but nothing more. The author is, of course, at liberty to quote from my public statements and reports as he does from Gen. It is pretty generally known that in the Pascagoula river, near Scranton, Miss., strange sounds are frequently heard as of a musical instrument played at a distance under the water. Bosting parties are often startled at the distinct ness of the music. They liken it to the sounds produced by the vibration of masical glasses or of harpstrings. The sound rises and falls as if wafted by the wind, and is locally known as "the mysterious music." The origin of the sound is generally ascribed to a movement of sand at the bottom of the river, although there is no evidence offered that the sand does move or any reason given why it should move.

The explanation, doubtless, rests.upon the fact that such a phenomenon as singing or barking sand is known toerist in several parts of the world. It is not likely that wet sand would produce the sounds mentioned. It is more probable that fish make these noises, for fish can sing very nicely, too. It seems rather funny to speak of singing fish, but many of them do certainly produce vocal sounds. Croakers get their names from the noise they make. Bluefish protest indignantly when they are pulled out of the water, but these are not such sounds as constitute the music of the fish.—Mobile (Ala.) Register.

Bret Harte's Literary Seclusion. Unlike many authors, Bret Harte

never does an ambitious piece of literary work amid the din of the city. Whenever the plot of a story gets thoroughly crystallized in his mind he repairs to a quiet suburban retreat just outside of London, and there he works. And in this little nook the author is at present hard at work upon a new story of considerable length. Only a few of his closest friends know the whereabouts of his cave of seclusion, and even these he has never asked to join him there. The novelist works steadily when he is in seclusion, and stops only for an hour's walk every day. When at work his diet is a very frugal one; he retires early and is up just after dawn, working oftenseveral hours before he has his morning coffee, eggs and rolls. For two months he will keep himself thus secluded, then, returning to London, he places his manuscript in the hands of his publisher and considers his work done, for Bret Harte hates proofreading.-Edward W. A Nose from a Cat's Ribs.

A Decatur young weman has recently been operated upon successfully in a manner that will excite surgeons. The patient is a young woman who, when a child, had her nose broken, and as a result of the decay of the bones the bridge of the nasal organ had been completely lost. The patient was etherized and a transverse incision about three-quarters of an inch long made directly between the eyes, extending down the bone. A small chisel was then introduced and all the soft parts separated from the bones, from the top of the nose to the forehead, and about one inch on either side of the

> The Last Raymond and Whitcomb Excursion to Washington.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, the enterprising excursion managers, announce an extra trip to Washington in obedience to numerous requests. The party will leave Boston Wednesday, April 1, and there will be a choice of boat or land route between Boston and New York. Five days will be passed at the national capital, with headquarters at Willard's Hotel and the Ebbitt House, and there will be a carriage ride about the city and also a visit to Mount Vernon. The all-rail section will pass a night in New York going and returning. The excursion will be made very attractive, and will doubtless take a large New England delegation to the national capital. Descriptive circulars may be obtained of Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston.

HOURS OF LABOR.

sonable Limit.

An Essay Delivered by Mr A. C. Smith be- ELGIN and WALTHAM. fore the Clan McGregor Club.

The Clan McGregor Literary society met in Doble's hall on Saturday, Mr. Grassick

An essay on "The hours of labor," was delivered by Mr. A. C. Smith, in which he showed thorough mastery of his subject. Mr. Smith gave a brief synopsis of the abor movement in this country during the ast fifty years. He showed that when operatives worked in ill-ventilated mills for fifteen hours a day, the remuneration was only about half what it is now; and in every case adduced, he demonstrated that the tendency of shorter hours is not only to increase the number of work people required, but to raise their pay, multiply their enjoyments and add to their well-

Mr. Smith directed his remarks chiefly to the three following points: 1. In most industries a case is made out for shortening the hours of labor. 2. An eight-hour day is a reasonable

3. The state should secure and enforce this limitation by law.

We will quote only from the last of these heads, since it is the one most likely to enlist the attention—the diversified attention It is often said that the shortening of the hours of labor is in the hands of the workpeople themselves. If they want it they can get it. By this is meant that by combination they can compel the employers to submit. Think, however, what this involves. It means that if the workers on a large scale are to be successful, vast injury a succession of strikes. Bad blood shall be engendered, and great masses of the population threatened with starvation; in short our whole industrial system given over to the anarchy of warfare. In other departments of life we recognize are anxious to see interna superseded by arbitration. But in matters industrial some of us still cling to the idea of Jan. 1, 1891, will be of interest, viz: that might is right---that justice is to be secured by the ordeal of battle.

Can any valid arguments be adduced to show why in this department also law may not take the place of force? It is said to be contrary to the principles of political Land sold, conomy. This science, it is alleged, has Pews sold, shown that the attempt to regulate the Income account, hours of labor by law has greviously failed in the past, and that industry thrives always better when most unfettered by the State. The assumption that a nation can thrive where industry is left alone is contradicted by the experience of this country.

My critics will say "It is all very well to regulate the labor of women and children, but I object to interferring with the employment of adult men." So far from the regulation of men's labor being new, it is already embodied in existing laws both in this country and in Britain. The employment of men on Sundays has long been prohibited except in very limited cases, both in this country and in Britain. This is justified on physical and social, quite apart from religious grounds.

It is also objected, "The State should can judge from experience there is no evi- March 21. dence of ill effect from legislative interference in this direction. The objection that such legislation would be an unwarrantable interference with in dividual liberty; that a man should not be prevented from working as long as he mill of brick and stone, four stories high, likes, I answer, "No one wishes to pre- on the site of the present stone mill at the vent him so long as his action does not Lower Mills. compel others to work longer than they

A few words in conclusion as to the form such legislation should assume. The notion of a universal compulsory eight-hour day is crude in conception and impossible of immediate realization. It represents a rather hazy ideal, and our advance towards it will have to be slow, but that is no reason why we are not to advance at all. One of the first points should be a general declaration by the people that a day's labor shall be eight hours. The eight hours should be made the limit with such safeguards as may be needed to provide for emergencies in all work undertaken by and

The Latest Rat Story.

Mrs. I. J. Fiske was the victim of bold and daring attempt at robbery the other night at her rooms on State street Columbus, O. The thief was a big rat and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's and chain. Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fish was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light he found the rat dragging the watch toward a hole near the water pipes, which he had nearly reached. The rat had taken the watch from the dresser, drawing it nearly twenty feet. In a minute more he would have disappeared with his plunder .-Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Woman Who Has Written a Book.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, the latest woman novelist to win genuine favor with the public, is described as a pretty, youngish woman, very blonde, with a nice, high bred air. Matilda, aged 27, and her sister Lena, about 30, live in the house of their uncle, Michael McFarland. They occupy separate beds in the same room. All was quiet in the house until 1 o'clock in the morning, when Mr. McFarland was awakened by a woman's shrieks, and discovered Matilda standing at the sink bathing her face and head in water, and groaning terribly. She said something had been thrown in her face and was burning her.

Just then her sister Lena was seen trying to escape from the house. She was followed, and the policeman on the beat arrested her. She would not talk of the affair. A doctor was sent for, and the unfortunate woman was found to be terribly disfigured. Her forehead, cheeks and nose were in a frightful state, and the eyebrows entirely burned away. It is thought the sight may be saved, as she was sleeping at the time the vitriol Bowman and Anti-Bowman Church Factions Having a Lively War-Ministers Refused Admission to Pulpits.

READING, Pa., March 9.-The trustees of the Sixth Street Evangelical church, yesterday, refused Rev. A. H. Krecker, the Bowman representative, permission to enter the pulpit, and Rev. J. H. Sheey, anti-Bowman, was accepted as the pastor. Rev. Krecker and over 100 of his followers filed out of church in a body, and worshipped in the Hebrew temple. An injunction issued by the court Saturday against Rev. A. Kresge, the Bowman pastor, restraining him and his followers from interfering with Rev. F. P. Lehr, anti-Bowman, had the effect of keeping Kresge and his party away, and Rev. Mr. Lehr held undisputed possession

At Mohnshville, this county, Rev. Joseph Sprecht, anti-Bowman, was refused admission to the pulpit by the trustees, and Rev. D. R. Albright, Bowman preacher, was received as the pastor. Rev. W. A. He Loved His Soldiers.

There are many pleasant reminiscences about the late Gen. Devens. One is a reminder of his sensitiveness and kind heartedness. After the battle of Antietam, in which he had displayed great bravery and ability, he rode up before the Fifteenth regiment, which had suffered great loss in this battle, and asked what the result had been. When told what loss it had suffered he broke down and openly shed tears as he sat in his saddle before his regiment. The furious battle was not yet over, the roar of cannon and the rattle of musketry was still sounding, but the brave general cried before his men as he thought of his friends who had lost their lives. His fatherly care and watchfulness over his men was well known. He took care to have as little loss of life as possible, and looked after their health very carefully. It is also well known that he was very liberal to the soldiers with his of soldiers in his company, and he also used to urge them to send their money home, and would take it from them and give them checks on the bank in return, which they could send home to their families. After the war he was equally benevolent to war veterans in distress, and many men have him to thank for aid in their troubles.-Worcester Ga-

Beating the Cabby.

Even if Representative Jason B. Brown does come from a rural district in Indiana, he has no hayseed in his hair. A few days ago he hired a cab in front of the Riggs house and drove around where he expected to meet a friend. But his friend was not there, and so he drove back to the hotel around the corner. The trip occupied just six minutes. "How much?" he asked the cabman. "Seventyfive cents." "Oh, no," said Mr. Brown, "you can only charge seventy-five cents an hour." "It's just the same for a portion of an hour," said cabby. "If that is the case," said Mr. Brown, "you can wait here for the balance of the hour. I will be in the hotel when your hour is up." Then he disappeared through the doorway. In less than fifteen minutes the cabby capitulated. "Give me twentyfive cents and I will go away," he said. He got his money and departed.-Washington Post.

The Ministers and Aldermen Coast. A delicate question has lately arisen in the mind of his honor Mayor Bradford. When coasting was prime on Mulberry street the mayor, with his usual forethought for people's safety, carefully directed that an officer be stationed at the foot of the hill to arrest any who trespassed against the law which forbids the coasters to cross Maple street. "But, yer honor," exclaimed the policeman, "phat was I to do? I saw a ripper coming like a streak of greased lightning down the hill. Whizz it went across the street, and I tore along after it to arrest the miscreants. But who should scramble off the pesky thing but Alderman Holbrook and his lady, and the last of all came Parson Baldwin!" So his honor, the mayor, scratches his head and thinks and thinks and thinks. -Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

In the St. Joseph hospital, Omaha, is a case that has attracted the attention of the best physicians of that city, and the equal of which is not known in medical history. It is that of Mrs. Mc-Kinney, wife of a railroad man of Kearney, Neb. The phenomenal feature of the case is that the woman's bodily temperature for six months past has ranged from normal to 171 degs. Fahrenheit, and has remained at 146 degs. for weeks at a time. Heretofore the highest authenticated case of temperature not resulting fatally has beer 114 degs .-Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Pessimistic Judge. In the course of a case before the court of review, Saturday, when a learned counsel was referring to the alleged dishonest practices of the defendant, Chief Justice Sir Francis Johnson introduced the following remark, "Don't be too strong; you must remember there are not very many really honest men on this earth after all." Later on in the case, when the counsel spoke of the conviction which he hoped for, the judge again remarked: "Well, after all, the line is a small one, indeed, that divides the convicted from the unconvicted."-Montreal

Franklin W. Smith, of Boston, is the projector of an ambitious scheme to build an immense temple of the arts at Washington. It is to cost $5,000,000, and occupy 150 acres of ground. Mr. Smith has had the plans drawn, it is said, and hopes to raise enough money in the next five years to begin the work. Hilt Bruner, a locomotive engineer, who was killed at Winchester, Ky., the other day, by the explosion of the boiler of his engine, had an unlucky record.

It is said that while he was at the throttle his engine had figured in twentyeight fatal accidents, although Bruner was in no sense culpable. The largest olive oil factory in the world will soon be built at Los Guilicos, in Sonoma county, Cal. The plant will cost a quarter of a million. The company has sixty acres of 6-year-old trees, and is planting 700 acres. The largest barometer yet made has just been put in working order in the St. Jacques tower in Paris. It is 12.65 meters high, was manufactured in St. Denis and was carried by six men to Paris in a strong wooden frame.

Aubery Boucicault, son of Dion Boucicault, who is just about to be married, has written a new play expressly for his mother, in which Mrs. Boucicault will appear with her daughter Nina and the author.

A HEARING

On Proposed Amendment to City Charter.

Mayor Fairbanks and ex-Mayor Porter Believe in the Change,

The School Committee is Represented-Other Citizens Present.

The Committee on Cities gave a hearing his morning at the State House to parties nterested in the petition of Mayor Fairanks of this city to amend the city charter of Quincy, as to require the School Comthe appropriations needed for the schools. There were present from this city Mayor Burke, ex-Representative Federhen, Superintendent Aldrich, Rev. Mr. Roche of the Mayor Fairbanks first stated his reasons or amending Section 45, so as to have it be taken looking to the ultimate purchase pply to the School Board as well as to is considered impracticable in the present the other departments of the city; and state of the parish finances, that provision said he would be pleased to answer any be made in the annual appropriations for putting the present organ in better condiquestions that might be asked.

Ex-Mayor Porter spoke quite plainly why it should be amended, and said it was and no extensive repairs are likely to be so intended, he thought, by the committee who framed the charter, but by some mistake it was overlooked.

Dr. Faxon also thought it was essential for the School Board to hand an estimate should be able to send in to the Council, as required by the charter, an estimate of the receipts and expenditures for the ensuing

Supt. Aldrich thought it was unwise to commence tinkering the charter, which was only about two years old. He thought the School Committee better qualified to the School Committee better qualified to judge what amount the schools required than the Mayor or Treasurer. And in Jacob Flint after more than thirty-six years future years, if Quincy should happen to get in a bad Mayor it would work to the disadvantage of the schools. Rev. Mr. Roche spoke in a similar strain, and thought best to leave it where it was; believing it to be unwise to make any Alpha Assemblies.

A very pretty party, and probable the most enjoyable of the season, was the third of the Alpha series given in Faxon hall Monday evening. It was attended by forty or more couples of well known society people. The gentlemen were in full dress, while the ladies looked charming in their ball dresses of the latest style. Excellent music was furnished by five pieces of made suit of clothes to the newsboy making Monk's orchestra.

There were twelve numbers on the order: Quadrille, waltz, Portland fancy, Lanciers, polka glide, quadrille (sleigh bells), schottische, caledonia, galop, Virginia reel, waltz and quadrille. There were encores to some was a delicious treat. Mrs. J. H. Stetson, who is entitled to all the credit of these parties, was warmly congratulated upon their success, and strongly urged to have one or two more. At the close of the party, on motion of Dr. Gordon, a vote of thanks was passed in no uncertain voice to Mrs. Stetson.

Entertainment by Mission Band.

The Children's Mission Band gave an entertainment in the Wollaston Congregational vestry, Monday evening. After an interesting programme, ice cream and cake was served, and fancy articles and confectionery was sold.

THE CONTEST FOR SPEAKER.

Belief That the Successful Man Will Be from the South-No Extra Session to Confirm Federal Judges-The President on His Hunting Trip.

WASHINGTON, March 10 .- A polling of the Indiana legislature on the presidential question has caused much comment in both Democratic and Republican circles, and has set many people here to thinking. The strength of ex-President Cleveland has greatly astonished not only the Hill men, but all the free coinage Democrats as they had supposed that Indiana would be counted as a free coinage state. The weakness of President Harrison as a candidate for renomination, and the strong following of Secretary Blaine has dis turbed President Harrison's followers and is not cheerfully received at the White House. It is well known that Mr. Blaine is not a candidate, and the movement is without his sanction. He counsels his friends, whenever the subject is alluded to, to support the president, and he is for his renomination. A gentleman who is very close to the secretary says those premature and unwise exhibitions will end in causing Mr. Blaine to publicly declare his position, in order to relieve himself from any embarrassment that might affect his relations with the

"In this connection," the gentleman added, "it should not be construed that the Where seraphims are standing fair and sweet. secretary fails to appreciate the approving voice of his fellow countrymen. In matters of public duty he enjoys everything that is said in approval of his administratration of the portfolio of foreign affairs. The position of the secretary on the Canadian fishery and fur seal questions, the congress of American nationalities, the advanced economized policy, represented by the measures through international greements for the establishment of reciprocal trade and the extension of our markets on the American hemisphere, find their strongest claims to the approbation of the American people in their opposition to the great commercial and industrial powers of the Old World."

BATTLE FOR THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The Prize More Than Likely to Go to Southerner.

WASHINGTON, March 10.-Quite a number of the leading candidates for speaker of the next house are here, among them Messrs. Mills, Crisp, McMillan, Springer and Bynum. The friends of these gentlemen are earnestly at work laying their plans and conferring with Democrats from the north and northwest looking to the speakership contest. The leaders of the Democratic party in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New England have had frequent conferences of late, and have decided not to support any candidate for speaker from the south, unless they receive assurances that the states which they represent shall be fully recognized in the chairmanship of the leading committees. They refer to the fact that the composition of the ways and means committee under Speaker Carlisle was extremely southern in its Democratic majority, and the tariff bill, which they legacies to many benevolent societies that brought on defeat. The northern formulated, was one of the leading issues and institutions, among which we are and western leaders do not, therefore, e, if they can help it, to allow tha blunder to be repeated.

It is understood that Messrs. Mills, Crisp and McMillan, being fully aware of the mistake then made, have indicated their willingness to accede to these terms. This fact undoubtedly will result in the election of a southern speaker, and the contest is going to be very animated between these three gentlemen. In connection and the Massachusetts Home for In- with this matter, these gentlemen assert temperate Women, $2,000. FLOOD AND CYCLONE

Cause Destruction of Life and Property in Mississippi.

STORMS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Pertions of England and Scotland Experience the Worst Weather for Many Years - Navigation Rendered Danger ous in the English Channel.

PICKENS, Miss., March 10 .- Continued rains since Thursday night have raised the water in Big Black river higher than ever known and it is still rising rapidly. It is up to the floor of the bridge. All the other bridges in the countey are gone and communication cut off. The Illinois Central railroad track is lifted bodly from its bed and deposited in the ditch for miles below and above here, and the embankment swept away. Incalculable damage has been done by the water.

A cyclone passed over this place without doing any damage, dropping over in Madison county, where it caused great destruction of life and property, passing from there into Atala county, near Newport, where houses were blown down and four negroes killed. The town of Enterprise is inundated to a large extent, the water flowing through the streets with the velocity of a river and in many instances coming in the stores. The flood has no parallel save in the memorable year of 1871. It will perhaps be two days before traffic will be resumed.

Railroads Badly Washed Out. MERIDIAN, Miss., March 10 .- A cloudburst did immense damage to all the railroads entering this city and no trains have come in or gone out since yesterday morning, except one on the Alabama and Great Southern railroad. The Northeastern over every mile of the Grand Trunk and railroad is washed out between this city iron bridge is a foot out of line. Development in Advertising. In no department of the modern newspaper has there been greater and more marked improvements shown than in the field of advertising. There is a greater display of taste and literary style in the composition, and an evident effort is made to appeal to the intelligence and refinement of the reader. This is seen not only in the advertisements of the trained skill is employed, but as well in the three line advertisement which is written by the advertiser himself, and which, in terseness and directness of style, can lay claim to great literary merit. QUALITIES OF THE JAPANESE.

Edwin Arnold's Enthusiastic Opinions of Japanese People.

As for the people, I am and always shall be of good St. Francis Xavier's feeling, 'This nation is the delight of my soul." Never have I passed days more happy, tranquil or restorative than among Japanese of all classes in the cities, towns and villages of Japan. Possibly that is because I have had no business relations with my kind and pleasant Niponese friends, and have never talked very much metaphysics; but it seems certainly an easy way to keep on the right side of folks to let philosophy and theology alone.

Moreover it is, no doubt, necessary for such experiences to go a little behind that sort of Japan which you find on the Hatobas of Yokohama or Kobe, in the Yoshiwaras of those and the other open ports. At very little distance from the surface, which we civilizing westerners have done our best to spoil, will be still discovered the old, changeless, high tempered, generous, simple and sweet mannered Japan of old. I frankly confess it has entirely charm-

But where know what it is; it is the unconscious custom made suit of clothes which would else in the world does there exist such a conspiracy to be agreeable; such a widespread compact to render the difficult affairs of life as smooth and graceful as circumstances admit; such fair decrees of fine behavior fixed and accepted for all; such universal restraint of the coarser impulses of speech and act. such pretty picturesqueness of daily Boys, this is your chance. It is open to existence; such lively love of nature as all boys in the city, and Ledgers may be the embellisher of that existence; such that these witnesses' signatures were procured at the office or of any of the sincere delight in beautiful artistic written in the margin and somewhat things; such frank enjoyment of the enjoyable; such tenderness to little children; such reverence for parents and old persons; such widespread refinement of taste and habits; such courtesy to strangers; such willingness to please and to be pleased. -Sir Edwin Arnold in Scribner's cided that there had been in this case no

Crabs Are Fighters.

Crabs particularly are fighting animals; in fact, they will fight anything. I have seen a crab, in conflict with a lobster, catch the latter over the fore part of the head, where the shell is hardest, and crush it in by one effort. And it rather bears out my idea that the claws of these creatures are particularly weapons of war; that the moment one of means signing the name without any them receives severe injury in a claw it reference to its position on the docudrops it off by voluntary amputation, severing its connection with the body at the shoulder by an act of its own will. It seems to me probable that if the claw were necessary for feeding nature would rather seek to cure an injury to it than let the animal discard it altogether.

In the capital and the provinces there are thirty-five normal schools, with 12,024 pupils of both sexes, who become professors and teachers, chiefly for the primary schools.

In Buenos Ayres in 1889 there were 285 primary schools, directed by 1,571 teachers and attended by 54,509 children. In the provinces there were 2,719 primary schools, with a teaching staff of 4,532 and an attendance of 205,186. To resume, the results obtained were 3,042 primary schools, 6,103 teachers, 259,695 pupils, 2,373 primary schoolhouses in the whole republic. Of these schoolhouses 485 are the property of the nation or of the provinces and 1,888 private property.-Theodore Child, in Harper's.

Advance of Public Sentiment.

As an incident of the woman's suffrage movement, it is impossible to pass over the election of Lady Sandhurst, Miss Jane Cobden and Miss Cons as members of the London county council. As hostile suits are now pending for heavy penalties against the ladies to test their right to sit and vote, it would be unbecoming here to do more than wish them success in their brave fight. Their presence at the council board, their useful work on its committees, has already so justified their election that even if the aw be interpreted hostilely against them there is little doubt that public opinion would compel early legislative action in favor of the right they claim. -Charles Bradlaugh in Boston Tran-

A Verse of Scripture. At one of the Teachers' institutes held a few years ago in Maine, a rule was in force that whoever entered the morning session late should pause at the door and recite a passage of Scripture, a quotation from some poet, or other expression of an idea, for the edification of those present at the session. There was present at the session a plain little old maid, who was continually saying and doing inappropriate things. It seemed to come natural to her. She was late one morning, was this "unappropriated blessing," and pausing on the threshold she electrified those within by remarking snavely, "I love those that love me, and those that seek me early shall find me."-Lewiston Journal.

A Faithful Love.

They relate to us from Boulogne sur Mer, in France, a remarkable incident of fidelity. A Danish princess, one of those fairy beauties of the north who seem to draw their peculiar charm from the melancholic splendor of their climate, one of those Ophelias, with limpid eyes as the bluish crystal of the Scandinavian lakes, had a friend, faithful, devoted, loving, patient, whom she has deserted in a moment of forgetfulness. Leaving suddenly, when ascending the outside bridge to the steamer, she forgot her friend, the most faithful companion of her youth, a splendid black dog, with beautiful dark shining hair; from that time the poor animal, standing erect over the fences of the mole, barks furiously after the waves, jumping joyously as soon as can be perceived afar the smoking shaft of a steamer, which he always thinks will bring back ashore his beloved owner.

He is always waiting, hopeful and above all true and faithful, though consolated and petted by the gloved hand of the beautiful and romantic English misses who gave him sweet names, calling him "Oh, you dear, faithful friend. Sweet boy." And over there, afar, afar in the north, the fairy Scandinavian regret of the faithful companion deserted afar.-Baltimore American.

Subscribed or Superscribed. Many are the pitfalls which lie in the path of the man who sits down to make his will. In a case recently tried in the probate court the witnesses were stated in the usual words to have "hereunto subscribed their names," but it happened higher than these attesting words. Hence arose the grave question, Could a signature be said to be subscribed when, strictly speaking, it was superscribed? It is easy to conceive a judge of rigidly logical tendencies who would have de-

proper attestation. Fortunately Sir C. Parker Butt, fortified by a decision of Lord Campbell, decided that, though it might seem a strange interpretation to put upon the word "subscribe," to hold that writing the witnesses' names above the testator's signature in the margins was a compliance with the act, yet in the eye of the law the word "subscribe" "simply ment."-London News.

Novel Bird Story.

When Mr. Andrew Young returned from Alaska last fall he went out to his ranch on Young's river to dig his potatoes. Passing a hollow tree he noticed several bushels already gathered. He was soon rewarded by seeing a flock of bluejays alight on the tree. and each bird had a potato in its bill, which was dropped into an opening in a limb and passed on down to the ground. He procured sacks, and as fast as one was filled another was put at the place, and in this way the birds harvested fifty bushels of potatoes for him from various patches around the country.-Astoria (Ore.) Jim Candee, an old Lyme trapper, has caught an unprecedented number of muskrats this year. He sinks a half barrel near the runs of the rats to the level of the ground, half fills it with water, and then on floating pieces of boards in the tub places small pieces of carrots. When the muskrat jumps in after the bait he can't get out, and he leaves the trap set for another victim. Mr. Candee has caught as many as six rats in a single barrel in one night.-Hartford Times.

Waked from His Winter's Sleep. A Ledyard boy on Monday discovered woodchuck in a heap of leaves in an old tree and pulled him out. He was curled up, with both forepaws pressed closely over his eyes. HONESTY AND MEMORY

IT LOOKED AS THOUGH THE MAN WAS GUILTY OF A CRIME.

A Case Which Shows That Circumstantial Evidence Is Not Always Conclusive Proof of Guilt-A Woman Makes Up in

Forbearance Her Loss of Memory, Two weeks ago a family of two perns—husband and wife—rented a small apartment up town and proceeded to furnish it. The carpets were supplied and laid by a reputable house. Something about one of them was unsatisfactory, and a man was sent to investigate. The wife-Mrs. L.-was on her way out of the building to post a letter when she encountered him. Recognizing him, she said: "Here is the key; I will be back in five minutes. Go up and see what can be done."

No sooner had she got on the street when she thought suddenly of a roll of bills, nearly $100, which she had carelessly left in a glove box on her dressing table. There was nobody in the apartment, as no servant had yet been engaged, and she was tempted to return at once to look after the money. "But surely," she thought, "that man is hon est; I need have no fear," and she har. ried on.

In less than ten minutes she and met the carpet man just oursi door. He stopped and spoke concerning the troublesome car promised a speedy remedy. Ti rated and she entered her an Almost mechanically she went dressing table and raised the lile glove box. The money was not then sea negotiations have taken a most favor-ble turn and the governments of the United States and Great Britain appear to have at length reached a basis upon from Lord Salisbury to Sir Julian parlance the words "Pacific ocean" do inwhich was laid before Secretary Blaine and was made public by him last night:

vent the exercise of the seal fishery by other nations in Behring sea rests now exclusively upon the interests which, by purchase, they possess in a ukase issued by Emperor Alexander I, in the year 1821, which prohibits foreign vessels from ap-proaching within 100 Italian miles of the coast and islands then belonging to Russia in Behring sea. It is not as I understand in Behringsea. It is not, as I understand, contended that the Kussian government, at the time of the issue of this ukase, possessed any inherent right to enforce. sessed any inherent right to enforce such a prohibition, or acquired by the act of issuing it any claims over the open sea beyond the three miles which they would not otherwise have possessed. But it is said that this proposition, worthless in itself, acquired validity and force against the British government because that government can be shown to have accepted its provisions. The plase was a puere another government, acquire a validity, which, in its inception, it did not possess, if it is formally or effectively accepted by that government. But the vital question for decision is whether any other government, and especially whether the government of Great Britain, has ever accepted the claim put forward in this ukase. Our contention is, that not only can it not be shown that the government of Great Britain, at any time since 1821, has admitted the soundness of the pre-tentions put forward by that ukase, but that it can be shown that it has categori-cally denied it on more than one occasion. To sustain this contention, Lord Salisbury quotes from a letter (January, 1822) from Lord Londonderry to Count Lieven, the Russian ambassador in London, a reservation of British rights to the pavigation of the waters described in the ukase, and also from a note by the Duke of Wellington to Count Nesseirode (Oct.

the coast. Continuing, Lord Salisbury It is evident, therefore, that so far as diplomatic representations went, the king's government of that date took every step which it was in their power to take in order to make it clear to the Russian government that Great Britain did not accept the claim to exclude her subjects for 100 miles from the coast, which had been put forward in the coast, which had been put forward in the ukase of 1821. Mr. Blaine does not deal with these protests, which appear to her majesty's govern-ment to be in themselves amply sufficient

To Decide the Question whether Great Britain did or did not acquiesce in the Russian claim put forward by the ukase. He confines himself mainly, in the dispatch under consideration, to the consideration of the treaties which were subsequently made between Great Britain and Russia and America and Russia in 1825, and especially of that between Russia and Great Britain. This reaty, of which the text is printed at the close of Mr. Blaine's dispatch, does not contain a word to signify the acquiescence of Great Britain in the claim recently put forward by Russia to control the waters of the sea for 100 miles from her coast. There is no stipulation upon which this interpretation can be imposed by any process fo construction whatsoever. But there is a provision having, in our judg-ment, a totally opposite tendency which, indeed, was intended to negative the extravagant claim that had recently been made on the part of Russia; and it is upon this provision that the main part of Mr. Blaine's argument, as I understand it, is founded.

The situation to which I refer is con-The situation to which I refer is contained in the first article (agreeing that the respective subjects of the two nations shall not be molested in the navigation of or fishing in any part of the Pacific ocean). I understand Mr. Blaine's argument to be that if Great Britain had intended to protein the substance of a separate reference. Her majority's government has no objection test against the claims of Russia to ex-clude ships for 100 miles from her coasts in Behring sea, she would have taken this opportunity of doing so; but that in confining herself to stipulations in favor of full liberty of navigation and fishing in any part of the ocean commonly called the Pacific ocean, she, by implication, renounced any claim that could arise out of these meses of circumstances in regard to the matter to the United States.

There is an omission in these questions.

passage and free Isning over a vast extent of ocean could be effectively renounced by more reticence or omission. The right is one of which we could not be deprived unless we consented to abandon it, and that consent could not be sufficiently inferred from our navigators having omitted to mention the subject on one particular occasion. But I am not prepared to admit the justice of Mr. Blaine's contention that the words "Pacific ocean" did not include Behring sea. I believe that in common parlance, then and now, Behring sea was and is part of the Pacific ocean, and that the latter words were used in order to give the fullest and widest scope possible to the claim which the British negotiators were solemnly recording of a right freely to navigate and fish in every part of it, and throughout its entire extent.

In Proof of the Argument

In Proof of the Argument that the words "Pacific ocean" do not inthat the words "Pacific ocean" do not include Behring sea, Mr. Blaine adduces a long list of maps, in which a designation distinct from that of "Pacific ocean" is given to Behring sea: either Behring ser or Sea of Kamschatka, or the Sea of Anadir. The argument will hardly have any force unless it is applicable with equal truth to all the other oceans of the world. But no one will dispute that the Bay of Biscay forms part of the Atlantic ocean, or that the In Which He Announces England's Re- Gulf of Lyons forms part of the Mediterfusal to Indorse the Closed Sea Theory, and Agrees to Submit to Arbitration the Question of the Seizure of Vessels

Washington, March 11.—The Behring a negotiations have taken a most favorble turn and the governments of the books as reference. I append to this dispatch a list of some thirty works of the class of various dates, from 1795 downwhich to settle their difficulties. This is shown by the following communications which combine to show that in common clude Behring sea.

If, then, in ordinary language, the Pacific ocean is used as a phrase, including the whole sea from Behring straits to the Antarctic circle, it follows that the first article of the treaty of 1825 did secure to Great Britain in the fullest manner the freedom of payigation, and fishing in which was laid before Secretary Blaine and was made public by him last night:
FOREIGN OFFICE, Feb. 21, 1891.
To Sir Julian Pauncefote:
Sir—The dispatch of Mr. Blaine, under date of Dec. 17, has been carefully considered by her majesty's government. The effect of the discussion which has been carried on between the two governments has been materially to narrow the area of controversy. It is now quite clear that the advisors of the president do not claim Behring sea as a mare clusum, and indeed that they repudiate that contention in express terms. Nor do they rely, as a justification for the seizure of British ships in the open sea, upon the contention that the interests of the seal fisheries give to the United States government any right for that purpose, which, according to international law, it would not otherwise possess. Whatever importance they attach to the preservation of the fur seal species—and they justly look on it as an object deserving the most serious solicitude—they do not conceive that it confers upon any maritime power rights over the open ocean which that power could not assert on other grounds.

The claim of the United States to prevent the exercise of the seal fishery by other nations in Behring sea rests now these considerations no doubt whatever that British subjects enjoy the same rights in Behring sea which belong to them in every other portion of the open ocean; but it is nevertheless a matter of sincere satisfaction that the president is willing to re-fer to arbitration what he conceived to be the matters which have been under disussion between the two governments for by her majesty's government. They are as follows:

1. What exclusive jurisdiction in the sea known as the Behring sea and what exclusive rights in the seal fisheries therein, did Russia assert and exercise prior and up to the time of the cession of Alaska to the United States? 2. How far were these claims of juris-liction as to the seal fisheries recognized and conceled by Great Britain?

The third question is expressed in the following terms: Was the body of water now known as the Behring sea included in treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, and what rights (if any) in the Behring sea were given or conceded to Great Britain by the said treaty?

Great Britain by the said treaty?

Her majesty's government would have no objection to referring to arbitration the first part of that question if it should be thought desirable to do so, but they would give that consent with the reservation that they do not admit that the decision of it can conclude the larger question of it can conclude the larger question of the consent with sion of it can conclude the larger ques-tion the arbitrator would have to deter mine. To the latter part of No. 3 it would be their duty to take exception: What rights, if any, in the Behring sea were given or conceded to Great Britain by the aid treaty?

Great Britain has never suggested that any rights were given to her or conceded to her by the said treaty. All that was done was to recognize her natural right of free navigation and fishing in that, as in all other parts of the Pacific ocean. Russia did not give those rights to Great Brit-1822) refusing to admit Russia's right to ain because they were never her's to give that treaty? The fourth question is hardly worth reerring to an arbitrator, as Great Britain would be prepared to accept it without

The fifth proposed question runs as follows: What are now the rights of the United States as to the fur seal fisheries in the waters of the Behring sea outside of the ordinary territorial limits, whether such rights grew out of the cession by Russia of any special rights or jurisdic-tion held by her in such fisheries or in the waters of Benring sea or out of the owner-ship of the breeding islands and the habits of the seals in resorting thither and rearing their young thereon and going from the islands for food, or out of ther fact or incident connected with the relation of those seal fisheries to the terri-torial possessions of the United States? The first clause: What are are now the rights of the United States as to the fur seal fisheries in the waters of Behring sea, outside of the ordinary territorial limit, s a question which would very properly be referred to an arbitrator. But the subequent clause, which assumes that such ights could have grown out of the owner-hip of the breeding islands, and the habs of the seals in resorting thereto, in-olves an assumption as to the prescrip-ions of international law at the present time, to which her majesty's government

It might mean sight to the eyes as well as food and raiment for the body of the woman he loved. It made the conditions of the will more difficult of comprehension than ever, but he forebore to trouble his mind with that question. Other matters were more pressing than could be the solution of an apparently impracticable woman's

To them he rd you say once that short was the master of the situation, the grand male creature who had just proved possession of manhood and puissance to an unprecedented degree. They hearkened to him graciously, and treated him with the subtle suggestion of trust and dependence which is spontaneous with all womanly women. After a little the talk, insensibly guided by Royal, drifted to serious things, and he told them, as of a strange and pitiful happening, of his meeting on the train the day before with a poor young fellow, ill unto death and in sore trouble. He told how he (Royal) had noticed him fainting in his seat, and, being a physician, had gone to him to do what he could, and then had discovered that the sick stranger had a claim on his care, being a brother Mason. He spoke of the interest which this discovery had aroused, and of how it had deepened in view of the other's courage and patience, and of how he had been obliged to leave him at last in the strange hotel, without friend or kinsman near, fighting his battle with the grim destroyer alone. He made a little story which would affect his whole life! It of it, and gave it to them as simply as he and sympathy. And they asked questions in hushed voices, and were sorry in a sweet impersonal way, as women will be over tales of sorrow. "Did you find out his name?" Mrs. Hart inquired.

Royal replied in the affirmative. That was the reason he had troubled them so anxious for a cure with the story, he explained, thinking they might help him, perhaps, since they must spend the night in the very hotel where the sick man lay. The name was in his limbs, sar-all feelin' had gone you the money." "And why not?" rethe same as theirs-Royal. He might be

After a moment of reflection, during which she fastened this scion to every Virginia root of the Royal tree and plucked it away again, she continued meditatively:

It's apt to give an intermarriage."

"There was a Royal who went west when I was a child. His name was Philip, which is a family name in both genders. He married Pauline Hart, a first cousin of my husband's, and a sister of that very John Hart to whom Anne Royal was engaged. I wonder if this young man could be Phil Royal's son! You must find out, John, because if he should be he is doubly related to you two, and also a close connection of my own. How strange and romantic it would be! Just think of it, Phyllis! ALLIANCE MEN DISAPPOINTED

By Not Having Accomplished Much in the Kansas Legislature. TOPEKA, Kan., March 11.-The state leg-

slature has closed consideration of general legislative measures, and from now to adjournment will consider nothing but appropriation bills. The work of the legislature has been a distinct disappoint-ment to the Farmers' Alliance. They came to Topeka intending to institute all sorts of reforms, and they return to their constituents without accomplishing any of them, or, at least, any of the radical ones. The following measures, championed by the Farmers' Alliance, failed to become laws and have received their quietus in the senate: The bill to reduce rai!way freight; the mortgage bond and security bill; the waiver of appraisement bill and the bill reducing the salaries of county and state officers. The appropriations for state institutions and for the carrying on of the various departments will doubtless be cut 1802-Act passed incorporating company to down in accordance with the Farmers' Alliance's idea of economy, so as to effect a saving of about $200,000. Three investigations are in progress: One into the Coffeyville dynamite plot; one into the acts of the state house commissioners, and one for the impeachment of Judge Botkin of the Sixth judicial district. These investigations will cost the state ultimately about $150,000

THEIR PLANS UNCHANGED.

Everything Looks Bright for the American Association This Season.

CINCINNATI, March 11.-The American sociation held a secret session, and when asked what was to be the future of the association in Cincinnati, each delegate said that their plans heretofore approved and made public had not been interfered with in the least. The circuit announced by the association, viz Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington in the east; St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus in the west, with the array of playing talent now under contract, gives promise of a most prosperous season, and certainly presents to the league a dangerous rival. Within thirty minutes yesterday the sum of $35,000 was subscribed to the fund, to be used for the protection of the American association interests.

It is understood in the lobbies here that the association people have secured the services of the $10,000 captain, Mike Kelly, transferred from Boston, to captain and attend the organization of the new "Red Stockings" in Cincinnati.

LONDON, March 11 .- The blizzard in the south of England continues, though the weather in London is milder. The railroads of Kent and Sussex are completely blocked, and the neighboring country is deep with snow. Two trains full of pissengers on the Midland railroad were snowed up through the night, and the passengers were not rescued until morn ing. A train on the North Kent railroad, bound for this city, was snowed up Monday night and still remains in the railroad cutting, where it was stopped by the drift. A number of engines have been sent to the scene, but they have been unabled as yet to move the train. The Sheerness mail car cannot be found. It has been lost somewhere along the road between this city and Sheerness. A search party went out after the missing car and ocomotive, and rescued the engineer. He was found half frozen in a snowdrift. Two clergymen were snowed up in a carriage on the Faversham road, and were rescued with difficulty, after having suffered severely. Reports from the provinces show that the blizzard prevailed from the St. Georges channel to the North sea. One of the effects of the storm has been the stoppage of the South Wales iron works. All railroad traffic is stopped and the trains there are delayed. In Somerset-shire, Dorsetshire, Hampshire and Gloucestershire there are snowdrifts everywhere many feet deep, rendering field work impossible. A passenger train which left Charing Cross railroad station at midnight for Folkestone was caught in a huge snowdrift outside of Folkestone The passengers were not rescued until 8 clock in the morning, when many of them were seriously sick from exposure. On the London, Chatham and Dover railroad the trains were delayed for hours. Maidstone, Sheerness and Sitting-bourne have been cut off from communication with the country surrounding

In addition to the damage done by the storm itself the Thames has commenced to rise in a dangerously rapid manner, and already inundates the low lying districts bordering on that river from Richmond down. All wagons coming in from the country bound for Covent Garden market have been snowed up along the roads leading into the metropolis. In south Devonshire the snowstorm continues its violence. The railroads are blocked and the mail train bound from Southampton for London is snowed up at some unknown spot. The towns on the Channel islands have also been cut off by the snow from all communication with each other. Taken altogether, the storm has not been equalled in severity for a decade.

The draft of a constitution defines the bject of the National federation as being nome rule, land law reform, improve ment of the status of the masses, assent to the social and political rights of laborers and artisans, the development of Irish industries and resources, the abolishment of the grand jury system, the establishment of an educational system based on the principle of equal dealing toward all sections of the Irish people, electoral registration, reform in regard to parliament and municipal governments and other bodies, and the repeal of the Thomas Sexton, member of parliament for West Belfast, made a statement to the effect that during the Boulogne negotiations, the representatives of the majority of the Irish parliamentary party offered to leave the chairmanship of the party open for a year if Mr. Parnell would retire temporarily from that position. As to the tinkering the charter, one amendments has already been made, and others should be when found expedient. No one disputes but what the School Committee is better able to judge the amount required to conduct the schools, so it is in other departments: the Commissioner of Public Works knows best how much his department needs, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department knows how much he ought to have. But the point is just this, that very few departments can have all they want and all should be used alike. The claims of the School Committee by the amendment would not be prejudiced any more than the other departments now are.

The pretty fashion of making the salad dressing on the table obtains among fashionable people at small informal dinners. Before the preceding course has been removed the servant brings the hostess a shallow silver bowl, into which are broken the yolks of two eggs. Before her are also placed the oil decanter, two tiny silver pepper boxes holding white and cay-enne pepper, a small mustard pot with the unmixed mordant, and a bit of lemon on a plate or a second miniature decanter of tarragon vinegar, as the taste of the hostess prefers. Then, while the plates are being

There has never been a year in the history of New York when balls occurred in private houses so frequently as this season. Two or three dances a night have been the rule. "No one except myself ever rode Major again. I found it very hard to bear the thoughts of my little sister that came up when I was riding over the hills with the mustang, so I turned him loose in the pasture, and he never had saddlemark but once since, though I have had dozens of men come to me and offer to buy him at any price. It was a great ride we had -the longest and hardest gallop on record in this part of the country, and though I never said much about it, the horse had his reputation. "When was he ridden again? It was about four years afterward, when he was at his best. There came word from Caliente that a Merced horse had beaten every mustang in the San Joaquin valley. The boys along the Kern county cattle ranges for twenty-five miles tried to beat the Merced mustang, but all that summer he swept the stakes at every sheep shearing and rodeo One day a dozen of them came for my mustang, and I lent him for one race, to save the credit of the county. He dusted them all, and for months after horsemen came to see him and get him on the race track, but I never let him go again. One time and another I have been called a great many different kinds of a fool for letting the best horse in the valley rest in the pasture."-Charles Howard Shenn in Independent.

College Societies in New York. The college fraternities bind men together for life in ties that are never brollen. I think you will be surprised to know some of our leading men who belong to them, and still in their busy later years take great delight in assisting to keep up the organizations and the old spirit. Associations or chapters of graduate members of the fraternities are maintained in New York city by fifteen of the orders, and some of the clubs are in a flourishing condition. Alpha Delta Phi has a club house near Columbia college, and the Manhattan chapter of this order keeps up a summer camp at Lake George, called Camp Manhattan. The Beta Theta Pi fraternity has a summer this city, with a fine clubhouse and an excellent restaurant. Several other of the clubs do not own their houses, but rent quarters. There are a good many papers devoted to these associations printed in this city. I know of The Palm, of Alpha Tau Omega; the Chi Phi Quarterly, the Delta Kappa Epsilon Quarterly, and the Delta Upsi-lon Quarterly. The first college fraternity flag ever unfurled to the wind was run up on the top of the Astor House in 1870 by the boys of the Theta Delta Chi. It was black, white and blue, and since that time nearly all the fraternities have adopted flags showing their colors. -New York Star.

The action of the Quincy School Comworn Goods. All fresh Goods. Not a year old. Some mittee at its last meeting in excluding the public through the press, from its meetings and voting to hold secret sessions, is severely criticised. There is no question but what the committee has a right to take that stand. The whole theory of the charter is to have the deliberations of its elective oards open to the public. It is distinctly stated so as to the council, and the School Board should carry out the ideas of open markable adventure in Cincinnati. Her owner, Charles Cole, had led her into the stable yard. Suddenly the treacherous earth caved in and buried the animal under a mass of rock and dirt twenty feet high. Cole escaped falling into the pit. An hour later the exhausted mule showed her head 200 feet away at the mouth of a sewer only two and one-half feet in diameter. She was assisted in emerging from the sewer. She had been almost skinned alive. Her rough hide was seamed and dotted with numberless gashes from which the blood flowed. Great bruises appeared on her sides and abdomen, while her legs were so strained that she could hardly stand.

Nevertheless Mollie was very much alive, as she betrayed by a "Yee-haw-w!" of triumph and a nonchalant twirl of her short tail. The animal had emerged in a ravine near Gilbert avenue. Her trip through the rock bound sewer was somewhat aided by the downward slope of the channel and by the slight stream of water which lubricated the masonry of the lower side. Nevertheless, Mollie's escape was a most surprising one, and probably never equalled in the line of animal adventure. - Cincinnati En-

Among those who watched the Sher-. man funeral procession was a little boy to whom soldiers are a delight, but too young to see in the Grand Army veterans anything except a lot of tiresome old fellows whose endless lines were so long in getting by that his mother took him home before he had seen the glittering uniforms for which his soul hungered. This of course displeased the boy, and that night he bitterly criticised the arrangement of the procession. His father's attempt to explain matters availed in the interior have caused floods. nothing. IN COURT AT LAST Association Starts the Ball Rolling in Cincinnati.

LEAGUE GROUNDS TIED UP.

Plaintiffs Represent Boston and Philadelphia Clubs-Kelly Made Captain of the Cincinnati Association Team CINCINNATI, March 12.-The local base ball muddle has reached the court at last. Yesterday afternoon President Louis Kramer of the American association sat chatting with Judge Maxwell, while is to show that the bishops did not declare Lawyer Jackson filed a plea in the superior court and obtained the temporary relief prayed for.

The plaintiffs are Charles A. Prince, John C. Haynes, Arthur Dixwell and Julian B. Hart of Boston, and George J. Earl Wagner of Philadelphia. The defendants are John M. Ward of Brooklyn, E. B. Talcott of New York, John E. Bruce of Cincinnati, A. G. Spaulding of Chicago, and J. Palmer O'Neill of Pittsburg.

The plaintiffs say they, with Johnson,

Brunell and Ward, formed a corporation last October for the purpose of succeeding the League club of Cincinnati and placing the same in the Players' National league. Johnson, Brunell and Ward were appointed trustees for the benefit of all. They claim that the trustees are about to or have entered into a conspiracy for the purpose of diverting the purposes of the corporation, and to injure and harm these plaintiffs, and in prejudice to their interests have fraudulently conspired to sell out to the National league.

chises and an equitable division among all the stockholders of the proceeds in proportion to their interests. Another prayer is that the corporation owns the lease to the Western avenue grounds and the court is asked to restrain any attempt to use the grounds for any purpose other than was contemplated by the forming of this corporation. A temporary order was granted as prayed for, and thus the grounds are tied up. John E. Bruce, attorney for the Players' league, transferred all the stock and franchises and rights of the club to Paxton and Warrington, who have been retained by the league. MIKE KELLY IS CAPTAIN.

It fixed the capital stock of the Cincinnati club at $25,000, of which $20,000 has been subscribed. Mike Kelly took $1000 of the stock and accepted the appointment as captain of the Red Stockings. Messrs. Von der Ahe, Gus Schmelz, Billie Barnie and Julian B Hart were appointed a committee to adjust legal matters and select the grounds. Mike Kelly has signed Pitcher Crane and Radbourne, and Catchers Sutcliffe and Harry Vaughan. The seven Association clubs outside of Cincinnati have turned over to President Kramer 55 per cent. of their capital stock to be held in trust by them as a guarantee against defection.

the Republican side. Representative Berry had a quarrel with one of the members of the steering committee on that side, and, in attempting to quiet him, he hit out from the shoulder several times, to the discomfiture of those near him. A lady near him brought him to his sober thoughts by a little coaxing, and order was again restored.

The speaker finally announced the elected. Then began pandemonium again A committee was appointed to wait on Senato:-elect Palmer to inform him of his election, and to request his appearance before the joint assembly.

Senator-elect Palmer, being introduced by Speaker Crafts, began by saying that he would not undertake to formally thank all of his friends for the honor conferred upon him. He felt, he said, more like singing that camp meeting song "Ain't I Glad I'm Out of the Wilderness." Gen. Palmer expressed his thanks to the 101 Democratic members of the joint as sembly whose unwavering support throughout had made success possible Their stand, he said, had vindicated the right of the people of the state to elect a senator. If the present legislature had been elected as legislatures ordinarily are, the general continued, he would not have been a candidate for the senatorship; but the people of the state by a plurality had indorsed the principles advocated by him during the campaign, and the election of to-day was therefore in historical sequence. He was simply conscious as a man of an infinite pity for her and as a physician of the fact that here was a case which would require delicate han-

> His thought hovered around Mrs. Hart with an ever increasing sense of relief and satisfaction. Here was a beacon amid the rough waters for them. He had been brought too frequently into juxtaposi tion with the creature feminine under various and trying circumstances not to recognize a sensible and helpful woman whenever he beheld one. If there should be worse breakers ahead she would in dicate their presence and also show him how to shape his course so as to avoid more damage than would be imperative Of his own unaided efforts in this mate he had come to feel profound distrust.

The event proved that he had not reckoned without his host, for when the natural consternation and bewilderment incident to an upheaval of accepted conditions had passed away Mrs. Hart rallied to his assistance with all the gallantry of a large natured woman. Her acquaintance with John* Royal had been so slight that her regret for his death was without the poignancy of personal tion was an impossibility. The more bereavement, while her admiration, symo muster ideas into line, pathy and comprehension of his motives stions and to reach defi- and character rendered the process by which she set him aport and exalted him into a chevalier sans peur et sans hand all become. "It's positively awful, this happening just now," she declared. "I mean it's more disastrous than if it should have happened at any other time. You haven't got at all the complications yet but you're a doctor and a member of the family, so I can speak quite freely, and can depend on you, I'm sure, to help me decide what will be best for that poor child in the other room. This calamity ought to be kept from her, and yet how we are going to contrive to keep it I can't see. Perhaps you may be able te suggest a way."

In her anxiety she ignored the fact of the marriage by proxy having really taken place, or rather she unconsciously allowed for it on a wrong premise. Dr Royal himself she accepted pretty much as his namesake had accepted him, as a man who inspired trust and might help her out of a difficulty. The fact that so far he had proved himself more adroit at complicating difficulties than at furnishing solutions for them somehow failed of its proper impression. John himself and went to the Royal's death, for the time being, appeared to nullify all that had preceded it. Royal now learned that for more than a year the girl had been under treatment for the disease which obscured her vision; that she had spent months at Mrs. Hart's house in Alexandria during the previous winter, in order to be near the celebrated oculist who had charge of her case, and who divided his time between New York and Washington. The case had progressed so favorably that the great man had appointed a day within that month-indeed, within the next fortnight-for the final and all important operation which would restore her sight or leave her hopeless forever. Meanwhile, the strictest care had been enjoined to keep the patient bright and hopeful, to surround her with cheerful influences and auguries of promise. Nature must be induced to co-operate with science to effect a cure. Any sudden or overwhelming emotion, any violent change of conditions, either mental or physical, was to be specially guarded against. That was the reason why she had not been taken to the hospital to be married after the accident. Royal had feared contact with his own pain for her. For the same reason they had, with one consent, made light of the accident; for it necessary to communicate had been necessary to tell her of it guardedly, because of a word or two she al arrangements to make, had overheard, and also to account for ns of some sort to give to the fact of Royal's enforced delay. It had not seemed worth while to postpone the marriage. Immediate possession of the money had been a matter of cognizance being taken grave importance, and both parties were fully aware that it could be a marriage settlement of hotel and only in form until the great question for the impossibility of Phyllis should be decided. After the the impossibility of accident, indeed, John Royal had been more than ever insistent that the ar- position in this affair of his namesake to rangements should stand. They had assume proportions and a complexity yielded to him and had kept Phyllis which well nigh overwhelmed him. bright and interested about her plans, He was standing in the hotel office, and so prevented her from thinking too much or growing anxious. She had wonderful self control, poor child, and knew the paramount importance of absence of pronounced emotion; but what woman's self control would be equal to the strain which knowledge of her lower's death must put on hers? Then, too, she had been sustained in her efforts by consciousness that happiness for John, as well as for herself, was involved in her preservation of equanimity. And what will not a woman do and endure to make herself worthy in the eyes of the man who loves her? If this incentive and restraint should be removed, who could tell what disastrous consequences might ensue? Mrs. Hart well nigh wrung her hands in her sympathetic appreciation of the difficulty of the situation. To be so near the goal and then have hope balked of fruition! And now when the loss of the money would make the recovery of sight more than ever a priceless boon! What could a blind woman without money be save a dependant all her days? And what a fate was that to contemplate from the standpoint of two-andtwenty! If only John Royal could have accomplished his purpose? If only the broken frame could have obeyed the heroic will! Mrs. Hart's tears fell fast from very pity and a swift realization of human impotence.

Royal's words surprised her: "Was she much attached to her cous in?" He put the question in a low voice. For attachment in the sense of lovers it improbable that that sort of ardor could now be a factor in the engagement. The pair had been separated for six years, and during that time it was reasonable to suppose that the youthful emotion which had drawn them together should have evaporated. That there existed, however, strong love between the cousins their conduct toward each other had proved. John Royal had been a quiet man, she had always heard, absorbed in his profession and ambitious of distinction therein; not a man of much worldly wisdom, nor much addicted to society. Phyllis had doubtless nursed her romance as much through force of circumstances as aught else; she had been brought up in the knowledge and belief that her cousin would be her matrimonial destiny, and during her most impressible years she had been held apart from forming any other attachinsidiously crept over her. "It was that which prevented Miss Royal from summoning John home before," Mrs. Hart explained. "She was so anxious that Phyllis' sight should be restored before he should see her, and the disease was obliged to run its course. Anne liked to arrange the procession for her people down to the most minute details. She kept full knowledge of the child's condition from him, and I believe it was only just before her last illness, when the possibility of cure was at hand, that she took him into true confidence. And, as ill luck would have it. hat letter did not reach John for months after it was written."

"Why did she make that iniquitous will?" demanded Royal, who felt that here he also had cause of complaint.

"God knows! I think, however, that it was made just before John sailed for Europe, and while the engagement was fresh with them all, and the young people very much in love. Perhaps her idea was to keep John true by making his cousin's future dependent on his constancy. When a copy of the will was sent him, after his aunt's death, and some indignation was expressed, John contents for years. None of the other friends was. They might have coaxed some reason and justice into Anne Royal if they had been. Like a great many women, she never talked about wills: she seemed to have a feeling that to make or even mention such a thing would be to prop the door open for leath.

No one more than Hart Royal could appreciate the importance of satisfactory djustments between physical and menal relations in cases like the present. He talked the matter over with Mrs. Hart, and, out of pity for the girl and 1888-Blizzard. an unconscious adaptation of their thought to the lines indicated by John Royal's conduct in regard to her, they decided that they would continue to shield her from knowledge of her bereavement until the operation should have been performed. It would be but for a short time, they thought, and no living being would be injured. Of the property there would be no occasion to think for three months yet, as 1854-Treaty of alliance formed that time must elapse ere the executor would render his account. And of Royal's kindred there was none, accessible nearer than Phyllis. His parents had entered into rest many years before, and of his two sisters one had died in childhood, and the other had married a missionary and gone away with him to some impossible place, where a letter would be months in reaching her. They removed Phyllis to another hotel, where there would be no chance of her accidentally acquiring more knowledge than they desired for her. She had been told of the death of the stranger, and also that he was really a kinsman and alone in the world, which sufficiently explained the fact that John and Nina should decide to remain in Matoacca until after the funeral. They followed him alone, those two, well knowing that if the still heart and quiet brain could respond to sentient thought or emotion John Royal's decision would be that it were better the guerdon of tears should be withheld from his memory forever than that the falling of the drops should dim one chance of light for the eyes of his be-near the clerk's desk, on which lay the open register. The young doctor stood at his elbow, the same to whose fledgling care John Royal had been committed. They had been speaking of the case and of its untoward ending, and had gone into details of interest and importance to no mortal soul save members of the profession. Suddenly the young fellow put a question:

'The young lady is his cousin and next of kin. She is my wife."

"Were you brothers? Excuse me for asking, but the name is the same for

No, Royal explained, there was no and they were kinsmen, but not brothers. He cast his eye on the register, as placed it there. Then he remembered that in the excitement and hurry of the information obtained at the fountain head

"His wife, I suppose," the young physician hazarded.

In the second which elapsed before he replied Hart Royal's mind seemed to work over the whole case, from start to finish, like an electric flash. He apment by the blight which had slowly and peared suddenly confronted by a point of view the instantaneous absorption of which by his consciousness made it seem something which he had known all along, only failed to give it due prominence. The pause ere he spoke was so slight that it passed unheeded by the bystanders, but during it Royal's whole of steamers to sail monthly each way bemental position, and a good part of his tween the ports of Guatemala and Hamexternal circumstances, had been shifted.

"No," he made answer quietly. "The kin. She is my wife."

GUATEMALA MAKES A STRIDE

Toward Encouraging Commerce by Subsidizing Steamship Lines-No Fear of the Rejection of the Brazilian Treaty A Pension Decision Reversed.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The publication of the Behring sea dispatch of Lord Salisbury, like numerous similar international documents, originated in Great Britain. The first news Secretary Blaine had that the correspondence had been made public was conveyed to him by a telegram from William Henry Smith of the Associated Press, informing him that Lord Salishness, each of the mine should be examined by competent officials before the Lord Salisbury's acceptance of arbitration had been made public on the other side and asking him to give it out for publication here. In this way the Associated Press secured a "scoop" upon the rival association. The publication of the dispatch caused a general sensation in Washington.

On of the first questions raised is as to the arbitrator. The existing complication bety een the crowned heads of Europe embarrasses the question of selection. Russia is more or less interested in the result. The exact rights she ceded or attempted to cede in the purchase of Alaska form the chief element in the dispute. Moreover, both on the register," laying his hand on Russia herself has a direct interest in susthe book. in the following February of brain fever. As there were no barracks or provisions for quarters for the men at the place of enlistment, the provost marshal was ordered to furlough all the soldiers until they could be provided for. With others. Potter was ordered to go home, and report from time to time at Owego. During this time the fatal disease was contracted, and death ensued. The claim was originally rejected on the ground that the death cause was not contracted in the line of duty, but was contracted while the soldier was on furlough. The assistant secretary finds, from the testimony, that the exposure consequent on Potter's enlistment and service caused the disease from which he died, and that death occurred while in line of duty. The former adverse

The jury do say upon their oath that the late John Connerton and others came to their death by an explosion which originated in No. 3 bord of No. 7 balance in the west side of the east slope on the 21st of February, 1891. They further believe that said explesion was caused by a flaine from a shot fired in said bord, igniting coal dust and a certain portion of gas which might have been present at the time. They also believe that there was an unusual flame from said shot, owing to a usual flame from said shot, owing to a slip in the stone. They believe that the explosion was accidental; that no blame should be attached to the management and that they took every precaution for the safety of their workmen.

The jurors make the following recom-mendations: First, that in the future, where safety lamps are used and in very dusty places, powder should not be used.

It is quite a difficult matter to repair one's gloves so neatly and perfectly that it cannot be detected as an nonprofessional's work, but there is a little invention which facilitates this work to such a degree that even untrained hands can do it with neatness and dispatch. The apparatus is made of nickel, and consists of two parts, which press against each other by means of a spring. Part of the top edge is provided with small teeth in close range to each other. The seam of the glove to be mended is carefully pressed between these teeth, and the needle passed in and out at every opening. HEXAGONAL POWDER.

WHY AND HOW CANNON POWDER IS RAMMED BEFORE IT IS USED.

It Is Compressed by Hydraulic Machines Into Convenient Little Prisms-Some thing About the Press That Does the Work-A Complicated Process.

A large number of persons who visted the scene of the disastrous powder explosion of the Du Pont Powder mills carried away with them, as mementos of the explosion, little six-sided pieces of a black material which they generally supposed to be iron or some soft metal. These mementos were six sided, about 11 inches long, one inch in diameter, and were pierced by a small round hole. They appeared to be blank six sided nuts, ready to be tapped or threaded to make them available on the bolts of the mill machinery. They appeared to be innocent little things, easy to pilfer and convenient to carry, and served nicely as nementos of the great explosion.

In reality these innocent looking mementos are lumps of concentrated exlumps of prismatic powder. The name is doubtless owing to the peculiar shape given to each piece or block, which that of a short hexagonal prism. This form is the result of intense pressure to sage through a powerful hydraulic press It was chosen for the same reason that of this powder the pieces fit snugly together.

The compression has put every possi ble ounce of force into the prism, the small size of the prisms enable the gun ners accurately to measure the force of each charge, and the hexagons pack gether without loss of space in the loa chamber of the gun. In the manufactu of this powder science has learned ram the charge of powder before patting it into the gun barrel.

THE MACHINE. The concentration of power by means of the hydraulic press is so great that solid prisms of this powder leaded int cun would probably burst it, and if would be wasted by ejectment fro hole in the prisms of powder, v makes them a complete duplicate of

The most apparent feature of this pres is its weight and strength, and its surpris ing characteristic is ease of movement and control. It is composed of two water cylinders and two rams, connected by four polished iron rods about four and a rectangular foundation. The and rams are at opposite ends of these rods. The rams work toward each other centrally with the rods.

Between the rams are four cast iron plates six inches thick, 3 feet 2 inches by 4 feet 6 in area, three of which move with the ram and one is stationary. This stationary plate is perforated with fiftyfour round holes, about two inches in diameter, that have been partially filled with brass bushings. Through these bushings are the six sided holes in which the powder is compressed.

THE PROCESS. Working directly over this plate is a similar one attached to the ram of the upper cylinder, and guided by the four polished iron rods which fit into a half round recess at each of its corners. It is armed with six sided brass plungers which in its descent pass into the six sided holes in the stationary plate. Be

The upper one has two compartments-the ram filling the lower one and above it is a cylinder with a lifting piston by which the ram is raised after its downward stroke in compressing the powder. The lower ram is raised pumping water under it, and is lowered by letting the water out, which will be ecomplished automatically.

In operation the parts of this press are so adjusted that the plungers of the up per and lower plunger plates and the When a blood vessel is severed or cut needles approach each other through t in the arm or leg a tourniquet should be movement of the rams. RELIEF FOR IRISH SUFFERERS.

Credit of $279,155 Voted by the House of Commons-Indications That Prince William Once More Desires the Services of Prince Bismarck.

London, March 13 .- A foreign steamship, the name of which is unknown, was wrecked off Start Point, near Dartmouth, Devonshire, Eng., during the recent blizzard. All the crew and passengers were drowned The British ship Dryad, Capt. Thomas, bound from Shields for Valparaiso, has also been wrecked off Start Point. Her crew, consisting of twenty-four men and officers, have been drowned. The Dryad was an iron vessel of 1035 tons burthen. She was built at Liverpool, and was owned by J. B. Walmsley of that city. Among the schooners lost off Start Point was the Lunesdale; four of her crew were drowned. The schooner Lizzie Ellen was also lost, together with two of her crew. It is already known that at least seventy lives have been lost off the coast during the blizzard, and in addition at least ten men perished from cold and exposure after reaching the shore. It is feared that the list of wrecks and the record of lives lost is far from being complete, as several vessels are known to be missing.

Many points inland where the storm was most severely felt are still isolated from the surrounding country, and days must elapse before through freight and passenger traffic are entirely restored on the branch lines of the railroads. The severity of the storm and the difficulty of restoring the lines of communication to their usual state of usefulness may be judged from the fact that an express train which left Plymouth on Monday is still blocked up near the Brent river. The passengers are suffering severely from ex-

Gangs of laborers numbering hundreds have been sent from all directions to clear the railroad lines in Devonshire and Cornwall, where the snowdrifts have piled up so heavily that cuttings twelve feet deep have to be made through the snow, which is now frozen into an almost solid mass. The water mains at Plymouth are snowed up to such an extent that a force of 200 soldiers from the garrison has been sent to assist the water works employes in clearing them to an extent which will enable them to be used. As it is, no water has been passed through the mains since added to the other sufferings.

Following the blizzard a severe frost has set in all over Eugland. The frost is greatly hindering the clearing of the railroad lines which were blocked by snowdrifts during the storm. Cornwall continues isolated from the rest of England. Many wrecks are reported to have occurred on that coast, and at Land's End a number of people have been frozen to death. Snowstorms have just again set in in the west of England, and all roads and railways are again blocked.

TO RELIEVE THE POOR.

Mr. Balfour, to Be Used in Ireland. LONDON, March 13 .- In the house of commons, in committee of supply, Mr. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, asked a credit of £55,831 for the relief of distress in Ireland. He explained that the government had adopted every possible means to expedite relief works, which otherwise could not have been begun before April or May. He spoke highly of the assistance farmers, priests and landlords had rendered, which had saved the government much expense. Altogether 800 men were employed on these works, and 40,000 persons had been relieved. He had carefully inquired into the condition of every district, avail-private sources. He never allowed a statement of actual starvation to be twenty-four hours in his possession without instituting an immediate special inquiry, and in every case of absolute destitution reported, he had found complete, and in many cases fraudulent misrepresentation. There have been no case of starvation on the mainland, but there had been a great deal of risk of starvation on the islands, and therefore special steamers had been chartered to investigate the condition of the inhabitants and to convey meal and other supplies to them. He dwelt upon the difficulty of obtaining an adequate supervision of relief work in order to insure that all deserving and no undeserving persons should be employed. In some districts where reliable lists of deserving persons could be obsons on relief works, but in other districts. where it was impossible to obtain such lists, the men were paid only in kind, meal to the value of 11 pence being given daily to each workman. This had the work. The total number of persons enand to send two delegates to the meeting of the New England league at Boston. Tho total amount of wages that had been paid was £21,159. Said to Have Engaged Spinners from Abroad-Sickness in the Barracks. NEWARK, N. J., March 13 .- The Clark Thread company has bought a number of houses adjoining its mills in this city. It is reported that Treasurer Clark's recent trip to Europe was for the purpose of securing spinners and that the newly purchased houses will be occupied by them when they arrive. Sickness is said to exist among the spinners who are living in the barracks. A physician visits the barracks twice every day. It is expected that all of the girls will leave the mills Satur-

A general meeting of all the girls of the Clark mills was held, it being the first time that it was possible to bring the hands of the different mills together. Ida Van Etten addressed the meeting, and counselled those present against striking until all other efforts toward a settlement had failed. A committee, consisting of ten girls from each mill, was appointed to wait on the Messrs. Clark and state their grievances. If their grievances are not remedied, the 3000 girls in the Newark and Kearney mills will strike. The company will then be crippled, and all the mills will have to shut down.

LONDON, March 13 .- The glove fight between the English champion middle-weight, Ted Pritchard, and Jack Burke, took place at the Albany club. The match was for the Holloway stakes of £1200. The men were well matched in height and reach. In the first round Burke had the best of it, getting home repeatedly. In the second round Pritchard woke up and landed with right and left in quick succession. Then they came to close quarters, Burke finally falling from a blow on the jaw. In the third round Pritchard dashed in, taking Burke completely by surprise by the vigor of his onslaught, and getting in blows with terrible effect upon the latter's head. Burke was completely dazed and was finally floored by a tremendious hit on the jaw. He had hardly regained his feet when Pritchard downed him again. Burke failed to rise within ten seconds and Pritchard was declared the winner of the fight.

PALMER'S STREAGTH

DEMOCRATS WILL BACK HIM

As the Most Available Man, in the Event of Hill Attempting to Head Off Cleveland - What Streeter and Tauberneck Say of Their Defeat

WASHINGTON, March 13 .- The election of Mr. Palmer to the United States senate may, under certain circumstances, make him a candidate before the next Democratic convention. But for his age his boom would probably start now in the process of expansion, and would certainly assume large proportions before the time for the meeting of the convention.

His old age will be cited as an argument against his candidacy, and probably will prevent his making a hard fight for the nomination, but it is regarded by politicians as not improbable that the situation in 1892 will be such as to make him the most available man whose name will be before the convention.

The best informed politicians at the capital believe that there is a possibility that, nation in 1892 himself, he may be able to so divide the party in New York as to make the nomination of Mr. Cleveland not advisable.

LESSON XI, FIRST QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 15.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings v, 15-27. Commit Verses, 15-17 - Golden Text, Num. xxxii, 23-Commentary by Rev.

Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by perphia.]

15. "Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel."

Thus spake Naaman as, having returned him to accept a blessing in the form of money and raiment.

16. "But he said, As the Lord liveth, be fore whom I stand, I will receive none. And he urged him to take it; but he refused."

Thus spake and acted the man of God. He was not rich in this world's goods, and 12 yet he turns away from riches when voluntarily offered to him, and apparently from a grateful heart. How different from 10 most people! How different from the church of today, which in the most ungodly ways seeks to raise money for what is called the Lord's work! 17. "Thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt offering nor sacrifice unto other gods, but unto the Lord." Naaman seems truly to have turned from idols to serve the living and true God (I Thess. i, 9), and he desires to take home with him some of the earth of the Lord's land (Hos. ix, 3), that when he offers sacrifice to the Lord he may do it literally upon holy ground, though in a far country. He did not understand the worship of Je hovah; he did not know that God would hear him from any soil (I Kings viii, 48, 49), but he seems sincere, and if any one sincerely desires to know God He will enlighten him. "Then shall we know if we follow on to know the Lord" (Hos. vi, 3). 18. "When I bow down myself in the ouse of Rimmon, the Lord pardon thy servant in this thing."

19. "And he said unto him, Go in peace." This is the decision of the man of God in the matter, and this is his blessing. See in M Chron. xxx, 18-20 how the Lord par-doned His own people, and allowed them to eat the passover otherwise than as it was written. And observe that the atti-tude of the heart toward God is more in his sight than the outward form.

20. "But Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, the man of God, said * * * as the Lord liveth I will run after him and take some Here is an idolater indeed-an idolater in Israel, an idolater in the house of a holy man of God, for covetousness is idolatry (Col. iii, 5). He forgot that the law taught to hate covetousness, and that Achan was stoned and burned because of his covetousness (Ex. xviii, 21; Josh. vii, 21). 21. "So Gehazi followed after Naaman." When Elisha said "Go in peace," Naaman departed; but it seems that he went but a little way ere this covetous Gehazi overtook him. Living with one like Elisha how was it that he had not more of Elisha's spirit? "And when Naaman saw him running after him he lighted down from the chariot to meet him, and said, Is all well?" Or, as in the margin, "Is there peace?" There was little peace in that covetous soul. "There is no peace, saith the Lord, unto the wicked" (Isa. xlviii, 22; lvii, 21). "The way of peace they know not" (Isa.

22. "And he said, All is well. My master hath sent me" * * *
23. "And Naaman said, Be content, take two talents."

two talents."
His little scheme was working well. Lying seemed to be a paying business. He silver, and now two talents are pressed ipon him, which, with some urging (?), he nsents to receive. Some three thousand lollars for one lie; many a man has lied for even ten or five dollars or less, and boys and girls have been known to lie for a very small amount.

24. "And when he came to the tower (Margin, secret place) he took them from their hand, and bestowed them in the house: and he let the men go, and they de-

He had no desire to make a great display of his riches, at least not for the present. He had that which he coveted, it was safely in his possession and securely deposited and no one about the premises was any the wiser, as he thought; and like the rich fool of Luke xii, 19, he perhaps said to himself, What a good time I can now have! 25. "He went in and stood before his

As if nothing had transpired worth men tioning, as if he were a very devoted and faithful servant, as if he would say, "My dear master, thou man of God, what is thy pleasure?" We read in Ezek. xxxiii, 31, of some who "sit before the servant of God as the people of God, and they hear His words but they will not do them; for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness."

"And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy ervant went no whither."

Lie upon lie. This is at least the third in this transaction. How hard the heart grows! It is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked (Jer. xvii, 9). What a gulf has opened between him and his master! Let some boy tell how he felt, when, having spent the afternoon in some forbidden place or way, he was asked at the tea table where he had been. Let some Christians say how they feel about prayer when they have been doing what they know God does not approve.

26. "Went not mine heart with thee when the man turned again from his chariot again to meet thee?" Ah, Gehazi! he's got you now. Covet-sness is a bad thing, and lying won't help it any. "Be sure your sins will find you out." "A lying tongue is but for a moment" (Num. xxxii, 23; Prov. xii, 19). Eve obtained and perhaps enjoyed with Adam the forbidden fruit. Achan obtained and possessed the garments and the gold. Gehazi obtained and possessed the coveted silver and raiment; but in no case did these things bring peace. There cannot be true enjoyment of anything unlawfully obtained. And even though not in this life is the sin laid bare, there is a day coming when the Lord will bring to light the hidden things of darkness and make manifest the counsels of the hearts (I Cor. iv, 5). We should always remember that the eyes of the Lord are in every place be holding the evil and the good, and that "all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do"

(Prov. xv, 3; Heb. iv, 13). 27. "The leprosy, therefore, of Naaman shall cleave unto thee and unto thy seed forever. And he went out from his presence a leper as white as snow."

A moment of sin, a lifelong punishment. He begins at once to eat the fruit of lies (Hes. x, 13). It did not pay after

Mrs. Hart looked searchingly up at him: she put out her hand to prevent him from resuming his restless pacing backward and forward.

"The marriage with me was genuine. Listen and I'll try to make it clear to

With allowance made for inaccuracies of understanding and statement due to lack of legal knowledge and a, perforce, prima facie reading of the case, the gist of that which Royal had gathered was this. Marriage was the special charge of the law, and by it regarded as the prime pillar of civilization, therefore every possible facility had been afforded people for entering the matrimonial state; the notion being, apparently, that the more marriages the more propsergo, the more civilization. In the present case the names of the two men being identical and age and appearance sufficiently similar to cause the license to fit either indifferently, and the woman having consented to marry the man she was with, the marriage ceremony, it was declared, had constituted them man and wife, and nothing short d in his restless walk and of a divorce could change the relation. at her. When there is a smash up the man who holds the reins and does the breaking gets the most comfort out of the affair.

The mention of his cousin's name caused Royal's face to soften, and he let the blood relation frankness of his companion's speech pass. His intercours with Phyllis, restricted as it had necessarily been, had awakened within him a tender, chivalrous devotion, touched and materialized by admiration and a sense of personal possession. Her acceptance of and absolute trust in him, her sweetness, patience and courage, won on him day by day. His professional instinct prevented him from feeling any of that ntangible, egotistic shrinking from afdiction inherent in so many men, and the hopefulness of her case caused it to present no bar to her attractiveness. Then, too, it is probable that the consciousness that she was his wife-no matter how she had become so-stirred and influenced his emotions more deeply than he was himself aware.

He was very considerate and gentle with her, having always in mind that time of disclosure which must surely come. He had taken no advantage of the situation, and he intended to take none. Probably his unconscious mauliness explained the readiness with which Mrs. Hart had constituted herself his ally. Her own instincts in regard to her sex were tender and protective.

"What are you going to do?" She had risen, for from the room across the hall there came to her ear the sound of soft music. The blind girl had found her way to the piano, and was cheering her darkness in the manner she loved best. They had left her long enough

Times Are Hard. I am told that there has not been a time in years when so many persons have been out of work as now. I know one big company that, in consequence of the recent money stringency, has reduced its clerical staff $25,000 worth yearly, and this is but one of many instances. In spite of this state of affairs there are fewer street beggars about than usual, which shows, I think, that people who have worked and want to work do not descend to promiscuous begging .- Brook-

POLITICAL MATTERS

the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pres- | Spoken of in an Interesting Manner by Senator Carlisle.

Before the Squabble is Ended-Proposals Invited for Building a New Cruiser-Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, March 13.-Senator Car-

isle has left for Kentucky. In speaking of the political situation, he remarked that the experiences of the next national campaign will be somewhat novel. "I do not anticipate that the Farmers' Alliance craze will prove a permanent factor in national politics, but it will have, like all other single idea movements, to run its course. It looks now as if that would consume more time than the national political hobbies of the past. I hardly think that it will run out before the campaign of 1892, although that will depend upon the developments of the next session of congress, and occurrences between this and then. The fact is not to be disguised that the alliance movement is more formidable than anything we have had. The Know Nothing excitement, except for a few successes in spots, like political squalls, never accomplished any national esults. The abolition movement was only a practicable freak. It was other causes which led to the overthrow of the Democratic party in 1860 by the Republicans. It was the Republicans, composed of old line Whigs and dissatisfied Democrats, who elected President Lincoln. The abolition movement was only an incident in the contest.

"The alliance has secured three United States senators, who may hold the balance of power in our body if they choose o occupy that position. In the house they are conceded eight men, but they claim twenty. This is a good showing, and, were not the Democratic majority so bnormally great, they also would hold the balance of power there. No one knows what may come out of it; we can only wait and see. But we know from the past that the old party lines have withstood, unbroken, many such storms, and will weather this. The Republican and Demoeratic, and Democratic and Whig, and Democratic and Republican have been the designating terms of the two great parties since political lines began to shape themselves in Jefferson's time, and will do so, I think, for the rest of our days, at any

It would not surprise me to see the Democrats and Republicans of the east and middle states and portions of the west, including Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, standing together and supporting the Durgin & Merrill's Block, Quincy. same candidate in opposition to free silver. If we nominate a free silver candidate, and that is the desire of the most of the party (although I am for Cleveland), and if the Alliance men nominate a candidate and the south stands solidly together with a pronounced Democrat in the field, the election may be thrown into the house. Such a condition of things is not probable. It hardly seems possible to realize that in one year we will be nearing another national convention, and in twenty months the election will be over. From now on politics will grow more exciting, and the people will be drawn more and more into the vortex of peaceful strife over the selection of a president for the next four years."

WILL BE NOTHING TO SETTLE Un'ess Something is Done to Keep Seal

Pirates Out of Behring Sea. WASHINGTON, March 13.-The settlement of the Behring sea matter, as foreshadowed in the correspondence between the United States and the British government, is not a settlement in the opinion of the treasury department officials. fact that the issue of the permits to vessels to cruise in the Behring sea is not prohibited during the pendency of negotiations this summer, is pointed at as almost fatal to United States interests in those waters. Advices received at the treasury department indicate a more general onslaught on the seal fisheries this spring and summer than ever before. There are now fitting out at Victoria. B. C., forty vessels which will infest the waters about the seal islands. At Sai Francisco, twenty vessels are being made ready for sea, bound for the islands of St. Paul and St. George. In the language of a government official, "when the pending controversy as to jurisdiction in the Behring sea is settled there will be nothing to settle," that is, all the seals will have been destroyed. The treasury department is reconsidering a proposition to reduce the an-nual catch for fur seals in Behring sea, as fixed by the existing lease, in order to guard against the possible extinction of the species. As such a step would necessarily operate as a hardship on the lessees not contemplated when the lease was made, the department will call on the attorney general for an opinion as to the power of the secretary to reduce the annual rental of the seal islands below the minimum of $50,000, as fixed by section

Ground cork and some other barks, well as the charcoal made of these substances, are very good retainers of heat. Lampblack also works well. When the thing to be kept hot is at a very high emperature, some light, incombustible powders are very suitable. Among the best of these are fossil meal and the calcined magnesia and magnesium carbonate of the druggists. A BELLE OF LINCOLN'S DAY.

Though That Was Years Ago, Mrs. Kate Chase Is Still a Beautiful Woman. Mrs. Kate Chase sat in a large easy chair in the cosy parlor of a woman genias in this city who was entertaining a few of her friends. She was the gentlest of them all, this woman with so remarkable a past—gentle and still so beautiful. She was dressed in the deepest black of the neatest, most elegant description, from which the warm pink glow of the cheeks and lips, the blonde glints of hair and occasional rays from the shy, sad eyes were the sole relief. She was the typical lady-not the lady of rush and hustle and advancement, of progress platform or pen—but the lady of the drawing room, the boudoir, the carriage, quiet refinement, repose. Although queenly in appearance when

Her form is fine lined, symmetrical, and just plump enough for height. Her head has a dignified but not haughty or aggressive set on a well turned neck, not noticeably long. Her shoulders slope just right, with a faint chosen reader. The following committees pression. The lines of bust and waist on printing, Mrs. Fred H. Miller, Miss S. make up. She is a decided blonde of that rare class of blonde coloring which I can only describe as "sunset." Her forehead is rather low and wide, with slender arched brows and much refine ment of expression in it. Her eyes are the most difficult in the world to describe, however, but easy to The dedication of the Old Church parish illustrate. You see but a half dozen pairs like them in a lifetime. They are not large; they have a "hidden" look among the thick dark lashes, and they crying hard-without the redness-the nost "fetching" eyes on earth, irresisti ble in youth, suggestive of first loveyou doubtless can think of a pair among your lady friends. Her fine black Henristra cloth dress was tight fitting and double breasted with crepe reveres, cuffs, foot band and buttons. Her bonnet was close, small well set back, with a long crepe veil fall ing below her waist. A dull black flower pin at her throat was her only ornament She sits perfectly still while talking, he ittle hands folded in her lap, the vary ing expression of her face and the light ing and darkening of her wonderful eyes alone accompanying the changing thought. There are several games which form a part of the German children's amuse ment at Easter time. One is that of triking eggs, the broken one bed have to be knocked several times before either will crack. Another pastime is that of throwing eggs in the air and trying to catch them; whoever first catches the egg can add it to his pre-vious stock. Then there is a more elaborate game than either. A plot of grass is selected, a hundred feet long by a few feet wide, and at either end of this space is placed a basket; one contains chaff the other eggs, which may be boiled or unboiled, white or colored. Then two persons, who have been previously selected, step forward to play the game. One is to run a given distance, the other is to safely throw the eggs from one basket to the other; whoever first completes his task will receive a prize, which is presented with much formality. The boiled eggs are then distributed among the people, and the raw ones are afterward cooked and eaten.—Emma J. Gray in Good Housekeeping.

A Dog Modiste in Paris. Lovers of pet dogs will be interested in the visit of an American lady to the ore of a dog modiste in Paris. The ights were very amusing. The place was not so much a store as an estab lishment, with halls and rooms richly furnished. Ladies tripped in and out all day long, most of the visitors having with them pugs or terriers. The pet dogs were scattered through the rooms each awaiting its turn. Many small mats and rugs were around the waxed floors, and every bit of carpeting of the kind was occupied by some pretty little creature. These dogs have various dresses. The robe used in the morning is a garment of dark blue cloth. It is called a paletot, and is lined with red flannel. From a leather collar little bells jimels as its ways. jingle as its wearer walks along. Some-times a bunch of violets is fastened on the left shoulder of a dog. Mary Winkfield in her report to the London School Dinner association says: indeed." "The head teachers and the local committee are responsible for the selection of proper cases and for the suitable provision of the meals given. The associa-tion has hitherto been able to make a grant in reply to each suitable applica tion, and during the last season they aided in the provision of over 263,000 meals. There are now more than 650, 000 children upon the rolls of London elementary schools. The small proportion of 2 per cent. of necessitous cases would give a total of 1,300 children. To give these children three dinners weekly would cost over £150 per week."-London Letter.

MANUAL TRAINING.

The System Endorsed by the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

The recent annual report of the president of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association has the following passage on the question of manual training in our public

While money is appropriated from time o time for a great variety of purposes, all which may be of public utility, yet practical men, realizing the great need that exists, can conceive of no public interest which should take precedence of that which ontemplates the making of our public schools of greater value to the sons and daughters of the citizens of Boston.

All school work should include industrial education. Skilled hands are as essential in the earning of a livelihood as an educated brain. At present the entire drift of our public school instruction is in the direction of professional and mercantile

The result of all this is the overcrowdng of those pursuits, while the important Humphrey, Z. L. Bicknell, Francis Ambler, and ever extending fields of the mechanic Henry A. Nash, Charles P. Hunt, John arts are entirely ignored. W. Hart, and Dr. C. C. Tower was ap-

Early instruction in the industrial arts would in many cases solve the problem of occupation and the earning of a livlihood. We should not be content always to remain as at present, largely dependent on foreign countries for our skilled artisans. Bright young men who have graduated from our schools are continually seeking employment with ill success. And why? Simply because they can do nothing. Their school training has been within narrow imits; they are only fitted for clerical work, and in this department of labor the upply is far in excess of the demand.

Those who are so fortunate as to secure situations are usually obliged to accept low ment, whereas with a wider range of instruction, which includes the training of the hands as well as the head, profitable employment in many pursuits would be assured. Practical education is the great need of today.

The future welfare of a large number of those who attend our public schools is only to be found in a broader development, which shall include manual as well as mental instruction. The fact should not be overlooked that a knowledge of the use of tools may, in many cases, prove to be a factor quite as essential to success in life as the knowledge of books. The best results can only be attained where manual and mental training go hand in hand.

Let us by all means have a mechanic arts high school; but as education with a great many ends with the grammar school, how receive the benefits of industrial instruction in order that they may be the better prepared to meet the duties of life thus early put upon them. May the day be near at hand when industrial training will be taught throughout our grammar schools.

Electrical Treatment of Sewage.

A paper on "The Electrical Treatment of Sewage" was read by Mr. W. Webster, F. C. S., at a meeting of the Society of Chemical Industry, in London. This gentleman has devoted some ten years to experiments on the problem, and which is of an exceptionally complex character. He has succeeded in reducing the albuminoid ammonia to .14 parts per 100,000, thus leaving an effluent which may be turned into any stream or river. He uses cast iron electrodes, finding that platinum is too costly, and carbon disintegrates in the presence of nasdeep, two feet wide and 200 feet long.

Twenty-five pairs are connected in series, and a pressure of 1.8 volts is used between them. Sir Henry Roscoe had entire control of the experimental works for about a month, and found that from 70 to 80 per cent. of the organic matter was precipitated as a sludge. From the experiments on 20,000 gallons of sewage it is estimated that to deal with 10,000,-000 gallons in twenty-four hours at Salford 400 indicated horse power will be necessary, as for each gallon .37 ampere hour is required. Experiments made during the lecture on London sewage receiving adhesions in every district in Ireland. Now that that is defined as pivoting on the labor questions, Mr. Gladstone, under the advice o his colleagues, has prepared a declaration for the inner Gladstonian circle. It is learned that home rule, with a definite exposition of the questions of Irish representation in the imperial parliament, land and police relations to the Irish government, continue to hold the front rank. The Liberal leaders have been fortified with a determination to pursue the Irish policy by a report, prepared at Here's the spot. Look around you. Davitt's Denunciation.

Archbishop Croke deals more gently with the "audacious blackguardism" of the Parnell set than does Michael Davitt. In an article in The Labor World, appealing to Irish-Americans, Mr. Davitt declares that the effrontery of Mr. Parnell is measureless in asking American to ignore his base betrayal of household virhas carried out some experiments on tues. He does not fear but "that the Irish a large scale with the sewage of Salford, in America, to mark their sense of Parnell's contemptuous regard for the principles of honor and honesty, will spurn his emissaries as servants of a factionist traitor, who considers his interests above home rule and his tarnished name above the honor of their race."

Not to His Credit.

Mr. Parnell solaces himself amid the fever of combat by revisiting the scene of cent oxygen and chlorine. He places the his old amours. His cynical disregard electrodes in a shoot eighteen inches of the ordinary canons of morality and his overpowering impulse to gratify personal passions dominate over prudential party considerations. Nobody here be-lieves that his missionaries to America will get the countenance of reputable com-patriots. The response of Ireland to the political fund is the cause of bitter disappointment to the Parnell faction. The Freeman's Journal shows that the total subscribed is only £727.

A large proportion of the correspon dence of the American legation is devoted to the subject of unclaimed estates in England. Secretary McCormick states that since March 1889, over 200 claims to large estates in Great Britain have been received; that none of the cases investigated have shown even an element of probability, and that there is reason to believe that all American claimants are deceived by English sharpers, who make a practice of getting subscriptions to establish claims. MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 14.-Maj. D. F. Dabney, chief engineer of the levee board in the district in which the new Robinson levee, which has given way, is situated, was in the city last night, having come direct from the crevasse to Memphis. In conversation, he said to a reporter: "The break is 175 feet wide, and the water is running through it about six feet deep, or was when I left there. The levee was blown up without doubt. It was one of the finest and most substantial in the district. Thirty or forty laborers on a contract were turned loose without their pay recently, and they were heard to make threats of getting even. It is

PRESIDENTIAL POSTMASTERS.

How They Have Fared at the Hands of the Present Administration.

WASHINGTON, March 14.- The records of the postoffice department show that during the two years of the present adminstration, ended March 4, 1891, there were 2754 appointments made of presidential postmasters. Of this number 478 were made upon resignations, 965 were made pon the expiration of the commissions of the incumbents, 778 were made upon removals, 74 were made to fill vacancies caused by death, and 459 were made at offices which were raised from fourth to the presidential class during this two years' term, making a total of 2754 changes. The whole number of presidential offices in operation on March 4. 1891, was, however, 2899. At 290 of these offices no changes have yet been made. The present rates, $1.70, $1.40 and $1.20, are reduced to $1.50, $125 and $105, respectively. This case has been a famous one during the past two years. The suit was brought by Coxe Bros. & Co., individual coal miners. Arguments were finished in

The point made was that individual operators were discriminated against by the roads which both mine and carry coal, and that the rolls on anthracite were relatively unjust compared with those on soft coal. Since then other suits have been brought against Lackawanna and other coat roads on the same grounds.

Patients Burned to Death.

NASHVILLE, March 14, 3 a. m.-A fire has broken out at the Central Insane asylum, seven miles from this city, on the Murfreesboro pike. It started in the rear of the male wing, which has been destroyed, and the flames continue to rage. A DECISION OF IMPORTANCE The cause of the fire is unknown. There are twenty-eight patients in the wing, and six of them were burned to death. The other patients are now in the main hall and under guard, and there is no further danger of loss of life.

LATER-The fire has reached the main building and the inmates are escaping. Governor Buchanan has ordered out the state militia, and will leave for the scene

THE POINT taken by the Advertiser, that it was President Johnson, and not President Grant, who appointed John B. Bass postmaster of Quincy, as recently stated in the LEDGER, is well taken, but the comments thereon were scurrilous, information was an extract from Pattee's ing. "History of Quincy," page 180, which at the time was supposed to be correct. No one will say Dr. Pattee was not a Democrat, but many will dispute the statement that President Johnson or Mr. Bass were.

It is argued by some that the city should furnish transportation from outlying wards to the High School, that all the children of the city may enjoy its benefits alike. That it is an extra tax for parents of Atlantic for instance to send their children to the High. But is it right to tax the Centre for transportation from outlying district? It might be claimed with some justice, that what an outlying ward saves in valuation of property would more than pay the cost of High Schooling, Library and other benefits, and if such is the case, | 26, show nearly half a million dollars on why the Centre pays more than its share deposit subject to check, $461,617.89. because of the higher valuation. Land in Ward One may be taxed for fifty cents per foot, while equally good land in Ward Six escapes with a tax of ten cents. Of course the Centre gets benefits, but candidly, don't pay for them in higher valuations and higher rents?

THE LEDGER is a little worked up over the refusal of the school committee to admit reporters to its meetings. THE REASON WHY.

I love thee and I love thee net, I love thee, yet I'd rather not, All of thee, yet I know not what. A flowery eye as tender, A swan like neck as slender And on it a brown little spot For tears to fall afraid on,

And kisses to be paid on, Have other maidens too.
Then why love I, love, none but you? If I could find the reason why, Methinks my love would quickly die.

Ay, knew how to hate thee, maid, I'd hate thee for I knew not what, Excepting that I'd rather not Be thy friend or foeman; For thou'rt the only woman On whom to think my heart's afraid;

For, if I would abhor thee, The more must I long for thee, What others force me to, I turn me from; why not from you? If I could find the reason why, My disenchanted love would die But should'st thou cease my heart to move

To longings, that I'd rather not, And tried I hate, I know not what My heart would do for mourning; Love I-it bursts, love scorning, Oh, loveliest hate, most hateful love, This combat and endeavor Is what enslaves me ever. I'll neither of the two, Or hate or love the love of you

And now I've found the reason why, I know my love can never die. -Thomas Lovell Beddoes. Calla Lilies as a Table Decoration.

Great Is the Bernhardt.

Manufacturers, designers, modistes and lry goods merchants the world over owe Sara Bernhardt a debt of credit for the innovations she has introduced and the changes she is constantly making in the fashion plate. It was Sara who revived the sconces and candelabras, and filled however, it almost lifts one's scalp. them with wax candles to dress and to dine by. It was Sara who converted the loose, unsightly wrapper into the bewildering, beautiful and becoming tea etaire glove, the Louis XIV coat and the hats of the artists. It was Sara who ordered sable round the bottom of a white silk ball dress, white Angora down the front of a breakfast robe and black lambskin sleeves in her seal jacket. It was Sara who brought out the wolf and feather boa. Sara revived the Elizabethan ruff, the Medici collar and the passementerie pieces to cover up her long neck and flat chest. Sara it was who built up the sleeve heads and made every fat woman in the land who copied her look as though she had an apartment house on each shoulder. Sara revived the miniature craze and the fad for barbaric ornaments, and

New Features of House Decoration. We who are at all observant will notice two very radical departures in re cent forms of house decoration. First, the prevalence of natty little porticos or mantels over doorways and windows, and secondly, the advent of a new idea of curtain dressing, requiring a valance along the top where heretofore the curtain pole was a conspicuous feature. The handsomest they ever saw. It was over door mantel vastly improves a room, and the same device arranged over the windows gives an excellent opportunity

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.-The scenes at and about the Clay statue Saturday brought to mind very forcibly and violently the peculiar and ominous uprising of that September day sixteen years ago. Ten o'clock had not yet struck, and gated on Canal street, almost filling up the large space from curb to curb on each side of the boulevard. Just on the stroke of 10 o'clock a shout went up from the people stationed at St. Charles street, and a number of gentlemen, among whom W. S. Parkerson, John C. Wickliffe and others who signed the call, came marching along and began walking round and round the base of the Clay monument. "Fall in, fall in?" was the cry, and the crowd formed in the procession which went around the railing several times. The space inside the railing was occupied by a dense crowd. "Come down from those steps," was the request, "and let Mr. Parkerson and Mr. Wickliffe get there." The crowd obeyed with alacrity, and soon the speakers held their position of vantage. A rush was made for the narrow gate, and in a minute there stood a packed mass of human ity around the statue of the immortal Clay. The view from the altitude was imposing. Not a word had escaped the lips of the gentlemen who had mounted the steps. They stood motionless, surveying the surging multitude, from whose serried ranks there gleamed faces full of resolve and determination. Mob's Action Practically Indorsed. While there are objectors to the mob and this sentiment is by no means restricted to the lower elements, but is shared by the better classes as well.

This was shown when the various commercial exchanges approved of the action of the mob. The Stock Exchange was the first to act unanimously, repudiating Seligman. The Cotton Exchange met an hour after the shooting, and adopted resolutions indorsing the action of the mob. The Board of Trade and the Sugar Exchange also declared to the same effect. The press of the city backs up the action of the mob in the most strenuous terms.

The Excitement Subsiding. Yesterday the city wore its usual Sunday aspect and there was no sign of any unusual excitement. Many continued to a vast multitude was already congregated on Canal street, almost filling up few were admitted inside the prison. Steps will be taken to repair the damage caused, and where stood the door which was battered in, will be built a solid wall. The prison officials are incensed over the censure at their failure to make a more formidable defense. They say that when the crowd broke in, all of the officers were found at their ports. Had they fired on the crowd it would have caused the storming and perhaps destruction of the prison and the sacrifice of many innocent lives within a nd without the jail. At all times they refused to give up the keys until driven into a corner and compelled to. Even then they did not designate the location of any of the Italians. The prisoners in the yard gave this information. While the execution was going on, Sheriff Villers was with Attorney General Rogers at Governor Nicholis' office, endeavoring to have provision for the defense of the prison, should an attack be made upon it. One of the chief causes of public indignation in connection with the Mafia trial has been the belief that the society depended on bribery to procure the release of the accused. It has been asserted that $75,000 or $100,000 was contributed by Italians all over the country to be used as a corruption fund. Thousands of dollars, it is said, came from Chicago, New York and other cities where the Italians are congregated in large numbers. It is certain that the poor Italian laborers in this vicinity were taxed $2 apiece as a contribution to the defense fund and that there was no lack of money in the treasury of

Mr. O'Connor Says Parnell is Ireland's Best Friend, and That the Next Gen eral Election Will Prove It-English Leader for Irish People Not Wanted.

NEW YORK, March 16 .- John O'Connor,

W. H. K. Redmond and Henry Harrison, members of parliament sent to this country by Mr. Parnell to raise funds, have arrived. They were met down the bay by a reception committee on the steamer John E. Moore, and an address, signed by Michael Breslin as chairman, was presented to them. The address spoke of them as the "representatives of Irish nationality as endorsed by Charles Stew-The president deeply regrets that the citizens of New Orleans should have so disparaged the purity and adequacy of their own judicial tribural categories. They believed that time would show that the heart of Harvard, Yale and Princeton Will Play Ireland was with Mr. Parnell. The company was landed at the barge office and proceeded in carriages to the Hoffman house.

John O'Connor said that the delegates were prepared to back up Mr. Parnell's American letter with arguments. New Officers for Sorosis.

The annual election of officers in Soosis has taken place. The fact that Mrs. Ella Dietz Clymer, who has presided with such grace and dignity over all Sorosian high festivals, had declined with thanks to do further duty as president, added importance and interest to the occasion. The result is a fresh disclaimer to the theory that women cannot agree, for not only were a full list of officers chosen, but Dr. Jennie M. Lozier received the unanimous vote of the members present. The list of newly elected officers is as

AMONG THE EDITORS.

WHAT IS the trouble with the navy, that it is so hard to get men to enter it? Two of our war vessels, the Omaha and the Mohican, have been ordered home from Shanghai and Honolulu and will go out of difficulty experienced in getting men to man the new cruisers. Old crews will have to be transferred to the new vessels. There must be something wrong about our naval system. It is well known that the navy s the most aristocratic branch of our gov ernment. A man can enter the army and advance to the highest place if he has the position. Ambition has no place in the navy except among a favored few, and the American boy looks elsewhere when considering what he shall do in life. Foreign ers are better adapted to the system which revails on our men-of-war and hence i follows that they are in the majority on all our ships. The discipline of the navy is repulsive to Americans and the wonder that there is so many natives among the crews. There will have to be a change in the laws governing the navy and of the rules and regulations in force before we can man our ships as they should be. The new conditions of construction and of handling the ships, of arms and projectiles indicate that the time has come for a change.—Lynn Item.

IF NEWSPAPERS do exert an influence on the popular mind, and if newspapers will persist in calling out and out stealing "withdrawal of funds for personal specu-lative purposes," what, pray, will be the moral tone of the readers of the said papers? To some, spade, as the name of a spade, may sound vulgar; and no moral weakness may result from the use of some more euphonious expression. In the case of our unfortunate and too numerous defalcations east and west, the least a newspaper can do is to state the case in plain and vigorous Anglo-Saxon so that the stupidest man who runs may read without hesitation: "Stop thief!"—Mil-

MANAGEMENT OF SCHOOLS.

Graduate Comments Thereon, Asks Questions and Gives Comparisons.

The LEDGER is entitled to a great deal f credit for taking the stand it has against the School Committee. It has been whispered for some time that this branch of the city government was not running any too smoothly, or for the best interests of the city. In the first place I understand that the Committee rarely, if ever, take a vote on any important subject. They meet and talk over matters in a general way and then leave everything to the superintendent. I do not mean to cast any reflections ou the present superintendent, as I consider him John Fallon & Sons, of Quincy, 3891 lineal a very capable and hard working man, but feet of curbstone, at 55 cents per lineal let us look at his duties. He is superintendent of schools in this

I know that the committee are given certain rights by statute law and have certain powers which no other department has; but should they not consult with the Mayor and be willing to make reductions in expenses the same as the other departments are compelled to do? Suppose the commissioner of Public Works was given the power by statute law to keep the streets and sidewalks up to what he might consider the proper standard. Would he be justified in spending $65,000 of the public money in doing so, at the expense of the other departments? Americans Won't Learn Trades.

Skillful stone carvers-not sculptors, but the men who actually cut the figures and decorations on the facades or interiors of buildings with mallet and chiseloften receive from four to six dollars a day in New York and Boston. Modelers for jewelers and makers of designs for wall paper often receive more than that. In Boston and New York good stone carvers receive higher pay than reporters on newspapers, clerks in business houses or male school teachers of the lower grades.

But who are these skilled stone carvers and wood carvers, makers of designs for wall paper, modelers in clay, brass finishers and so on? They are, with some exceptions, Europeans. They have learned how to do their work in other countries, and come here to exercise their

Formerly these more artistic trades could not be learned in the United States. This is no longer the case. The industries have been established in this country to such an extent that nearly all of them may be learned by the precess of apprenticeship and in the technical schools scattered through the country almost every branch of industrial art is

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.-The city is as quiet as it ever was. There is not a particle of excitement and everybody is attending to his business as usual.

Fr. Manoritta made a statement that he vas sure a letter he received was from the Provenzana faction of the Mafia. This statement Joseph Provenzano most emphatically denies. He said that he has not been connected with the Masia in any manner. On the contrary, he has been an object of their emity. "About five years ago," said Provenzana, "the Masia sent me several letters threatening to kill me and my brother unless we gave the society $1000. We did not respond and Jim Caruso shortly afterward came to me and said that he belonged to the To the land I love, where the sun and the sea

Oh, come, and you head with a red handkerchief and leaving Shall sing a song with the seas that swirl, the money on a stump in a swamp near the money on a stump in a swamp near by. I was then to go about my business and they would get the money. I then went to some of my friends and they said not to pay the money; that they would go with me in a wagon to see who was there to receive it. Jim Caraso, who was along, said that this would not do. 'If you go with a crowd,' said he, 'no one will ap-

"I then dropped the matter, and told Caruso to have nothing more to do with the society, to give up his fruit stand in the French market, and to come on the LONDON, March 17.—William Henry levee and we would make him a free mau. Smith, the first lord of the treasury, in He said he would do so, as he was tired the house of commons announced that the of the Mafia, having recently been selected on a committee to kill some one. I told Caruso that he must go and swear that other organizations could be placed upon he would have nothing further to do with the Mafia before I gave him work. He did so, for I went with him to the Italian hurch on Conti and Rampart streets, and Toulon, March 17.—The man-of-war which has just been completed for the ligation. He said that Charlie Matranga was the chief of the gang, and that he presided at the meetings, robed in a black domino suit. He said that Recco Gracci was also a leader. Caruso said that he only attended one meeting; that he went in and Matranga held up a skull in his left hand and a dirk in his right. He WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 17 .- The was then sworn with uplifted hands to abide by the decision of the order.

"He said he was informed after taking the obligation that the object was to kill those who were against the Mafia gang. The way it was done was to select the victim and invite him to dinner and afterward do him up. Caruse did not like this and went to work for me. Itold him I wanted none of the Mafia ople in our employ. Caruso pointed out eight or nine men whom he said belonged to the society and I discharged them. Caruso worked for us about two years, but there was nothing further said about the Mafia. He finally left us and went with Matrange. I do not know whether John being killed by his former associates.

The better element of the Italians are glad that there is an end of Mafia, as they have been in dread for years. It is those that have recently come here, or the bad element, that denounce the action taken

Regarding the "flag incident," about which a good deal has been said, Provenzano stated that when the verdict was returned two men belonging to the gang, one of them named Seprile and the other a brother-in-law of Caruso, Ramone by name, went to the flag pole with an Amer-ican and an Italian flag. Seprile put his foot on the American flag and hoisted the Italian flag. The American flag was then taken up and put under it. There were good Italians standing around when the Italian flag was put up but they were afraid to interfere. When questioned as to why they permitted it, they said that they feared the gang would get free and cause them trouble. The flag pole on the levee is at the foot of Ursuline street and is used for signalling by the vessels of Macheca, Oteri and others.

Italy should seek to compel acquiesence to her demands? "Why, sir, Italy has such a navy that if she chose she could station her vessels four miles from land and ruin your coast cities. Italy has 180 or more vessels of war. You see what she could do."

THE FEELING IN ROME.

Apparent Satisfaction at the Course Pursued by the President.

Rome, March 17.-In the chamber o deputies the Marquis di Rudini, the Italian premier, replying to a question on the subject of the New Orleans tragedy, said that President Harrison had recognized the rights of Italians in the United States to protection from the authorities, and that he had expressed profound regret at the occurrence, and had charged the governor of Louisiana to guard the Italian residents of New Orleans and to bring the assassins to justice. The premier added that Hon. A. G. Porter, the United States minister here, had called upon him in order to convey President Harrison's regrets to the Italian government. The hideous crime that to-day stains the city of New Orleans will take more than all the waters of the Mississippi to wash mever fold me that he did."

Mr. Provenzano says that Politz was working for him when Caruso was given employment. He was one of the men pointed out by Caruso as belonging to the Mafia and he was discharged. Sinceri was also discharged for belonging to the Mafia. Provenzano says that Caruso advised him to discharge the men one at a time in order to avoid trouble. This he did and when asked for his reason for disdid and when asked to give any as he. The excitement and indignation aroused by the slaying of the New Orleans suspects seem to increase rather than diminish among the Italians of the city.

FAVA COUNSELS CALMNESS.

Italian Consuls in the United States Receive Instructions from Washington. WASHINGTON, March 17.-During the first excitement among the Italian residents of the United States, Baron Fava sent to the Italian consul general in New York, the following telegram:

Learn from the papers that excitement is pre-vailing in the Italian colony on account of the New Orleans events. I have resort to your influence and authority to urge upon the Italians of New York that they should by dignified, calm and strictly legal behavior, show themselves in these circumstances worthy of their civilized country. Relying upon your incontestible authority as well as on the patriotic feelings of th colony, I am sanguine that this advice will be followed. FAVA, Italian Minister.

It is understood that similar instructions have been sent by Baron Fava to all the other Italian consuls in the United States in order to calm and avert, by this means, to the fullest possible, extent all undue excitement.

ANNUAL APPROPRIATIONS.

Amounts Named "Absolutely Necessary; " Many Items Smaller Than They Should Be.

The Committee on Finance submitted to the City Council last evening, an order for the annual appropriations for 1891. The estimated income according to the Mayor's estimates, will be $157,480, while at the same time the Mayor's budget and that of the twelve Italians passed through Pittsburg School Committee called for a total of $160,480. The question with the Committee on Blaine, President Harrison and the Finance was, how to reduce the appropriations $3000? And this is the way they did Italian minister, and to demand of them it: $50 less for miscellaneous highways; $200 less for sidewalks; $50 less for the law department; $700 less for transpotation of school pupils; $1500 less for miscellaneous school expenses, while the item of $2500 for repair of school buildings was lumped with that for repairs of public buildings, and the total reduced $500.

If it is decided to restore any of the amounts to the original, then some other appropriation must be reduced or a loan authorized, for the amount that can be raised by taxation is limited.

How the City Council received the report will be found in the report of the Coun-

March 16th, 1891. To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN—We have the honor to submit for your consideration the following order for the annual appropriations. The amounts herein named we deem absolutely necessary for meeting the expenses of the city for the current financial year. Many of these items are very much lower than your committee would like to present, but the limited resources of the city forbid the increasing of the total amount of these appropriations, to avoid carrying the total of the appropriations beyond the revenue of the city for 1891.

Respectfully submitted, ROGER H. WILDE, GEORGE W. MORTON, J. FRANCIS HAYWARD, LESTER M. PRATT, PETER T. FALLON, Committee on Finance.

CLEVELAND, March 17 .- The ecclesiastical court which for so long has been deliberating on the case of Rev. Howard McQueary of Canton, tried for heresy, was in session here yesterday. As a result, a vote was taken toward evening, on which Rev. Y. P. Morgan, Rev. A. B. Putnam, and Rev. H. E. Davis, all of Cleveland, voted "guilty," while Rev. George Smith of Toledo, and Rev. W. S. The majority of the court then pro ceeded to formulate a finding, and at last got one that three were willing to sign. The only thing then remaining was to arrive at a penalty, which the court must suggest to the bishop, and beyond which the bishop can't go, although he may impose a lighter punishment. On this the rote stood: Morgan and Putnam for expulsion, Davis for suspension, and Smith and Gallagher for no penalty.

BAY STATE OWNS IT

zard Bay Question.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA

Not Likely to Be Consummated Under Existing Circumstances - Contest for the Speakership Narrowed Down to

WASHINGTON, March 17 .- In the United States supreme court Justice Blatchford read an opinion affirming the judgment of the superior court of Massachusetts, holding that the state had jurisdiction over the waters of Buzzard's bay. Arthur Manchester, in whose name the suit against the commonwealth was brought, was a citizen of Rhode Island engaged in the menhaden fishery under a license from the United States. While fishing for menhaden with purse seines at a point in Buzzard's bay about 1 1-4 miles from shore, he was arrested under a law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, prohibiting semmy within the waters of the state and attaching Buzzard's bay to the jurisdiction of the state. Manchester took the case to the higher courts of Massachusetts and when it was decided against him, brought it here, contending that the state's jurisdiction only went to low water mark; that the United States had exclusive jurisdiction over Buzzard's bay and that his license from the general government entitled him to pursue his vocation without state interference. The court, in affirming judgment in favor of the state, holds that Massachusetts had he right to extend its jurisdiction over the waters of Buzzar I's bay. The court said it was an old doctrine that where the United States exercised jurisdiction, and there was a conflict between the general government an : any state, the jurisdiction of the United States was paramount and exclusive. But where the United States did not have sole jurisdiction, and where it failed to exercise its jurisdiction, as in the present case, a state might exercise authority. The United States never having asserted its power to control these fisheries, it followed that the state might exercise jurisdiction over these waters, which were within the headlands of its

OLD ONE-SIDED TREATY

With Canada Stands No Show of Renewal Under Existing Provisions.

WASHINGTON, March 17 .- 1t was observed by a prominent official in speaking of the Canadian situation, and the new American policy of reciprocity, that in the public mind there seems to exist a be-lieftl at the establishment of trade relations in this case simply means an agreement between the two countries. The reciprocity provisions of the tariff act of 1890 relate simply to the Spanish-American countries of South America. Cuba, a dependency of Spain, and other islands of the Antilles are exceptions, on account of their products, which come in the reciprocal list. In the new tariff act many Canadian products were taken from the free list and made dutiable. The statement that a commission is to come to Washington soon to negotiate a treaty with Secretary Blaine has caused a smile in what might be called department circles. Evidently the Canadian government is anxious to have Secretary Blaine reciprocity treaty on the lines of the one which existed from 1854 to 1860. Every person familiar with Secretary Blaine's opinions knows that he was in NEW YORK, March 17.—The following $100 in 1 year. Probable cost full accord with the action of congress in 1865 in passing a joint resolution requesting the president to give the British government the requisite notice to terminate that treaty. Mr. Blaine often has gone on record in public speeches against any such one-sided reciprocity as existed with Canada in the treaty of 1854, and the Canadian government is likely to wait a long time if it waits for any invitation from Secretary Blaine to negotiate another treaty of that kind. MILLS AND M'MILLIN

ftest Over the Speakership. WASHINGTON, March 17 .- Representative McMillin of Tennessee remains in Washington, making a most active canvass for the speakership. He talks very confidently of his own prospects; and judging by his conversation, very fully understands the situation. It is now practically settled that the south will be given the speakership and the north will have the bulk of the chairmanships of the leading committees. The race thus early has settled down between Messrs. Mills of Texas and McMillin of Tennessee. Mr. Crisp of Georga is in bad shape on account of his failure to unite the delegation of his own state in his favor. His friends are making desperate efforts to bring that about, but so far their labors have been in vain. As between Messrs. Mills and McMillin, it will be a close race, and may result in a dark horse coming in for the prize.

Alluding to the Irish parliamentary party, Mr. Gladstone remarked that the party now existing was the the result of a ong series of events and united efforts. It could not be disputed that the members of this party were bound to sink their individual opinion and bow to the opinions of the majority. That opinion had been generally used in the interests of the empire. "Before proceeding any further," Mr. Gladstone added, "I should like to say a word about Mr. Parnell's speech in which he said that we had opposed the claims of the labor candidates in England and in consequence of an obligation he was under the Liberal leaders.

ministration Mr. Gladstone contended that Ireland was governed one way and Great Britain was governed another way. Irishmen continued to be deprived of many liberties which Englishmen enjoyed. It was for the Irish people themselves to solve the question by a prompt and unanimous declaration against the existing administration. In conclusion, Mr. Gladstone expressed the opinion that it was the duty of the Liberals to prosecute this great and patriotic purpose and to obtain justice for Ireland, knowing that by a courageous application of Liberal principles they would secure the union of the classes, the dominion of the law and the stability of the crown.

Mr. Gladstone also made an address in the Gaeity theatre, which was packed to the doors. In the course of his remarks, the ex-premier expressed entire confidence in the future of Liberalism. He pointed out with regard to the Irish members, that each had entered parliament

Subject to a Pledge that on every question affecting Ireland the minority should sacrifice its own opinons and co-operate with the majority. Every member of the Irish party, from the leader down, was bound by this pledge. party had arrived at great power and influence. It was true, he continued, that in October, 1881, he denounced Parnell in the severest terms, whereas for several years since he had been in active co-operation with him. He had denounced him because Parnell, on more occasions than one, had used language dangerous to the respecting a total separation of Ireland, and because Parnell had bitterly opposed the land act, upon which the Libera's relied as a great instrument for redressing Irish grievances. But after Mr. Parnell returned to the house of commons from Kilmainham jail, he (Gladstone) never heard of his repeating that dangerous language regarding separation, and he had co-operated with the government in giving effect to the land act. When the home rule bill was introduced in the house it was frankly and magnanimously adopted by the Irish party. The plan was based Ireland a full, efficacious control of her local affairs, and, second, maintaining an equally full, efficacious control over those

Then came the painful divorce revelations, and proceed slowly and she was headed for New York. On Saturday there was a sider upon what rules and principles they should bestow their votes. The Liberal party know well that the carrying of home rule depends upon them. "Mr. Parnell recently said: 'It may be and it didn't answer. If it-were possible measure, corresponding to the definition I have given of home rule, I would be delighted to support it, just as if it were a Liberal measure. But the Tory conscience does not care much about home rule; it isn't in the Tory intellect. The Liberal party never entered into the question as to whether Mr. Parnell should resign his seat in parliament-that was a question for the Cork constituency. But the Liberals looked forward to the coming crisis. They were working for a majority in the coming parlia ment, which would give home rule. If there had been no divorce revelations that home rule would have meant making Mr. Parnell the constitutional ruler of Ireland; but after the revelations the Liberals considered whether they would still place the constitutional leadership in Mr. Parnell's hands, and they decided that they would not do it. That was the conviction of the Liberal party in December, and their conviction is now even more strongly held.

CARDINAL MANNING'S VIEWS

Expressed in a Letter Read at a Banquet in London-McCarthy Speaks.

the action which Mr. Balfour had taken

LONDON, March 18 .- Justin McCarthy presided at a banquet here. There was a large attendance and many ladies were present. Letters of apology were read from Messrs. Sexton, Davitt and T. D. Sullivan, who said they were unable to take part in the banquet owing to previous engagements to speak elsewhere. Cardinal Manning also wrote, regretting his inability to be present on account of the severity of the weather. In his letter the cardinal said:

Two motives prompted me to be with you—the first, my old and tried sympathy for Ireland; the second, my joy at the sudden and powerful rise of an organization which, more than any party or league hitherto existing, represents the religious, social and national life of Ireland. The convention held in the city of Dablia on onvention field in the city of Datha on the lith in the city of Datha on the lith in the city of Datha on the lith inst. was truly representative of the Irish people, from the success of St. Patrick down to the humblest person. I have thus publicly to express, what I have hitherto had no opportunity of doning, my opinion of the National Federation.

The cardinal then proceeded to endorse the action of the new party. Mr. McCarthy, in proposing the toast, "Ireland a Nation," congratulated his hearers upon the fact that this was the largest celebration of the kind ever held in London. He specially congratulated them upon the presence of so many ladies, remembering as he did how profoundly the Irish cause was indebted to Irish women throughout the world.

of Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, Troy, New Haven and Newark were represented at the meeting of the Internationa! league here. James H. Randall, manager of the Lebanon, Pa., club, was also present and applied for membership for Lebanon and Harrisburg. No business was transacted, but the day was spent in conference as to the best way to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Toronto to fulfill her promises and to bolster up Rochester and Syracuse. The name of the league will have to be It was the only means by which the Irish changed from the International, and it may be called the Eastern league.

LIFE'S STRUGGLE ENDED. Prince Jerome Napoleon Dies at Rome-

Sketch of His Life. ROME, March 18.—Prince Napoleon Joseph Charles Paul-Bonaparte, who succeeded the Prince Imperia. as the head of the Imperialist party, and who afterward turned that distinction to his son Victor, is dead.

His figure has occupied public opinion many years without dominating it. He was a cousin of the Emperor Napoleon III., being the second son of Jerome Bouaparte by his second marriage. Jerome, WHICH HAPPENED ON MAR. 18. the brother of Napoleon, married in 1803 Miss Patterson of Baltimore, Md., without the consent of Bonaparte. Two years later the great emperor annulled Jerome's marriage, and in two years' more time Jerome, then King of Westphalia, had married Princess Frederika, daughter of the King of Wurtemberg; after Waterloo he passed many years in exile, but in 1850 ecame a marshal of France. On the 24th of June, 1860, he died.

Joseph Bonaparte was born at Trieste, during the exile of his father, Sept. 9, 1822. His youth was passed at Vienna and Trieste, Florence and Rome, with occasional visits to Switzerland, England and Spain. In 1845 he obtained permission to visit Paris under the name of the Comte de Montfort, but was soon afterward combelled to leave on account of his intrigues. After the revolution of 1848 he returned again, and, elected to the assembly, became leader of the extreme Republican party. His views, however, underwent a change and in 1849 he was appointed min-ister to Madrid. A few years later he was made a French prince with a seat in the senate, and in 1854 was appointed to a command in the expedition to the Crimea. But Joseph Napoleon, young, robust and with a Roman beauty in his face, was more of a voluptuary than a warrior. His military career amounted to but little and won for him only the dubious sobriquet of Plon-Pion. His subsequent leadership of the Bonapartist party, after the death of the Prince Imperial, was weak. His son Louis, it is expected, has been made by "Plon-Plon" his political heir, although Victor is the eldest son.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., March 18 .- A movement is on foot to organize a political as-sociation of railway employes of this city and vicinity as a branch of the National Railway Employes' Protective association. There are nearly, if not quite 2000 railway employes about this city. She Had Been on a Spree with Her Husband, Who is Arrested Near the Spot in a Befuddled Condition -- Says "He Can't Remember" Anything.

MEDFORD, Mass., March 18.-The body of a woman was found in a wild, rocky and lonely retreat on Winter hill, near the Medford and Somerville line.

A street known as Gypsy lane runs from Main street, Medford, near the foot of Winter hill, up and around the brow of the hill to the old Medford turnpike. Upon the highest part of this road and just under the brow of the hill Samuel McGrath of Danville, N. H., was passing yesterday when he came upon the body.

Mr. McGrath had visited Boston, and had concluded to visic his brother-in-law, Mr. Sawyer, who lives on Edward street which terminated on the top of the hill just above where the body lay, and on looking for the street had mistaken Gypsy lane for the one he wanted, which accounted for his presence there.

Mr. McGrath, on seeing the corpse, went to a new house being built close by and notified the men at work of his ghastly find. Word was immediately sent to the Medford police station, and Officer Ewell responded. An investigation was made by the officer, who found blood on the posed, and one leg bare, the foot Resting on a Man's Hat.

A short distance up the hill were found a woman's shawl, cloak, hat, one shoe and a pair of woolen drawers; also a pair of men's buckskin gloves stained with mortar. A bottle partially filled with liquor was found close by the other articles. There were marks of a struggle in the bushes and under a tree on the side of the hill, and the ground presented the appearance of having had a body dragged over it from a tree near which the articles of ADAMS BUILDING, clothing were found.

The body and face had every indication of having been frozen for several hours and was perfectly hard, the face present ing a bluish appearance.

The carpenters reported that they had seen a bareheaded man on the hill walking around in an aimless manner. The information caused Officer Ewell to institute a search, and on Main street, near the head of the lane, the officer took into custody a man who seemed to be in a dazed condition.

The hat and buckskin gloves were shown to the man, and he claimed them that it was his wife.

They kept on walking, and he didn't remember much about what happened after ward, except the fact that he was sitting with his wife under a tree, and got up to walk away, and afterward could not find her, although he tried to. The body of Mrs. O'Neil was turned over to Undertaker Nichols, and now lies in his rooms. The face bears several scratches and there is a mark on the neck. It is supposed that he stayed over night in the new house in process of construct tion on the hill. Medical Examiner Durell of Somerville was notified and examined the body, and ordered an autopsy. Investigation by Officer Ewell at Somerville disclosed the fact that O'Neil was well known in Somerville. He is about 52 years of age, and short, stout and thick set. The woman was about 42 years old.

Was Not Compulsory. LONDON, March 18.-The English court circular denies that when Princess Elizabeth of Hesse, Queen Victoria's granddaughter, married the Grand Duke Sergius it was with the understanding that she should subsequently join the Russian church. It affirms that the conversion of the princess to the Greek faith was a voluntary one.

Girls on the Warpath. NEWARK, N. J., March 18 .- The Clark mill girls were prevented by the police from distributing circulars calling on the girls of No. 2 mill to strike. The police chased the girls away from the mill. Mrs. Van Etten accompanied the girls. Another attempt will be made to induce the girls of No. 2 mill to strike.

New York Village in Distress. POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 19 .- A fire at Highlands did $45,800 damage. The insurance is about one-half. Many familes are rendered homeless, for whom aid is being sent from this city and other places. Nearly all the business part of the village is in ruins.

The arrest of the president, directors and executive officers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company to answer the charge of manslaughter connection with the tunnel accident in New York looks to a determination of the responsibility for the use of dangerous apbliances in railroading. In this case it was the car stove that did the mischief. In the ate of New York there is a law forbidding ne use of this means of heating, and the offi als of the railroad are held to be responsible for the death of persons caused by their failure of not complying with the law. Ex-periments by the Massachusetts Railroad Commissioners have shown the entire practicability of using steam heat in passenger cars, and the dangerous car stove really has no reason to exist longer.—Boston

THE HOUGHS NECK POST OFFICE.

Change Should be Made. QUINCY, Mar. 17, 1891.

To the Editor of the Ledger: Will you allow me to rectify a few mistakes that your paper (together with others), has had the kindness to place Langley, John Dackers and Charles Carter WANTED,—A capable Girl. Must be a before your readers, in regard to that "one hundred dollar postoffice at Houghs Neck," is published but once a week, and that for and show that "Landlard Tabor" is published but once a week, and that for and show that "Landlord Taber" is not the two weeks ending March 14, is given WANTED,—Smart, active and capable Girls. Apply to E. W. GOURD, Hosiery Mill, West Quincy. Mar. 14-6t Sound and Capable Quite as black as the press would paint him? Now about that petition that I circulated in such an underhanded manner (as one) in such an underhanded manner (as one of the daily papers asserts). I went to taxpayers and those interested in the mail matter at Houghs Neck and secured twentyfive or thirty names (and in nearly every instance complaint was made of poor service). I then showed the papers to Mayor > the signers of the petition. I then forwarded those petitions to Washington, and was appointed as Post-

Neck, and endorse me as the choice of master at Houghs Neck. That petition was in circulation nearly the interview was a big advertisement, for it was lengthy if not very truthful, and facts, but printed anything it saw fit, to place my actions in a wrong if not criminal the office on the "spoils system" because I was a Republican, and had been a soldier, and for that reason should have it, but because we wished for a change and better service, and because three years of such service as we have had were enough. I know what assertions I make I can prove; and when the papers say that no fault was found, and that I wished for the removal of Mr. Boyd because I desired the office as a source of revenue, they state something that they know nothing about. Citizens of Quincy certainly cannot be interested whether the mail is delayed and the office shut up when it should be open; and, in fact, what do they care about Houghs influence of those persons who signed their names to Mr. Boyd's petition and to false representations, and because I did not enter any complaints when I asked for the office, I am removed to make room for Mr. Boyd on the plea that he is "very poor, and was a soldier, and is not capable of earning a livelihood in any other way."

Now, while this may all be true, is it any reason that he should receive a position that he is not suited for because he is an object of pity? (If the statements are true he certainly is one). But when he wished for the office at West Quincy was he considered a suitable person for that office, and did he receive the sympathy of those people who are now so anxious to retain him in office where they will not suffer for mistakes and annoyances? I think not. I claim that I have been used in a very unjust manner by those that should have been my friends, and held up to ridicule because I was only asking justice to others as well as myself. I carried the mail for Houghs Neck residents for six years free, back and forth, and then when a post office was established at that place it was given to some one that had no interest at Houghs Neck at that time; and if I ever tried to make an improvement, or help the place along, some one would shout "the almighty dollar," and I had to fight it out alone-and I am a good one at it, for I fought for "Uncle Sam" four years and five months, and do not have a pension either, and have not received as a reward of merit a "little twocent office" that I had cast my "longing eyes" upon, and I still live. But I am very sure that a change must come, for people will not come from Rock Island and find the office closed, and have to come the Mass., lately married his divorced wife, second time, and always say nothing about from whom he bad been separated 15 years. it; neither will they submit to have chil- Pierce is totally blind and receives a governdren left in charge of the office and to have ment pension of $100 a month.

Because I did not enter complaints, when I forwarded my petition, and because parties interfered who knew nothing of the facts, Mr. Boyd is reappointed. To them the thanks are due, and I hope they "In closing, the Commissioner desires to call attention to the fact that the extent of public improvements completed during most interested will not consider the favor

General Repairs

Of Highways of the City for the Year

$74.72—$7,830.59 for Labor.

Now that the annual appropriations for 1891 are under consideration, it may be well to review the Auditors' report of the expenditures for "General Repairs of 2.25 Commissioner. The City Council gave the department $17,270:77.

The forthcoming city book will show a balance of $247.76, but this is misleading, for a subsequent report to the Council of this year shows bills against this appropriation $74.72 in excess of $17,270 77.

The largest item in the expenditures is that of labor as per pay rolls, $7,830.59, but is this large proportionately when it is remembered that it includes the Superintendent of Streets, foremen and others? LEDGER readers will doubtless be pleased to review the principal expenditures and learn where the money goes. Amounts of

An Enjoyable Basket Party Last Evening at Faxon Hall.

Francis L. Souther Camp 27, Sons of Veterans celebrated its first anniversary Wednesday evening, by a basket party at The Appropriation for Wednesday evening, by a basket party at Faxon hall, The festivities of the occasion commenced shortly after 8 o'clock with a social dance, the grand march being led by Floor Manager and Mrs. Frank W. Munroe who was ably assisted in the management of the floor by comrades Allie White, George Prouty, E. G. Sanborn, Frank Stoddard, James Barnes, George Chubbuck, George Phillips and C. A. Bliss.

The ladies were out in good numbers, The ladies were out in good numbers, each of whom as they entered the door was seen to deposit with the committee a seen to deposit with the committee a little, checkered apron filled with the blooms she had gathered as they fell from the Celebrated Soloist from the Conservatory of Music, Boston, and, if possible, the Glover Glee Club will be present with local talent. mysterious looking basket, which was so covered that it was impossible to see what surprises the sweethearts of the Sons had prepared to tempt their appetites.

About 10 o'clock during an intermission Capt. Bowker took a position on the front of the stage and proceeded to auction off the baskets which sold for from 35 cents to $2.85. This was where the fun of the evening came in, for the young ladies who had prepared the contents of the baskets had done so with care in hopes perhaps that their's would fall to some young bachelor, for it is well known that the Streets" in 1890, when Mr. Alexander was through his stomach. After the auction the purchasers opened their baskets and finding the name of the lady who contributed the same, sought her out and then the two proceeded to enjoy the contents. This over dancing was again resumed and was continued until midnight.

Among the many visitors present were delegations from Joel D. Dudley Camp 89, of Brighton; James L. Bates Camp 36, Weymouth; Charles S. Meade Camp 72, Hingham; William Palmer Camp 4, Randolph, and Co. K, Fifth Regiment, of

Much of the success of the affair was due to the able management of the following committee of arrangements, Capt. C. E. Bowker, Frank W. Munroe, E. G. Sanborn and George W. Prouty.

This camp was mustered in Feb. 18, 1890 and was named in honor of Francis L. Souther who was a member of Co. H. 4th Regiment, and was killed at the battle of Big Bethel, Virginia, June 10, 1861. This was the first serious conflict of the war and he was the first man killed in the war and was a native of Quincy.

UNDER THE APPLE BOUGHS.

BY MISS WOLLASTON.

A lovely picture? Yes! a lovely picture indeed.

Thus did I make answer to my thoughts. Its verification was here. A little girl, I should say barely six years of age, was under the apple boughs, her wavy, golden hair tossing in the gentle Spring wind and resplendent in golden sheen made by shadows and anon by the sunlight, as it poked its rays in the rifts of the leaves and blooms in the tree overhead. Her little, checkered apron filled with the

"Well, my little fairy, pray tell me what are you doing?" And then came the sweetest answer that ever dropped from

"I am gathering pop-corn from Old Sweetin, sir! I have most enough-see!' and then she ran to show me. "And is that what you call pop-corn, my

Ten years have passed, and chance again brought me to the same spot. As I came in sight of the house my first thoughts were of her, the little girl who did gather apple blooms for play pop-corn. She must be now more than a girl, I thought. Then she was a bud, now she must be a blossom.

And again I pictured her in radiant beauty. . Well, as if proof to the thought, there appeared to my eyes, under the same tree 'neath the sheltering spread of its apple boughs, two, who lingered as in answer. matchless in physical beauty; hand in hand were they. I hardly disturbed them, Yes, that was she, my little pop-corn girl of years ago. How beautiful! And

Another ten years have passed and there was the same old tree, with its luxuriant dition, having increased its membership of white mockingly to the wind and sighboughs spreading low and waving its crests from 23 members to 58, and they now have ing its fragrance to the earth. Surely the scene is the same. There are two this time. One radiant as a woman and the other a counterpart of Hand-made Piccadilly Shoes mother and daughter. The one that had played pop-corn with the apple blooms and the other that was now playing it. Like mother like child. And again I mused, this was womanhood, noble womanhood, Here was Spring, Summer and Winter of life, all under the apple boughs.

The Private of the Buffs Last night, among his fellow roughs, He jested, quaffed and swore; A drunken private of the Buffs, Who never looked before. Today, beneath the forman's frown. He stands in Elgin's place, Ambassador from Britain's crown And type of all her race.

Poor, reckless, rude, low born, untaught, Bewildered and alone; A heart with English instinct fraught Aye, tear his body limb from limb Bring cord or ax or flame; He only knows that not through him Shall England come to shame.

Far Kentish hop fields round him seemed. ake dreams, to come and go; Bright leagues of cherry blossoms gleame One sheet of living snow; The smoke above his father's door In gray soft eddyings hung: Must be then watch it rise no more.
Doomed by himself so young?

Yes, honor calls-with strength like steel He put the vision by; Let dusky Indians whine and kneel, An English lad must die. And thus, with eyes that would not shrink With knee to man unbent Unfaltering on its dreadful brink, To his red grave he went.

Vain mightiest fleets of iron framed, Vain those all shattering guns, Unless proud England keep untamed The strong heart of her sons; So let his name through Europe ring-A man of mean estate, Who died, as firm as Sparta's king, ause his soul was great.

—Sir Francis Hastings Doyls. Mr. Freeman Two Fingers Short. A passenger on the 10:25 o'clock express for Boston, which had just arrived, was standing in the doorway of one of the coaches, one of his hands resting in the groove where the door closes. A gust of wind or the swinging of the car caused the heavy door to close with considerable force, catching two of the was witnessed from the boats. Those man's fingers. The sharp edge of the still on board the sinking steamer made a distress of the poor people. A private putated the fingers almost as smoothly as would a surgeon's knife. The second and third fingers were taken off at the first joint.

The injured man was Martin Freeman, a New York business man. He and who had failed in their efforts to was taken up town by Hackman Dunlap, who was requested to drive to some physician's office as soon as possible. The offices of Drs. Mailhouse, Bissell, Russell and Bacon were visited, but all were out. Finally Dr. Hawkes was found at his office, and he dressed Mr. Freeman's wounds.-New Haven Register.

An Old Directory. John McPherson's directory of Philadelphia, published in 1785, has been unearthed. Among the prominent names it contains are these: "Franklin Benjamin, his excellency, 1 Franklin court; Morris Robert, merchant, 101 Market street; Rittenhouse David, 109 Arch street; Hamilton Alexander, 855 Second street." Although on the title page Macpherson spells his name in that manner, in the body of the work his name appears as John Mc. Pherson, broker, 7 Chestnut street. That all the people of the town were not in sympathy with his work is inferred from these entries: "I shall not give my name," 43 Stampers alley. "I won't have it numbered," 478 Green street. "I won't tell you my name." "What you please," 49 and 59 Market street.-New York World.

Masonic Apron to Go to Jerusalem. The Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton received a Masonic apron from South Carolina, which he is to present to the master of the lodge at Jerusalem, the birthplace of Masonry. Some time ago the Jerusalem lodge sent a gavel made of olive wood to the South Carolina Masons, who now send the apron in return. The present, a valuable one, is of lambskin, bordered with black velvet and fringed with silver. The square and compasses and the all seeing eye are stamped in gold. Dr. Wharton is a Mason, and expects to have a pleasant time with the members in Jerusalem. He sailed with his party for Palestine Wednesday .-Baltimore Sun.

The Grip in Japan. One remarkable peculiarity of the grip in Japan was its prevalence among the upper classes, whereas the cholera selected its victims among the poorer people. Some idea of the extent of the epidemic may be gathered from the fact that at Yokohama the sufferers officially reported numbered over 50,000, and it is estimated that the unreported cases throughout the prefecture were nearly twice as great. Of the 130,000 inhabitants of Kobe, 25,000 were attacked by the disease. In Tokio the epidemic raged with great virulence, and similar reports come from some of the Chinese cities .-San Francisco Call.

GIBRALTAR, March 19.-It has not been possible until now to give a full and auhentic account of the appalling catasrophe, the failing light making it difficult to see from the shore what was going on at the scene of the disaster, and the erri ble gale making it almost impossible to communicate with the vessels until a ate hour last evening. Early Tuesday evening the Utopia was seen steaming into the bay, in the direction of the anchorage. When abreast of the ironclad Anson the Utopia staggered as though unable to make headway against the terrible current. Suddenly the strong gale, combined with the current, swept the illfated vessel across the bows of the Anson, and in a moment her hull was pierced and cut by the ram of the ironclad.

The Utopia, after pulling clear of the ironclad, drifted about before wind and sea. The rapid inrush of water through the rent in her side caused her to settle down in five minutes from the time of the first impact. The Anson's boats were lowered immediately as were also boats from the other vessels of the British channel equadron, the Swedish man-of-war Freya and the cable ship Amber, and the ironclads turned their powerful electric search lights on the scene of the disaster to assist the rescuers.

On shore the news of the disaster spread quickly An enormous crowd soon gathered on the parade and great excitement prevailed. Little could be seen, however. save the looming hulls of the men-of-war and the white rays of the search lights falling upon the foam-flecked crests of the waves and illuminating the driving spin-

The shrieks of the Utopia's passengers and crew could be plainly heard above the roaring of the gale. The sea was so heavy that the boats of the rescuers could not with safety approach the wreck, so they were compelled to lie to leeward, where they picked up the people as they were swept from the decks. As the Utopia's bows settled,

A Terrible Scene

adden rush en masse to the fore rigging struggling for their lives and vainly seeking places of refuge. Twenty minutes later the forecastle was submerged and a large number of persons gathered there. who had not dared to leap overboard, with the hope o' being rescued by the boats, ascend the rigging, were carried away by the waves.

The rescuers, blinded by the wind and rain, saw nothing but a confused, struggling mass of human beings entangled with wreckage. A steam pinnance rescued all those who had taken refuge in the main rigging, but the last ones were not taken off until 11 o'clock at night They were so exhausted that they could do nothing for themselves, so the brave bluejackets climbed into the rigging and passed the helpless people to the rescuers in the boats. Both the British and the Swedish sailors did plucky and vigorous

While a steam pinnance belonging to the British ironclud Immortalite was engaged in the work of rescue, her screw fouled, and she became helpless and drifted on the rocks. In trying to save themselves, two of the sailors aboard the pinnace were drowned. The remainder were rescued. The total number of lives lost is now placed at 576. Divers are at work recovering bodies from the wreck. Strong pickets are stationed along the breakwater to recover any other bodies that may be washed ashore.

An Officre's Story, A officer of the Utopia says; We were were slowing our engines preparing to anchor, when, before we realized our danger, we found ouselves on the bows of the Anson. There was a shout from both vesse's, which was instantly followed by the Anson's ram tearing into the Utopia. We were about a quarter of a mile from shore at the time. The officers in talking about the catastrophe say they will never forget the scene that followed the collision. The Italians were thrown into a state of complete and cowardly panic. They yelled frantically and fough madly to reach the forecastle. A few of the married men dragged their wives with them, but the bulk of the single men were heedless of the piteous appeals of the women and children.

The forecastle and rigging were soon crowded, and the vessel began to settle down. Presently an explosion, with a deafening report, occurred in the forecastle, killing many and throwing others into the sea. Luckily the masts held and remained some yards above the water as the vessel touched bottom. From forty to fifty persons were rescued from the masts. The only instances of mantiness occurred among the people in the rigging. Many men and nearly every woman clasped children to their breasts, but they were gradually overcome by sheer exhaustion and cold, and were compelled to drop their burdens and often follow themselves. Those in the lower rigging, who were exposed to the full force of the waves, were swept away before the first of the Mrs. C. B. Alexander, daughter of Millans, however, behaved more like beasts than like reasoning men.

Another Account. Petersen, a Swedish quartermaster, who had been steering the Utopia a short time before the collision, says that just before the vessels came together he went below. While there he felt the shock of the collision and rushed from below, but before he reached the main deck the Utopia had gone broadside on upon the spur of the Anson's ram. The commander of the Utopia, Capt. McKeague, according to Petersen, was on the steamship's bridge until the last moment. Petersen adds that as the Utopia was crushed by the Anson's ram he clambered up the davits of one of the steamship's boats and cut the ropes holding it. He had no time, however, to lower the boat away, as the bows of the Utopia had passed beneath the warship and it was evident that the passenger steamer was rapidly sinking. Soon after, the boats of the Anson having been promptly lowered, one of the man-ofwar's cutters ran alongside the Utopia and Petersen managed to jump into her. He says that while on board the Utopia, after the collision, he was surrounded by a terrible mass of human beings fighting their way desperately and savagely, regardless of sex and age, toward the boats. Men, women and children tumbled and climbed over each other in that horrible fight for a chance of escape from drowning. One poor woman who was rescued by the Anson's bluejackets went raving mad when she was convinced that her mers Drowned by Fear-Maddened Per- children were drowned. There were similarly distressing incidents by the score, the most awful of all occurring when the Utopia, with a final desperate

Many of those who had sprung into the sea as they saw that the steamship could not float many moments longer, were then also drawn down in the whirlpool caused by the Utopia's disappearance. Some came to the surface again for a few moments before sinking finally into their watery tomb. Others, more lucky, were able to cling to pieces of wreckage, floating spars, oars, gratings, hatchways, boats, lifebelts, etc., and thus kept themselves above water until rescued by the warships'

> But as usual in such cases, the weaker succumbed more readily. Shricking praying women sank to rise no more, with their terrified offspring clasped to their breasts. Children clung to their parents so desperately as to, in several cases, cause the death of both where each might have e-caped had better judgment been used. Husbands and wives sank while grasping each other in frantic efforts to keep each other afloat and many a good swimmer went down with some horrified, fearmaddened person clinging to him with the tenacity of the desperation of death. What Divers Discovered.

> Divers who have made an examination of the wreck report that there are hundreds of bodies in the steerage and between decks. During the day the bodies of twenty-eight men and one woman were recovered here, while at various other points along the coast the bodies of six men, eighteen women, seven boys and one girl were washed ashore. One of the women, when her body was taken from the water, was found to have her arms firmly locked around the corpse of her child. The remains of the unfortunate people were taken to a cemetery in the Spanish lines, where an inquest was held.

A Complicated Piece of Business May Predicted as Standard Bearers in '92.

WASHINGTON, March 19.-Unless Spain shows a more liberal disposition on the subject of reciprocity she may find the duty on her sugar restored. In spite of the reticence of the state department officials, it is known that ex-Minister Foster has gone to Madrid to explain the situation to the Spanish government because Secretary Blaine failed to get any satisfaction from Senor Suarez, the Spanish minister lere. It appears Senor Suarez desires to drive a hard bargain with the United States by which he expects to obtain large concessions for his government without giving anything to speak of in regovernment to make two treaties with her upon a reciprocal basis. First, she offers in return for free sugar a number of insignificant articles, including straw hats, old junk and vegetables. "Give us a treaty on that basis," says she, "and we will then make another treaty by will reciprocate with our tobacco."

It is thus the matter stands, and Mr. between the two countries on such a him basis. There is nothing in the reciprocity provision of the McKinley bill which enables our representatives to bring tobacco into the question. The language of the act is very plain in that connection. Under the provision it is clear Secretary Blaine cannot, if he wanted to, bring tobacco into the negotiations. The lines for reciprocal trade have been defined by congress, as were carried out in the recent treaty with Brazil.

Senor Suarez, acting doubtless under instructions from his home government, refuses to look at the question in that light and insists that tobacco must be one of the features of the proposed treaty. In view of Mr. Foster's experience in Spanish diplomacy it was deemed advisable to send him to Madrid to lay the matter before the Spanish government in a comprehensive way. Our minister to Spain, E. Bird Grubb, does not speak Spanish, and carries on his negotiations with the aid of an

TWENTY ACRES BURNED OVER. Big Cordage Works Destroyed, with a

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 19 .- The works of the Elizabethport Cordage company, comprising several brick structures covering twenty acres of ground, were burned. The flames started in the laying ground from an overheated shaft. It was near the engine rooms, and the employes were shut off from the use of the company's pumps and fire apparatus. The buildings were filled with oil, hemp and other in-flammable material, and the fire spread with such rapidity that, while the entire fire department were early at the scene, they were powerless to check the progress of the flames. All the buildings of the 25 SCHOOL STREET, company, save one storehouse, together with machinery and stock, were consumed The loss is estimated at $700 000 insured. When the fire broke out there were in the works about 500 operatives, mostly girls, and a great panic was caused. All escaped without injury, however. In 1880 the buildings were partly burned and two firemen were killed by falling walls.

NOW FOR THE HOG. Removal of the Embargo oo American

Cattle at Hamburg. BERLIN, March 19 .- Owing to the untiring efforts of the United States minister here, Hon. William Walter Phelps, Chancellor Von Caprivi has removed the em bargo placed upon American cattle landed at Hambarg, and it is likely that Mr. Phelps will be able to obtain the removal of the restrictions placed upon the importation of the American hog. Already 300 American beeves have been landed a Hamburg as an experiment. This land ing of American cattle has been carried on for weeks, and has only been known to the imperial government, to Mr. Phelps and to the authorities of the port of Hamburg. All parties concerned are pleased with the success of the experiment,

A Penaceob Man Shot Down Without Warning.

NOT LIKELY TO RECOVER.

The Victim Had Made a Late Evening Had Been Instructed by Her Husband to Shoot All Intruders.

PENACOOK, N. H., March 19.-Herbert Cross, a teamster, who lives here with his wife and two children, is lying in his home with a bullet wound over his heart that will probably cause his death.

He went out at night to buy a bale of hay, and started home at 10:30. Charles Woolridge, who is employed about the stable where Cross bought the hay, helped him put it in his wagon. As Cross was driving out of the yard Woolridge called after him, saying something about the weight of the bale. Not understanding what Woolridge said, and thinking that Woolridge would be found at his house, farther down the road, Cross went directly thither and rapped upon the door, but got no reply. He rapped a second time, when immediately there came the report of a gun from a window at his left, and he staggered back, shot in the left side. No one appeared and he heard no sounds from inside the house.

Expecting to die every minute, he hurried to his horse and drove home. Dr. Holbrook was immediately summoned and gave such aid as could be rendered. Cross stated that he had never been to the house before, nor had he had any trouble either with Mr. or Mrs. Woolridge. A reporter who called at the house found standing in the doorway a woman, apparently about 20 years old, holding by the hand a little child of not more than 2 or 3 years. She was chatting laughingly with some female neighbors. Her identity was not suspected until she interrupted a reply the officer was about to make to a question as to whether any arrests had been made, with an exclamation of: "Arrests? No. How can they arrest me when I did it in self-defense?"

"Are you the woman who did the shoot-

Tuesday night she said she was sleeping when there came a rap. After a second rap, to which she made no response, she arose and pulled aside the curtain, and seeing a man standing by the door, went and got the gun. After a third rap she went to the window and

"I sha'n't study g'ography till I git ready!" growled the youngster. The teacher rose quickly and seized him by the collar, intending to shake him, when the young rascal hastily added, "But I am ready now!"—Youth's Companion. This Can Be Done on Nearly Every Farm.

Given a flow of 100 gallons of water per minute and plenty of liver and scraps thrown in, and you can raise 1,000 pounds of trout in a pond 10 feet deep, 10 feet long and ten feet broad, replacing them with small ones as rapidly as they reach marketable size. It can be done very profitably too. The time is looked forward to, and it is not far away, when every farmer will look upon an acre of water as he does upon an acre of land, expecting so much yearly yield from it, whether it is pond, lake, river or estuary. -Washington Star.

GLADSTONE AND GOSCHEN.

Correpondence Between the Gentlemen Regarding the Speech at Hastings.

LONDON, March 20 .- Rt. Hon. George J. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, has written to Mr. Gladstone to complain of his inaccuracy in dealing with the question of Mr. Goschen's financial policy, in the speech which Mr. Glad-tone delivered at Hastings on Tuesday last, and this action of Mr. Goschen has led to a long correspondence between the two gentlemen. Mr. Gladstone admitted that he had lapses of memory, but still held that this did not affect the principal which he condemned in his speech. He therefore adheres to the strictures which he then placed on Mr. Goschen, and promises to revert to the subject and discuss it as fully as possible at an early date. This question of finances assumes much importance, in view of the probable dissolution of the Unionist party.

NEW YORK, March 20.-The Parnell

envoys were given a reception at the Cooper Union last night. The hall was jammed and the platform crowded by scores of prominent Irish men and women. Michael Breslin was elected chairman and introduced J. J. O'Kelly. Mr. O'Kelly was loudly cheered and said: I am here to win for the cause of Ireland the sympathy that has been hitherto denied it. Two hundred thousand dollars, he said, had been placed in bank in Paris as an emergency or election fund. Since the present dispute with the Irish party had taken place that money could not be used for political purposes, as it was not in the hands of the trustees of both parties. It was to replace that sum in behalf of Mr. Parnell that they visited this country. Their mission to America was to ask those who believe in an independent Irish party and an independent parliament to give them their help to restore that fund, so that they might fight every seat in Ireland, and restore unity by wiping from public life the men who had betrayed the trust reposed in them.

WHO ARE THE DISAPPOINTED?

President Harrison Decides Not to Ap-WASHINGTON, March 20. - President Harrison has decided not to appoint the nine circuit judges created by the appellate court bill, which passed the last congress. He arrived at this decision, not because he had any doubt as to the right to make the appointments, but because there was no real necessity for making them, and because they just as well could be filled in December next, which would give him more time to make the selections. The law creating the courts is required to go into effect the third Tuesday in June. The new courts can be organized at that time by the associate justice, the circuit judge and the district judge, in each of the districts, as required under the law. Thus all of the necessary preliminaries can be arranged, so that when the nine new judges are appointed they can pro- west gale off Delaware's capes. Gowan's real name is Robert Sherlock, and he is said to belong to the Salvation Army. He left the track in his racing costume, and dashed through the Madison avenue entrance and out on the street. There a policeman captured him and brought him back. He made things lively in his hut, smashing a lot of furniture, and then drank a pint of kerosene oil. At last accounts he was still raving. Four other men left the track, among them Johnson, a colored man, who was entered as "Steve Brodie's unknown."

He was nearly starved it is said, and was cruelly treated in other ways by his master. There is talk of prohibiting walking matches at the garden in the future, on account of the cruelty attached to them. Burrell, another pedestrian, dropped out because, as he claimed, he was being cheated by the scorers. A hand organ furnished music for the match a part of the time, but it is doubtful if even this luxury can be indulged in much of the > Twenty-five Cigars a Day-General Banks and His Farewell to Washington-Senator Savjer's $16,000 for Charity and His Indgor Exercise.

Washington, March 19.-Two pictursque old men who left public life at the work rehearsing one of Walter H. Baker's end of the last congress, probably never to return to it, were General Banks, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Vaux, of Philadelphia. Not for many years have two more notable old men been seen in congress together. Both were great pedes-Methodist church, will meet next Wed- trians, fond of rambling about the city at all hours. He is a wit, a story teller, a White House, soon to contain the French monument to General Lafayette, as well as the famous equestrian statue of General Andrew Jackson, when in front of Jones has small, twinkling eyes and a the big bronze horse a queer figure caught my eye? It was old Mr. Vaux, his ancient and battered hat in one hand, a smoking cigar in th. other, his ample The Wollaston Unitarian Ladies' Aid gray locks floating in the wind, and almost a teetotaler. "I have no scruple Society will meet with Mrs. William bowing solemnly and respectfully toward the metal Jackson towering above him. I did not understand his pantomime, and had forgotten it till one day in conversation with a group of congressmen Mr. Vaux's name was mentioned, and I narrated the incident at the Jackson statue.

"That is nothing new to me," said Representative Mansur, of Missouri. "Mr. Vaux and I are very good friends, and he tells me that since he has been in Washington he has not missed one morning, rain or shine, snow or sleet, walking from his hotel to the park before breakfast, pausing before the Jackson statue to "Old Hickory." You have probably Washington. Yet, in pursuance of his noticed that the old gentleman smokes a Miss Helen Smith of Wollaston had a great deal. He is the greatest smoker I food is very simple. Another interesting old man who will retire from public life two years hence is Senator Sawyer. He is the most popular man in the senate, and the one to whom all subscription papers for charitable purposes are first taken. The old senator has a business man's habit of keeping careful account of his receipts and expenditures. In his little memorandum book is jotted down every item his luncheons, cigars and newspapers. In running over these a few weeks ago, for the purpose of balancing his accounts for the year 1890, Senator Sawyer discovered a discrepancy of something like ing in his home, a beautiful and extensive chateau on Connecticut avenue, than he is in the senate chamber. Just now, as the newspapers have already informed us, he is very proud because of his success in reducing his weight something like eighty pounds in six months. It is as good as a circus to see the senator in the library of his house. It is a large apartment, probably torty feet long, and the floor is covered with the richest of oriental rugs. Across this floor and back the senator has a regular pathway on which he takes his daily exercise. He doesn't know how many laps there are to the mile, nor care, for his race is not against time, but flesh. He walks at a rapid pace, however, steaming and panting, to and fro, puffing and blowing, and once in a while stopping to weigh himkeeps in his library for that purpose. Nothing pleases the old senator better than to have company in his indoor pedestrian feats. His friends, eager to please him, take him by the hand and gave you?" stride backward and forward with him till the senator is quite out of breath from running and laughing. Next to Sawyer, I suppose Mr. Jones,

England is Worrying Over the Newfoundland Question.

LONDON, March 21 .- The gravity of the Newfoundland question only begins to dawn on the country. Lord Salisbury nas, in the gravest of recent ministerial leliverances, admitted that it was difficult to look without gravest apprehension to the future inview of the strong feeling in France against the slightest relaxation even of the more extreme and unreasonable of her claims. The debate in the house of lords has profoundly agitated the members of the house of commons. Sir J. P. Hennessy intended to move last night an adjournment, in order to immediately challenge the government policy, but was induced to postpone his motion until Mr. Smith has presensed the statement which he promised to make Mon-day next. Lord Kimberley's partial assent to Lord Knutsford, proposed measure das not represent either the feeling of the Liberals or the policy of the Liberal leaders. The tenor of communications exc a el by Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Morley an other Liberals, points to strenuous opposition on behalf of the Newfoundland government, and, had Sir J. P. Hennessy moved to adjourn, he would have had a f llowing sufficiently strong to show the government the opinion of parliament setting against the bill as a too stringent measure. Lobby forecasts now agree that the government will not attempt to pass the bill until the delegation of the Newfoundland legislature, who are coming to London, have had ample time to be heard. The bill provides for its own suspension, morous skit for every hour of the day. if the Newfoundland legislation passes This is one of his latest, illustrative of measures necessary to secure the tempoan Englishman's appreciation of humor: rary modus vivendi. he feared that with a labor candidate his party might lose the seat. I believe that Mr. Gladstone was perfectly truthful when he said that the Liberal leaders never discouraged labor candidates. The Pall Mall Gazette, under the heading, "Fire Escape Tactics-Mr. Parnell Climbs Down," says: Mr. Parnell has made his first really weak move. Consequently, the Parnellites are greatly embarrassed and the patriots are jubilant. Now it is evident that the challenge to Mr. Healy was a mere bluff.

WHAT PRESIDENT GLEASON SAYS

Regarding Proffers of National League Funds to Parnellite Envoys

NEW YORK, March 21 .- Patrick Gleason, president of the Irish National league, has issued the following: New York, March 20, 1891.

To Whom it May Concern: In the report of the Cooper Institute meeting to receive the Parnellite envoys, appears a con-bribution of $500 — "Irish National League, through James Gilmartin, Treasurer." If made, such contribution presents a gross violation of every principle of honor and honesty and requires a full explanation. The money in ques-tion was raised by the Eighth ward branch of the Irish National league about two years ago, and held by its treasurer ever since. It was subscribed for regular league purposes and for no other object. Mr. Gilmartin has no more right to hand it to Parnell envoys or any other Irish faction than he has to convert it to his own ase. When, months ago, the officers of this branch were requested to forward this money to he league, the statement was made that the ng. Dr. Donlin, chairman of the Eighth ward branch of the Irish National league, said in regard to President Gleason's card, that a meeting of the Eighth ward branch had been held on the 18th inst., at which resolutions were unanimously adopted directing the treasurer to announce at the mass meeting at Cooper Union that the league appropriated $500 for the Parnell

At the time of his partner's death Edwin Booth was at the Players' club in bed asleep. He did not receive the notice of the death until midnight and was very deeply affected.

The death of Mr. Barrett removes from the world one who has achieved both name and honor in his chosen profession. Starting an unknown, penniless boy, he steadily worked up, until he stood among the foremost representatives of the American stage. His aim was ever a high one, and his efforts were directed alike to the improvement and elevation of art and literature in connection with the drama. Lawrence Barrett was born at Paterson

N. J., on April 4, 1838. He was credited with being a bright and studious boy by his fellows at school. That school period, however, does not seem to have been an extended one, for at the age of 15 he was serving as an assistant in a dry goods house in Detroit. The stage had strong attractions for him even then, and it was

His success was such that his thoughts turned toward New York and the greater theatrical world, and thither he went in December, 1856. His first engagement there was one for four weeks at the old Chamber of the theat the text. Chambers Street theatre and his part that of Sir Thomas Clifford in "The Hunchback." At the close of that engagement Mr. Barrett was offered an opportunity to play at either of the chief theatres in New York, then under control of managers of remarkable talent. Mr. Barrett accepted the offer of Mr. Burton and opened at his theatre in February, 1857. The play was a three-act drama by Douglas Jerrold, called "Time Tries All." It was in the spring of this year that Edwin Booth made his first appearance in New York at Burton's theatre. Mr. Barrett played with him, and there began a professional and friendly association, which has con-Chambers Street theatre and his part that and friendly association, which has continued unbroken ever since. Mr. Barrett remained at Burton's theatre for nearly two years, playing with all the great stars of the time.

Mr. Barrett changed his allegiance from

New York to Boston in the fall of 1858, accepting at that time the position of leading man at the Museum. He played at the Museum for two years, and then changed to the Howard Atheneum. There changed to the Howard Atheneum. There he remained one season, playing with many of the great tragedians and comedians of that day.

With the outbreak of the war Mr. Barret enlisted in the service, and in the fall of 1861 he accepted a captaincy in the Twenty-eighth Massachusetts regiment. Mr. Barrett's next theatrical engagement was at the Walnut Street theatre in Philadelphia, where, under the management of Mrs. Garretson, his opening part was Cassius in "Julius Cæsar." He remained at the Walnut Street theatre three months and went from there to Washington, under the management of Mr. Grover. From Washington he returned to Philadelphia, to the Chestnut Street theatre, where he played again with Mr. Booth, Mr. Davenport and others. From the Chestnut Mr. Barrett went with Mr. Booth to the Winter Garden in New York. Booth to the Winter Garden in New

A partnership in the maragement of the Varieties theatre, New Orleans, being offered him by Lewis Baker, he accepted, and, with Mr. Setchell, he became an active associate in the management of that theatre, acting as leading man at the same time. During the season Mr. Wallack the younger, produced at his own theatre in New York the drama "Rosedale." It was given at the New Orleans theatre and Mr. Barrett purchased the right to play it in other cities of America. By this he made his first venture as a star, beginning that career in the fall of 1864 at Pike's opera house in Cincinnati. He continued to play this play over the country for the season of 1864 and 1865, now and then assuming other characters to which he looked as the foundation of his fame.

Mr. Barrett made a brief visit to pool. Arriving in San Francisco about Feb. 1, 1868, he opened at Maguire's opera house, as Hamlet, and made an immediate success. During this time he made the acquaintance of capitalists of San Francisco, who agreed to build a theatre if he would remain and undertake its management jointly with Mr. McCullough. Mr. Barrett accepted this proposition.

REGARDED A HAPPY ENDING.

Atlantic Mills Strike Over and Operatives Resume Work Monday. PROVIDENCE, March 21 .- The Atlantic mills strike, on which 1000 operatives were out, and 1000 others were thrown out of employment by the shut-down of the mills, is ended, and work will be resumed Monday morning. This action was taken at a meeting last night, and resulted from a compromise, whereby the agents promised restrictions on the fining system, by which fines should not be excessive, nor should they be imposed for imperfections in the work for which the weavers are not responsible. Fines will be proportioned to the rate of wages earned and to the value of the goods. This is regarded as a happy ending of what promised to be a protracted strike.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21.-Charles S. attractions for him even then, and it was only a few months later that he made his first appearance as an actor in that city. His character was that of Murad in the "French Spy" He remained there one year, playing indifferent parts, when he went to Pittsburg, to the old Opera house. For the two following years Mr. Barrett played in St. Louis, Chicago and other western cities.

Northern, president of the Henry W. Grady Monument association, received a letter from David B. The occasion will be a notable one, and great preparations are being made. New Jersey Legislature Adjourns. TRENTON, N. J., March 21.-The legisature adjourned sine die. The session lasted nine weeks, and has been chiefly notable for the passage of a new general tax law and the capture by the Democrats of pretty much every state and local office within the reach of the legislature. The congressional districts of the state have been re-arranged, one being added. The Democrats have pretty safe majorities in six out of eight districts. The state has also been re-districted for legislative purposes, giving the Democrats a sure majority on joint ballot for many years to come.

BUTTE, Mont., March 21.-All the mines belonging to the Anaconda company, the greatest copper producer in the have shut down. This was caused by a disagreement with the Montana Union railway, which hauls ore from Butte to the smelters in Anaconda. The railroad wante i to advance rates about one-third. and the company refused to stand the raise. The smelters will follow the example of the mines as soon as the ore on hand is treated. The shut-down will throw about 3000 men out of work.

Boston, March 21 .- The jury in the case of Alfred C. Stone vs. The Daily Advertiser company, after being out twenty nours, reported a verdict for the defendant in the first session of the superior court. The plaintiff is a ladies' tailor, having an establishment on Winter street, and The Evening Record in April, 1889, published an article concerning his methods of doing business which he alleged was libelous, and he brought the present suit to recover heavy damages.

They Want $100,000. St. Louis, March 21.-A special to The Republic from Des Moines, Ia., says: S. E. Dow and Abner Graves of Crawford county have trought suit against the Bradstreet company, each claiming $100,-000 damages for alleged wrongful rating as to their financial standing. They had been rated by Bradstreet's at $60,000 each, but a few months ago, so it is claimed, the rating was changed, resulting in the loss of credit and the final failure of the parties.

On her part the fair solicitor was considerably surprised; she had heard that he was a hard, unfeeling man, yet had he not responded promptly and generously to her appeal? She was so grateful that she insisted on shaking hands with the old man, and as she did so she remarked, feelingly, "We do not always get our reward here, Mr. Hutch-Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

"Yes, I've often heerd tell," answered Mr. Hutchinson dryly, "but I'm more interested in findin' out the Lord's opinion of a cheerful beggar."-Chicago

IN DIE LARGE TRENCH.

Burial of Victims of the Stopia Disaster. Charges Against Capt. McKeague. GIBRALTAR, March 21 .- A sad scene, one of the sequences of the Utopia disaster, was witnessed here. The bodies of twenty-nine adults and three children were interred, together, in a trench which had been dug in ground specially blessed drowned passengers of the Utopia. All the clergy of Gibraltar, the town and garrison officials and the officers of the British channel squadron, and of the Swedish man-of-war Freya, including her commander, Prince Bernadotte, together with crowds of people, were present at

During the course of the day the divers from the British war vessel recovered eleven more bodies from the wreck of the steamship. The bodies of many of the drowned were found so firmly clasped together, owing to the desperate last hight for life, that it was difficult to separate

Capt. McKeague of the Utopia, who was arrested, charged with "wrongful acts, improper conduct, negligence and mismanagement," was formally charged before a magistrate. After a short pre-liminary hearing, Capt. McKeague was remanded for a further hearing. In addition to the charges against him already mentioned, he is accused of feloniously slaying certain persons unknown. He was admitted to bail in the amount of £480 in two sureties of £240 each.

At a meeting a subscription was organzed and a relief committee was appointed, headed by eivil and military officials. The Anchor line steamer Assyria has arrived here. She will take back to Italy those of the rescued who wish to return.

STATE BASE BALL LEAGUE.

Organization Effected and Officers Elected for a League in Connecticut. HARTFORD, March 21 .- The meeting in this city to form a state base ball league was attended by delegates from Hartfor Waterbury, Bridgeport, New Britain and Bristol. A permanent organization was effected by the election of A. W. Lang Hartford, president, and H. R. Durant of Waterbury, secretary-treasurer. No decision could be reached upon the amount to be paid visiting clubs. Waterbury wanted fixed guarantee, while all the other clubs wantel the visitors to have 40 per cent. of the gate receipts. No agreement could be reached. It looks as if the league will split. The five cities mentioned were the only certain members, though other places are still under dis cussion. If one drops out now, it practically kills the league. No vote was taken, and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the president.

AMERICAN SHIPS OF WAR. Praise Bestowed by London Institute of

Naval Architects. LONDON, March 21 .- At a meeting of the Institute of Naval Architects, Mr. Biles of the council read a paper on American ships of war. He was in New York recently and obtained full information one he subject from Secretary Tracy. Mr. Biles was surprised to find that in point of construction American men-of-war quite equalled those of the British vessels intended for coast line defense, were more powerful than any constructed in Europe, but the strength had been obtained at the expense of speed. Nevertheless the fastest English cruisers probably were slower than the fastest American cruisers.

WASHINGTON, March 21.-The question going round in the financial centers as to whether the treasury department would on demand give gold for silver certificates, or even for coin certificates, was answered most emphatically in the negative at the gold go unless it is obliged to do so by an unequivocal provision of law.

Acting Secretary Nettleton rejected two offers aggregating $850,000 for the exchange for export of gold coin for gold bars. He said his action was in accordance with the policy recently decided upon, that it is contrary to the best interests of the government to relinquish at the present time ful and vividly portray the horrible punfor export any considerable part of the most convenient form of our gold supply.

In answer to a direct inquiry on the point, Gen. Nettleton said that, while he did not care to discuss the question at present, he did not regard it as at all probable that gold would be forced to a premium by reason of the present policy against the exportation of the government's limited supply of gold bars.

GHOSTLY CEREMONY WITNESSED IN A JAPANESE CEMETERY.

A Four Days' Feast for Legendary Spirits. Burying Grounds Richly and Luxuriously Decorated with Garlands and Tempting Viaads.

Dr. G. H. Colton Salter, who for many years was United States consul in Japan and afterward entered the Chinese government service, gazed thoughtfully into the glowing embers in the grate and after a short pause told the following

The native religion of the Japanese is, as you know, Buddhism, and there is no creed which is as full of superstition. Some of the ancient beliefs of the Buddhists are calculated to frighten the faithishment that awaits the sinful man after he closes his earthly career, while others, with charming simplicity, show that the greatest aim of the Hindoo religion is the release from existence.

The doctrine of the transmigration of souls and a hope for a better fate in a future life are the principal foundations upon which Buddhism rests. Nagasaki, where I resided for many years, was famed for the splendid festivals in honor of Buddah, or Gautama, the founder of the religion. Owing to the work of missionaries and the consequent spread religious fetes are no longer publicly observed, and the one of which I am about to speak had its last grand celebration in 1886, just before I left Nagasaki.

DECORATED GRAVEYARDS. It is called the Matsidri and was held first week in September, continuing four days. These days were set aside for the reception of the spirits of the dead, who, according to a legendary belief, return once a year to their old homes. For many weeks previous to the festival preparations had been in progress. The houses of the believers had all been carefully swept, cleaned and polished, and the home altars, which are to be found least two of the United States vessels rated and refurnished. The interior of been repaired and the whole city was clothed in holiday attire.

A SPLENDID SIGHT. The scenes made a strong and everlasting impression on me. The night was perfect, the moon was at its full and the air was fragrant with the perfumes of thousands of flowers. This boat, which is called Fukuy, was a master-piece of Japanese carpentry. It was ninety feet long and had a stately mast with a huge sail which bore in native characters the inscription, "Naidinamawidi," a word which is symbolic of Gautama's greatness. This boat, artistically and richly decorated, was launched with much ceremony after the last spirit had been embraced and, figuratively speaking, had taken his seat on board. It was then pushed out into the sea, and drifting away was finally carried out of sight by the tide. And so ended the last festival

Next Thursday evening March 26, the third annual concert and ball, complimentary to Honorary Members of Company K. 5th Regiment, M. V. M., takes place at the Town hall. It promises to be a grand affair as usual.

Mr. L. F. Gomez having resigned the position of superintendent of the M. E. church Sunday school, of South Braintree, Rev. Mr. Heath, pastor of the church, has been chosen to fill the position. Mr. Gomez occupied the position for four years with credit to himself and the great benefit of the school. He was very popular, but positively declined re-election, although strongly urged. Other duties having a prior claim.

Patrick Hennessy an old and well known citizen of East Braintree, died at his residence on Hobart street, on St. Patrick's day, aged 65 years. Patrick was a great sufferer for many years, from rheumatism in his back and legs. He was a stone mason by trade, and a good one. He was a quiet, hard working man, and distinguished for civility. He has left a wife and daughter and we think two sons. The funeral took place on Thursday morning from the church of the Sacred Heart, Weymouth.

The Board of Water Commissioners et at the Town house on Monday night, and organized with James T. Stevens as chairman, and John V. Scollard as secretary. The board afterwards elected P. D. Holbrook, Town Treasurer, treasurer of the Board of Water Commissioners.

There is not a whist club in the east part of the town. In the other two parts they exist, and in numbers, especially in the north part. Even the young ladies there, we are told, have their clubs, meet in the afternoons and contend till evening for the 'championship." It's a great game, the game of whist.

The editor of the OBSERVER has been adjudged insane. The prima facie evidence of this unhappy condition of mind is furnished, it is said, by the editorial which he wrote and published in the OB-SERVER last week touching the award made by the Supreme Court commissioners. I have only to say that wherever the pipes of the Quincy Water Company have been extended, the service is excellent, there being an average pressure of about 75 pounds. I am of the same opinion now as one year ago, and look forward to an extension of the said Water Company's pipes, that we may have more hydrants. In listening to the report of the new water supply I became very much interested, for the reason it was to give so many more hydrants. But in considering the time that would elapse between the present time and the time that the new works would be completed, it appears to me that there is a chance of our ecoming a modern Babylon.

Brave Love. He'd nothing but his violin, Fd nothing but my song. But we were wed when skies were blue And summer days were long; And when we rested by the hedge The robins came and told How they had dared to woo and win

When early spring was cold. We sometimes supped on dewberries Or slept among the hay, Came out to hear us play The rare-old tunes—the dear old tunes!
We could not starve for long While my man had his violin

The world has aye gone-well with us, Old Man, since we were one! Our homeless wandering down the lanes-It long ago was done; But those who wait for gold or gear,

And I my sweet love-song.

Till Youth's sweet spring grows brown and sere,
And love and beauty pine,
Will never know the joys of hearts
That met without a fear
When you had but your violin When you had but your violin

And I a song, my dear.

Chinese Ideas About God. A young lady who teaches Sunday school lessons to two Chinese boys in an Episcopal church on Fifth avenue, speaking of her work, said: "My two sons of the Flowery Kingdom can speak but little English, but I really think they have a good idea of Christ and his mission on earth. They seem very apt at learning, and kneel and stand up at the proper time during church services. Both of them wear queues, though, and would not part from them for any-consideration. It took me a long time to make them understand that Christ was divine. They imagined I had reference merely to his goodness. Dispatches were submitted to the legislature Saturday which showed that, though the British government deter-mined months ago to introduce a coercion law into parliament, and privately notified Governor O'Brien to that effect, they instructed him not to inform the Newfoundland government of this intention until the bill was formally introduced in the house of lords.

The knowledge of this fact has set the people wild, and mass meetings are being called all over the island to give expression to the feelings of the people. In the legislature party lines have been obliterated, and the most violent speeches have been made by men on both sides of the house denouncing "the cowardly and treacherous conduct of the British government.'

Delegates will be appointed to immediately proceed to London to formally protest, not only against the enactment of the coercion law, but also against the reference of any portion of the fisheries question to arbitration, without the whole question is so referred.

These delegates, however, do not expect to accomplish anything practical. The majority of the legislature has undoubtedly made up its mind to cut the Gordian the empire, and go in for annexation pure | Blackwell's Island for six months for beg-

GEN. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON. Joseph Eggleston Johnston was born in ongwood, near Farmville 809, and was the son of Peter Jo jurist of Prince Edward county, in Virginia. His grandfather came to this country from Scotland in 1727, and settled country from Scotland in 1727, and settled on James river, Va. Early in life Joseph was sent to the United States Military academy, where he graduated in 1829, in the same class with Robert E. Lee, and was commissioned second lieutenant in the Fourth artillery. He served mostly on garrison duty from that time till 1834.

He was made first lieutenant of the Fourth artillery July 31, 1836, and in the Seminole war was on the staff of Gen. Winfield Scott as an aid.

OMAHA, March 23.—Senator Taylor, who fled from Lincoln to avoid voting on the Newberry maximum freight rate bill was in Council Bluffs Saturday night. He arrived on a special train and arranged immediately to depart for the east. It is supposed he will conceal himself in Virsum and in the government coast survey. During the Maxican war he was in all important actions as captain of the topographical engineers under Gen. Scott and was twice wounded. In this campaign he was successively breveted as major, lieuis found busy with western riv provements, surveys in Kansas, and with the Utah expedition as inspector general from 1840 to 1860, when he became quartermaster-general, with the rank of adier general of staff. This commis he resigned April 22, 1861, to enter the rebel service. The battle of Bull Run was fought, and, with Mr. Davis on the field, besides Johnston and Beauregard, the dispute is not yet ended as to who was the commander on that field. It is plain that Johnston did all he could on that day, and won credit by his disposition of troops.

All through the fall and winter of 1861-62 Johnston held McClellan of 1861-62 Johnston held McClellan in supreme inactivity, and in this wonderful achievment he rendered the greatest possible service to the Confederacy. After the war closed Gen. Johnston became actively engaged in the industrial reconstruction of the south, and was a potent factor in the revival of the agricultural interests, and in the fostering of

In person Gen. Johnston was a man of slender build, of not more than medium height, and with a kindly, pleasant face. He was unobtrusive in manner and invariably courteous to all persons.

In respect of mental and physical activity at an advanced age he was probably the most remarkable soldier that this country has ever produced.

Governor Bulkeley Forces His Way Into a Barred and Locked Room.

HARTFORD, March 23.-Governor Bulkeley, a burly deputy sheriff, a crowbar and a shattered door are the latest sensational features in Connecticut's fight over her state offices. "I want it understood that as long as I am governor of this state I propose to have free access to any room in this building."

These are words which Governor Bulke ley addressed to Superintendent Geebel, who had obeyed the instructions of Comptroller Staub as to fastening & door communicating with the executive chamber. Is opens from an apartment originally designed for a conference room for the Democratic members of the legislature.

The Democrats were annoyed by Bulkeley's deputy sheriffs, who used the room as a sort of lounging place. Staub's con-ference with Bulkeley led to the withdrawal of the deputies, but the governor gave him to understand distinctly that he would use the apartment himself as a passageway. Staub didn't say anything but sent a workman to the room who fastened the door with an iron bar and Governor Bulkeley heard of the affair, and the door was open as stated. Comptroller Staub rests his claim to control of the rooms on a law which empowers him to appoint a superintendent who, under his instructions, shall have the care of the building and grounds. Lawrence Barrett was my friend and I was his. He was the interpreter of Shakespeare, to whose creations he gave flesh and blood. He was the greatest tragedian of our time next to Edwin Booth. He shunned the questionable, the vulgar and impure, and gave the intellectual, pathetic, manly tongue. He was a thoughtful Hamlet, ap intense Othello and the best Casius of the century. Now Commercial Treaty Between the United States and Hawaii.

HONOLULU, via San Francisco, March 12.-A new commercial treaty between the United States and the Hawaiian government has been prepared, and a copy of the text has just been received here by the Queen from the Hawaiian minister in Washington. On Monday the new treaty was read, and submitted at a secret conference held at the palace by the queen and the new cabinet ministers.

The new treaty calls for a cancellation of the present existing treaty between the two governments, and the substitution of a new document which permits of a full and free interchange of all the products both natural and manufactured, of the two countries. The new treaty virtually means free trade absolutely between the United States and Hawati.

It is not known as yet just what action will be taken by the queen and the gov-ernment, but it is stated on the most reliable authority that the influence of the English friends of the queen, as well as 1836-Salem, second city of Massachusetts that of the British diplomats in the island, will prevent her from accepting the new

It is very likely that the queen and government of Hawaii will make a reciprocity agreement with Canada and Australia, and send the island's sugar product to those countries, unless the United States acceeds to her majesty's demands to alow the Hawaiian planters the full benefit of the sugar bounty, as arranged under the McKinley bill for American produc-

Gen. Morgan Explains His Position Regarding the Matter-Story of Secretary Proctor's Resignation Discredited-Other Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, March 23 .- Gen. Nettleton, acting secretary of the treasury, has issued a circular letter, of which the following is the text, announcing a change in the form of the special tax stamp for retail liquor dealers: TREASURY DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1891. Sir—Letters are frequently received at the department, stating that in many parts of the country retail liquor dealers claim to hold a permit or license from the United States for carrying on their business; that in many cases where local law prohibits public drinking places, the law is openly violated by persons who claim to do business under at least the moral sanc-tion of a "federal license," and that this fact, together with the belief common among many good citizens that the United States government does in fact issue such liceuses, greatly retards the enforcement of Wholesome restrictive laws, and promotes disorder. It should be unnecessary to state that the United States government does not issue a license or permit of any nature to any person in any state to carry on the business of retail liquor dealer, and it is difficult to understand how any intelligent citizen can be imposed upon by the oppo-site claim. Congress having levied a revenue stamp tax of $25 per annum on the business of retail liquor dealers, the commissioner of internal revenue endeavors to collect this tax wherever and by whomsoever the business is carried on, but no semblance of permission, express or implied, is given by the United States government in its revenue laws or otherwise to begin or continue such business in any place contrary to local legislation. It was to make clear this purpose of care-It was to make clear this purpose of carefully respecting state and local laws and police regulations prohibiting or restraining the liquor traffic that congress enacted section 3243 of the revised statutes.

In order that this purpose as thus embodied in law may be authoritively announced, whenever the tax is collected, a change has been made in the form of the United States stamp issued to retail

United States stamp issued to retail liquor dealers as evidence that they have paid such tax. The new form, which will go into use July 1, next, reads as follows:

United States stamp for special tax; internal revenue. Received from—the sum of—dollars for special tax on the business of retail liquor dealer at — for the period represented by the coupon or coupons hereunto attached.

And across the face of the stamp is inscribed the following statement of said section 3243 of the revised statutes:

This stamp is simply a receipt for a tax due the government and does not exempt the holder from any penalty or punishment provided for by the law of any state for carrying on the said business within such state, and does not authorize the commencement or the continuance of such business contrary to the laws of such state or in places prohibited by municipal law. See section 3243, revised statutes of the United States.

Besides this, there are many extra meet ings of Council committees which take but solid work. The School Committee Wood, Harmon & Co.'s great sign near have a salaried servant in the person of the work of school supervision; the Council has no such servant.

FASHIONS FOR CHILDREN

FABRICS WHICH THEY MAY AND MAY NOT WEAR.

Olive Harper Writes About Genuine American and the Latest French Ways of Making Garments for the Little Ones, but Most Approves the Former,

[Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, March 19.—Here is a fashion letter all for the children. Goods for them are just the same as for big sisters and mothers, with the exception of rich silks and brocades or satins. These are not suitable at all for children alone, but some of the lighter qualities are casionally used as trimmings. Little girls can wear Foulard silks, plaid surahs and India and China printed silks, and for full dress occasions crepe de Chine with delicate oriental lace is seen, and is pretty too.

The pretty shepherds' plaids and other woolen plaids are very useful for every day, and can be purchased for from twee ty-five cents to one dollar a yard. It is good economy for the mother or big sister to get a yard of material more than she needs for her own gown, and this, with the scraps left over, will make a full dress for a little girl of six. It now only takes six yards of wide material for an ordinary sized lady's dress, and seven yards would by careful cutting get a dress for a little girl, too, particularly i a gimp could be made of something else

A very pretty gown for a young girl of about fourteen could be made like one I noticed in a store where all the fashion writers go to find ideas, and it was of hazel cashmere, laid in kilt from wais to bottom. The sleeves and part of the waist were two shades darker, and the drapery drawn across the waist was lined in herringbone in green silk. brown ribbon was tied around the wais This is a little dress that could be copied in any non-washable material.

The pouting little sister wears a plaid poplin in brown and fawn, with trimmings of dark green velvet, while the little tot who stands repentant with a chubby finger in her mouth wears a pale blue wash surah over a gimp of blue. The plaits have a little ery in red silk. These two dresses, how ever, could be as appropriately made in gingham or any other seasonable wash fabric.

Among the prettiest and most satisfactory of the wash fabrics for children are the cotton challies. They are in fast colors, and do not require st the getting up, and in that way they d not muss quickly, and they can be bought in desirable colors and pretty patterns for four cents a yard. All the ginghams and cotton goods

ness, which stamps them with a certain distinction at once. While the plain Greenaway styles are better liked by all wise and really tasteful mothers, there always will be some parents who prefer the Paris fashions for children. These are usually made with very short and very full skirts, making the wearer look like a doll baby, yet some few of them are pretty and childish. One little dress for a baby of six was made of almond colored cashmere with a fringed sash of velvet

ITALIANS ARE EXCITED

Over the Promised Exposure of the Mafia Plot in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24 .- The promised exposure of the Mafia plot which ended in the assassination of Chief Hennessy, by Sunzeri and Natali, two of the Italian prisoners now in jail, has caused a great deal of excitement in the Italian quarter. A secret meeting was held in an old building near Congo square, which was attended by nearly 100 Italians, who discussed the report for nearly an hour. The police have information that the subject of Saturday's lynching was taken up and certain phases of it debated, but they have not been able to learn whether not any threats were made. It is claimed that both Sunzeri and Na tali have already told the most of their story to Attorney-General Rogers and to members of the committee of safety, and the grand jury whenever that body gets ready to hear it. When the grand jury resumes its inquiry into the jury bribing matter it will hear the story of Hennessy jurors who have been accused of having been bribed by O'Malley. The object of this investigation, as given out now, is to get at all the men who were associated with O'Malley, and particularly those who are believed to have employed him to fix the jury.

"INK-SLINGER" IS DEAD.

John Copners Dies While Serving Time in the Penitentiary.

NEW YORK, March 23 .- John Connors, the "ink slinger," died in the Charity hospital on Blackwell's Island, of senile dementia. Connors' antics were at the bottom of a mystery that puzzled New York for several weeks last summer. Women walking on the sidewalks uptown on the west side found their clothing ruined with splashes of blue ink. Connors was identified, arrested, convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of transactions. $250 and to imprisonment in the peniten tiary for six months. Having no money, he was serving time for the fine.

MOB VIOLENCE IN IRELAND.

One of the Healy's Furiously Attacked by a Mob in Cork-A Tipperary Conspirator Responsible for Serious Injuries to Timothy's Eye.

London, March 24.—The correspondence between the governments of Newfoundland and Great Britain on the proposed fishery convention between Newfoundland and the United States, is published. The dispatches extend from February, 1890, to a letter from Sir John O'Brien, governor of Newfoundland, to Lord Knutsford, the imperial colonial secretary, in which the governor gives minutes of the Newfoundwith the government at Washington. Sir against the departure from the old policy of York. treating the fishery question as requiring unity of action between Newfoundland and Canada, and Sir John Macdonald cables that the Dominion ought to be induded in any arrangement. Lord Knutsford, on Nov. 4, 1890, cables that Mr. Bond, the colonial secretary of Newfoundland, has no powers to negotiate, and that the government had communicated with Sir Julian Pauncefote in regard to the Dominion's desire to be included in any arrangement. Sir Julian Pauncefote, on Oct. 10, 1890, wired that Mr. Blaine had received Mr. Bond unofficially and had a long interview with him, the result of which was the drafting of a convention by Sir Julian Pauncefote. A copy of this convention, sent to Lord Stanley, the governor general of Canada, elicited a cablegram from the governor general on Nov. 19, stating that Canada viewed the convention with the utmost alarm and strongly protested against the signing of

Messages from Sir John O'Brien urge that there be no delay in signing the conrention, contending that Newfoundland ought not to be involved in Canadian disputes and appeal to the imperial governnent, not to subject the colony to trading disabilities to the advantage to Canada. Lord Knutsford, in response, holds that the convention cannot be made exclusively in Newfoundland's interests. Finally, on Jan. 13, 1891, Lord Knutsford cabled to Sir John O'Brien that the imperial government was compelled to maintain the delay of the ratification of the convention. The same cable refers to the French shore difficulty, the depressed condition of Newfoundland and the importance of opening up the colony's resources, and offers to guarantee a railway loan and to send a commission to inquire into the resources of the colony; but adds that before applying to parlirment to sanction a loan the imperial government would require assurance that the colony would cooperate in adjusting the concroversy with France. On Feb. 10 the Newfoundland government responded that they could not comprehend Lord Knutsford's withdrawal from a distant and positive understanding; declaring that the imperial government was delaying the ratifica-Canadian politics, to ruin the prospects of | wealth are oftenest unhappy. the colony, and demanding answer, ves or no, in order that the fate of the colony might be known and appropriate action be taken. Lord Knutsford cabled that he adhered to the decision and that he regretted the language which the Newfoundland ministers thought fit to

Sir John O'Brien having sent the resolutions of the two houses of the Newfoundland legislature, Lord Knutsford, in a final despatch on March 12, contended that Mr. Bond's instruction when in Washington in no wise implied that the convention could then be concluded; that Mr. Bond, without reference to Sir Julian Pauncefote, had had several interviews with Mr. Blaine, the result being a remodelling of the convention as prepared by Sir Julian Pauncefote; that Mr. Blaine had communicated this counterdraft to Sir Julian Pauncefote on Jan. 6, and that this fact, though known to the Newfoundland ministers, had not been stated to the Newfoundland legislature.

CORK, March 24.-Timothy D. Healy, M. P., had a very rough experience in this He had attended the assizes, being interested in a case in which his brother, Maurice Healy, to whom Parnell recently sent his famous resignation challenge, had obtained damages for libel against a local member of the Parnellite party. Upon of the trial, Timothy Healy was soon surrounded by a howling mob, who followed him along the street and made a number of attempts to assault him. The crowd finally became so violent that Mr. Healy, to escape his tormenters, was compelled to beat a retreat and take refuge in the dressing room of the Victoria hotel. Before Mr. Healy could recover from the effects of the mob's rough usage, a man suddenly rushed into the room, turned out the light and then struck Mr. Healy a powerful blow in the face, smashing his glasses into pieces. Young Man and His Words Are Forcible and Direct.

New York, March 19 .- One of the most remarkable preachers who have ever flourished in New York now draws an immense congregation several times a week to the large hall of the Young Men's Christian association in Twentythird street. This is the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., the young pastor of the Council was in session until after the last Twenty-third Street Baptist church, which very soon after his advent there last May became entirely too small to hold the crowds which flocked to all of his services. Mr. Dixon is such a young man that it is more than passing strange that he should have attracted so much

I have often thought that no class of people in the world spoke English as musically as the blacks of the southern states of America, except the young English women of the upper

These young women don't have much to say for themselves, but they do say what little they care to say with a lage in Vermont, the daughter of the wondrous music. The rising inflection may account for this, but whatever the reason, the faet remains that an English speaking man wants to hear in the little operations where her deft finheaven no better music than the voice of an English girl. When Mr. Dixon had finished at his local college he went to the Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore, and took the post-graduate course in history and political science. His object at this time was not in his own mind well defined. He wanted either to be a lawyer or an actor. After leaving Johns Hopkins he spent a winter in New York, and here he passed his time in studying history and dramatic art. He returned to North Carolina, and was elected to the legislature before he was of full voting age. His object at this time was to be a lawyer, though his father was a famous Baptist preacher. He was admitted to the bar and practiced somewhat, but he felt a calling for the ministry. He held a series of meetings in Raleigh, and was soon ordained as a Baptist pastor. But shortly he was called to the Twenty-third street Baptist church in New York. Here, as has been said before, the seating capacity was not large enough to hold the crowds which flocked to hear this young man who had something to say, and said it in a manner so eloquent and unconventional that the most idle wayfarer was attracted and detained. He has outgrown his church and has had to hire larger quarters. Even these are inadequate, and he has a plan which will in less than a year be carried out. He proposes to build a "city temple" or a "people's church" which shall comfortably hold at each meeting 5,000 auditors. His plans contemplate that this shall be a free church, and that the building shall in the main be given up to business purposes.

World's Fair Gossip.

CHICAGO, March 19.-There will be nany conventions and congresses during the holding of the Columbian exposition in 1893, and these gatherings will many of them exert wide influence for years to come, judging from the results of previous affairs of their kind. During the Centennial year a convention of the friends of international peace was held in the large hall of the Mercantile li brary. The credit of its promotion was due largely to the late Lucretia Mott, and it was on that occasion that the writer. who brought with him credentials from Workmen's Peace association of Great Britain, and of which he was one of the founders, first came face to face with that gallant band of Christian workers in the cause of international peace, and including Mrs. Mott, Mrs. Townshend, also now departed; Alfred H. A Famous Woman's Childhood

New York, March 19.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher was born in a small vilvillage doctor, who was richer in children than this world's goods, and this little daughter had to be his helper in all gers could aid him. She unconsciously learned in those years of training all those needed accomplishments in the way of caring for the sick and minor surgical operations that helped her so greatly in after life as pastor's wife in the small towns where Mr. Beecher was first called. And she had a mother the very embodiment of neatness, economy and fame was due to the care and system of Mrs. Beecher.

The Art of Advertising.

Advertising seems to be an art yet to be discovered by some people. That is, the practical part of it. The modern fire department is practical, and has outgrown the old bucket system; and so with modern advertising-plenty taken, but Agnes staid, and finally of it, used in a practical, common sense and judicious manner, pays.

If you want to catch a certain kind of fish you use a certain kind of bait; not all fish bite at all kinds of bait. Not all people respond to every advertisement. The newspaper is a medium indispensable to the majority of advertisers, because of its wide and repeating circulation. As a promoter of trade and profit newspaper advertising is no longer an open question; that is, when done in a practical and intelligent manner, and pays because of its effectiveness and cheapness.—Beatrice (Neb.) Self Acting Paper Cutter.

A Calcutta newspaper relates an ind dent which illustrates the magnificent way in which the rajahs of India-or least those of them who remain opulent and powerful-repay a small debt. No long ago the Rajah Holkar, of Indore, paying a visit to the viceroy, the Marquis of Lansdowne, at Calcutta, was shown by the marquis several of the London illustrated newspapers. In cutting the leaves of these journals, Lord Lansdowne used an ivory paper cutter.

The rajah had never seen a paper cutter before and was much interested in the little instrument. "If your excellency will make me a present of it," he said, "I will send you another in exchange.' The viceroy promptly gave his guest the paper cutter, and the rajah returned with it to his own dominions. Lord Lansdowne had almost forgotten the incident when he received notice that the rajah's return gift was on the way, and he was presently astonished to have brought to him a young and handsome elephant, each of whose tusks had been skillfully wrought into the shape of a paper cutter.

A servant brought some illustrated newspapers, at which the elephant seized them with his trunk and proceeded very skillfully to cut the leaves with his sharply trimmed tusks. He had been trained to this accomplishment under the rajah's orders.

The living paper cutter, it is understood, is still in Lord Lansdowne's possession, but it is not one of the ordinary furnishings of the viceroy's library. For his customary opening of books and newspapers he keeps a less bulky implement.-Youth's Companion.

A Movement for Cleanliness. Over in Berlin a local woman's society is distressed over the carelessness of dentists, and is agitating a reform punishing such by legal measures. It is charged that the dentists use their instruments indiscriminately and without proper cleansing. If this be true the offense is serious enough. A tyro in medical science knows that the mouth is the hotbed of septic germs; nothing could be more simple and easy than to convey all sorts of disastrous organisms from one person to another by means of forceps and excavators. The women of to us, because the national committees Berlin will do well to compel the washing of the instruments in carbolic acid in the presence of patients, as they have set out to do, if this extraordinary carelessness exists.—New York Times.

Choked to Death by a Toy Balloon. Charles Schneider, a 7-year-old boy, was choked to death recently by getting the gum of a toy balloon fastened in his throat. He was visiting a relative, Thomas Hern, and while playing with his little friend the gum of a balloon stuck to the roof of his mouth, and he began swallowing it. Mrs. Hern's attention was attracted by the boy's playmates. She attempted to get the gum out of his mouth, but failed.

Physicians were sent for at once, and Drs. McCord and Burleigh arrived just as the boy had breathed his last. It was some time before the gum could be gotten out, as it had become firmly imbedded in the boy's throat.—Pittsburg Dis-

"SOCKLESS JERRY"

Explains the Object of His Visit to New England.

Said to Be the Uplifting of the Indus-Capitalists - Difference Between the Alliance Explained.

Boston, March 25.-Congressman-elect Jerry Simpson of Kansas, the great apostle of the Farmers' Alliance move- In the Effort to Secure Close Trade Rement, arrived in Boston yesterday. He is accompanied by Ralph Beaumont, president of the Citizens' Alliance. Several James Carrett, secretary of the local sin-

"My visit east," said Mr. Simpson, in as possible the aims and objects of the Citizens' Alliance with a view to organize branches of it in the New England states. The Citizens' Alliance, as doubtless you know, differs from the Farmers' Alliance in being purely political in its aims. We do not desire through it so much to organize a new party as to secure such control of legislatuion as shall enable us to secure the ends we have in view. These are the uplifting of the industrial and laboring classes as against the capitalistic. We believe that the capitalists have had legislation their own way long enough and that now we should have the opportunity to apply reforms in taxation and various other things which we believe to be for the ultimate benefit of the whole people. Outside of giving such information as may lie in my power, I have no plans for pressing the organization here in the east, leaving that for others who have time to specially devote to it. 'We cannot expect the large dailies of the country," he said, "to advo-cate our reforms as long as their countituents do no not care for them, and we prose, therefore, to start in with readers nd secure the papers later."

Mr. Simpson was shown the code of rinciples of the Industrial Alliance, and while he applauded their independent tand as the only rational move, he renarked on the equal suffrage plank: "The rouble is they get in too many things. ome of these principles would, of course, need to be sacrificed in a national organ-

Said Mr. Simpson: "I would like a word with the farmers of New England. I came east to learn why it is that, after enjoying the benefits of protection and a nome market so long, their farms are becoming deserted. I had hoped that Maj. McKinley would attempt to answer that question, but he didn't. He did, however, make one valuable concession. He said that the consumer pays the tax. If that is so, then a farmer who must eat as much and wear as many clothes as Jay Gould has to pay just as much as he into the federal treasury, though one may be worth $200 or $200,000,000."

"We have received invitations to a convention to be held at Cincinnati on May 19," continued Mr. Chamberlain. "Is that from your Citizens' Alliance?" "No, it is another one." responded Mr. Simpson with a smile. "It is called by the men who have been identified with ter has sustained the action of the supergreenback movements heretofore. The Alliance people have declined to attend, because they think it is too early. They prefer to wait until February, 1892."

"Then the west, as a whole, is not in sympathy with that movement?" "The people there do not antagonize it. They simply think it is too early, and so will not participate in the convention." "Well, we want to work with the western farmers. I guess we will not commit urselves at the meeting next week." Then Mr, Simpson said: "The main thing is to organize. It would do no harm to attend. Possibly some Alliance men may go and try to get the convention to djourn, so as not to complicate matters." "We have a state election this fall," said Mr. Chamberlain. "Would you organize

"Most certainly," the answer. "It would be the very best training you could ossibly have to organize for the national campaign in 1892. If you affiliate with either party it will swallow you up." "Couldn't we swallow the Democratic arty?" "That was tried down south, and the re sult was a rupture between the Alliance and the Democracy. People will charge that it is a scheme to disrupt the Democratic party. Local successes by affiliations with either party are of little value decide what Republicanism and Democracy shall be, and no local success can change their edict. I say again, organize thoroughly; the name is of little consequence provided that the body can come into the national convention of wageearners in 1892."

Turning to Mr. Carret, Congressman Simpson took up the subject of single tax. He said he was one of the three single tax men in the house, the other two being Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland and a congressman from Minnesota. He had little hope of the immediate success of the angle tax idea as a political dogma. "Farmers will, however," he said, "come to believe in the single tax theory when they understand it thoroughly. It is not a tax on land, but on land values. They think because they have large farms they must pay big taxes, whereas a small lot in Boston might be worth more than a section of land in Kansas. I shall speak in New York on April 1 before the Man hattan Single Tax club. The meeting to be held in honor of Thomas Jefferson's birthday, and will be devoted to free trade, not tariff reform. Idonot believe in tariff reform, but in free trade. I do 110t believe in killing a criminal by cutting off feet. I am Yankee enough to believe that the better the swap that a man tan make the better off he is. England lass gained $5,000,000,000 in fifteen years by that policy, and the United States has lost $1,500,000,000 by the opposite policy. It is only fair to say, however, that on f ree trade the Alliance does not hold my p ersonal views. The organization is for tariff reform. The Republican party is dead. It may walk around awhile in grave cles, but it is dead. It remines do not of the old slave-holding oligarchy because the many and like it is tettaring to its.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

14th of this month, of the jail in this city and the killing of eleven persons confined therein under indictments found in the criminal district court for the parish of Orleans. You stated to me that it had been represented to the president by the minister of Italy accredited to the government of the United States, that among the the killed on that occasion were three or four subjects of the King of Italy. The telegram disclosed an apprehension on the part of the minister, evidently shared in by the president, that the disturbance was a continuous and evidently snared in ov the president, that the disturbance was a continuous and swelling disturbance, which might involve the Italian subjects in New Orleans. I have rea-on to believe that the hope expressed by the president that I would co-operate with him in maintaining the obligations of the United States toward Italian subjects who might be within the prils of the excitement, and that further violence and bloodshed might be prevented, was based upon that belief. The resident further expressed the hope that resident further expressed the hope that ill offenders might be promptly brought o justice. On the 16th inst. I telegraphed you that there was no excitement in the city at that time and that I saw no reason to anas well, and the scarcity of the former is now attributed directly to the fact that the action taken was directed against the weirs have killed off millions of young particular individuals, and that the race or nationality of the parties did not enter as a factor into the disturbance. have been well founded.

The men killed, as I have stated, were confined in prison, under indictments found in the criminal district court for the parish of Ocleans; the sheriff has made his return of the facts to the court; the judge thereof has charged the grand ine judge thereof has charged the grand jury now in session in regard to the mat-ter, and the whole subject is, I assume, now under investigation by that body. I am satisfied that most of the persons killed were American citizens, but it is probable that two or three were Italian subjects.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, FRANCIS T. NICHOLLS, Governor. Governor Nicholls' letter is written on official paper and is dated at the capital of the state. It is evident, however, that it was written in New Orleans, as it speaks of the killing as having occurred in the iail in "this" (that) city. Secretary plaine sent to Baron Fava, the Italian minister, a copy of the letter of Governor Nicholls about the New Orleans affair. The next move must be nade by Baron Fava, as the United States is powerless to do anything in the matter, as the work of the avengers is being investigated by the New Orleans grand

NAVY DEPARTMENT WORRIED Admiral Brown Ordered to Proceed short distance delivery of letters. Forthwith to Chilian Waters.

WASHINGTON, March 25.-Apprehensions oncerning the unsettled state of affairs in Chili have cause I the navy department to decide on sending Admiral Brown, the company. commandant of the Pacific station, to that country as soon as possible. Admiral Brown will sail within the next fortnight on the San Francisco, to which he will transfer his flag. His present flagship, he Charleston, will be prepared at the Mare Island navy yard for sea service and she will leave to join the San Francisco in Chilian waters as soon as possible. Admiral McCann, the commandant of the south Pacific squadron, who is now in Chilian waters, will withdraw his flagship, the Pensacola, to the east coast of South America before Admiral Brown arrives. The navy department has practically no details of the conflict in Chili, but newspaper accounts and other sources of unofficial information have made Secretary Tracy and his advisers apprehensive of serious trouble.

MUST ACT DISCREETLY,

Otherwise the Government Will Have

Another Indian War to Handle. WASHINGTON, March 25.-The war de partment has been gathering authentic information as to the probabilities of another outbreak this spring among the Indians of Dakota, and reports made by army officers serving as agents at the Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies are not altogether reassuring. The officers state that there need or need not be trouble, just as the government desires. An outbreak can be prevented, or, on the other hand, very little will fan the slumbering feelings of the aborigines into a fierce flame. The whole case rests upon the care exercised in the distribution of the appropriations. If the Indians get promptly all that is due them and there is not too much haggling, there will be peace. But the moment the government attempts to pinch the Dakota tribes, the hitherto friendly Indians, who do not feel very complacent over the late trips to Washington, will, it is predicted, surely re-

FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Wilder Receive

the Two Frst Payments. WASHINGTON, March 25 .- The first payment from the treasury in the long delayed French spoliation claims was made yesterday to Mrs. Mary Ann Buchanan Smith of Philadelphia. She is 89 years old and receives $13,500. Her father, John Smither, was a merchant in Baltimore at the close of the last century and, with his brother, Gen. Samuel Smith, a noted member of congress from the latter city, lost heavily from French captures. The ship Feiendship, for losses on which this appropriation was made, was commanded by John Rogers, then in the merchant service and afterward so conspicuous in our navy as Commodore Rogers. The second payment was for $7000 to Mrs. Harriet E. Wilder of Worcester, also in her 90th year, whose father, Nathaniel Eaton of Norwich, Conn., lost vessels and cargoes by like French depredations.

PITTSBURG, March 25 .- The grip continnes to spread desolation through the homes of this city and its suburbs. Physicians, hospitals and funeral directors are taxed as they probably never have been before. At the Pittsburg department of health the record shows 442 deaths during March, the larger proportion due to the ravages of the grip. In Allegheny City there have been '49 deaths. All the eading hotel bars an i many saloons are dispensing quinine with their liquors. The ailment is almost as prevalent in the outlying towns as in theis city. One Sewickley physician reports having 110 cases. The health office books show that the death average of the past few months far exceeds that of the corresponding period in previous years.

ecompanied Gen. Johnston's Remains to the Mausoleum in Greenmount. BALTIMORE, March 25 .- The remains of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston were placed in the mausoleum in Greenmount. Subsequently they will be buried in a grave which the general himself superintended the construction of a year ago. The desire of the deceased for a quiet funeral was respected, only a few persons being at the Union depot when the remains arrived from Washington. The funeral ortege from the Union station to the cemetery consisted of the hearse and two carriages.

Massachusetts Legislature. BOSTON, March 25.-In the senate adverse reports were made on the question of an eight-hour labor law, and on allowing, in abolition of grade crossings, change of grade of railroads by consent of the railroad commissioners. Bills came in to allow the Maine railroad to purchase any road which it operated, and to provide for a state liquor inspector at a salary of $2500. By vote of 23 to 14 a bill was substituted for an adverse report on removing the public bar restriction. The house adhered to its position on the same question.

A bill was reported to provide for the registration of persons engaged in medicine or surgery.

On the Atlantic coast the temperature for the week has been slightly below the The temperature for the season, from Jan. 1 to March 20, has been in excess generally in all agricultural districts east of the Rocky mountains, except Texas, the greatest excess being in the lake region. The winter has been cold in the Rocky mountain regions. Although an excess of cloudiness is re ported from the greater portion of the country east of the Rocky mountains, attended by general rains, the areas over which excessive rainfalls occurred during the week are limited. The rainfall for the season is generally in excess, except in the southern portions of the south Atlantic states and in Washington, where excessive rainfalls are reported. In the cotton and tobacco regions of the South there are from one-fourth to one-half more rain than usual. There is also an excess of moisture in the winter and spring wheat regions, except in portions of Illinois and Missouri, where slight leficiencies are reported.

Cold weather has continued during the week generally throughout the northern states, over which the ground is generally frozen, and spring work delayed. In the northwest the ground is generally covered with snow, which is disappearing rapidly and which will furnish sufficient moisture in the spring wheat region to assure an xcellent start for the crop.

The weather was favorable throughout the fall wheat region, extending from Virginia and Ohio westward to Kansas and Nebraska. Farm work is in progress as far south as Kentucky, Missouri and southern Fanses, although the season is backward. In New England the weather was unfavorable for sugar making, but favorable for fruit, the latter conditions extending over the fruit regions of the middle Atlantic states, where the low temperature occurred in time to delay the udding of fruit trees without injury.

The week was cold in the south Atlantic states, and too much rain has retarded farm work. Frost injured early vegetables in southern Virginia on the 16th. North Carolina reports winter wheat and oats in good condition; and South Caroina reports little work yet accomplished. A. W. GREELY, Chief Signal Officer.

Early Icehouses.

In America icehouses have been known for at least 200 years. They were at first very primitive affairs, being nothing more than deep cellars, the flooring made of boards or stone, upon which was placed a layer of straw or sawdust. The sides were lined with boards set about a foot from the wall, and this space was filled in with sawdust, tanbark or straw. A rough, thatched moof completed the structure, which was then filled with ice, between the layers of which tanbark or sawdust was strewed. -Detroit Free Press.

HIS ASHES TO THE WIND,

Young Society Woman's Remarkable STRANGE FUNERAL RITES OVER HENRY MEYER'S REMAINS.

> He Was Incinerated to the Music of a Band-His Ashes Were Cast Into the Air from the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor-All as He Directed.

A little white cloud floated out from the head of the Statue of Liberty at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and in it disappeared in the four winds of heaven the remains of Henry Meyer, hotel keeper, of Staten Island. To be buried in this singular, half cynical fashion in midair, as it were was exactly as the dead man had often directed while he lived. As he had wished, his body was cremated, his handful of ashes was preserved in a box until the next Sunday should come, and then, with the popping of champagne bottles and expressions of good will, but no grief, was cast from the top of Liberty whenever it would go. In the clear sunshine of the beautiful day, looking no bigger and of no more importance than a puff of cigar smoke, the cloud hung for a moment under the lee of the statue. Then the sharp north west wind caught it, whirled it instantly out of sight in the direction of the dead man's old home, and that was the las of the body of Henry Meyer.

A jovial though an odd soul, and hotel keeper for thirty years at Port Richmond, Mr. Meyer was well known to every Staten Islander and a good many other people, too. From the name of his hotel he got to be called "Puck" Meyer, so that his real first name was generally forgotten. He was a skeptic a socialist, a strenuous advocate of cre mation, a pretty good liver and a mar of great popularity in spite of a thousand peculiarities which will be Staten Island folk lore for generations.

No one saw "Puck" die. He was found dead in his bed in the hotel on the morning of Feb. 14. His wife was the first to discover his death. As his will made many years ago, directed, the body was taken to the Fresh Pond crematory, on Long Island, two days later and incinerated. A committee from the States Island Schuetzen corps, of which Meyer had been a member, accompanied the remains in three carriages, with a brass

What right have they to resolve themselves into a secret bureaucracy?

A distinguished writer on this subject held in Boston, on Wednesday, April 1. says that the inevitable tendency in all departments is to assume that the power delegated can be exercised without criticism; that the officials must be judged by their works, and that having been intrusted appear before the people either for reelec- ing. ion or reappointment.

This, we hold, as far as executive officers are concerned, to be a thoroughly mistaken supposition, and one entirely contrary to our theory of government. A Song.

A song for the girl I love-God love her!
A song for the eyes of tender shine,
And the fragrant mouth that melts on mine, The shimmering tresses uncontrolled That clasp her neck with tendril gold; The blossom mouth and the dainty chin, And the little dimples out and in— The girl I love— God love her!

A song for the girl I loved-God love her!

A song for the eyes of faded light,
And the cheek whose red rose waned to white:
The quiet brow with its shadow and gleam, And the dark hair drooped in a long, deep The small hands crossed for their churchyard rest, And the lilies dead on her sweet dead breast. The girl I loved— God love her!

How Sparrows Clear Away Snow. On the east side of Central park, at Sixty-seventh street, stands a clump of pine trees, where toward evening seems as if all the sparrows in the park congregate to gossip and scold and quarrel with each other, and to pass upon the doings of their gray coated, wingless, club carrying namesakes.

The recent snow storm, however, made things rather uncomfortable for them. Every needle of the big pines was covered with the pretty, soft, light flakes, which didn't seem so pretty to the pugnacious, feathered little English-Americans. So they perched themselves on the Fifth avenue stone wall and on the rocks near by, and with their saucy looking bull heads cocked to one side held a council of war that was almost distracting to the aristocratic people that live on the other side of the street.

They seemed at length to have devised a plan to clear their perches, for they flew into the trees and then half a dozen at a time dove through the needles and against the smaller perches with such force that the light, dry snow was shaken off and fell to the ground in little white clouds. At the end of half an hour of hard work their home was entirely cleared of the disagreeable stuff.

Then, of course, they must needs hold a thanksgiving meeting, which was even more distracting than the council. But all things have an end, and one by one the noisy chatterers snuggled up to each other, sank down on their perches, tucked their heads under their wings and went to sleep to dream about cake crumbs and big fat worms.-New York Herald.

Fateful January.

The death of the Belgian heir to the throne, Prince Baudouin, has revived the old superstition concerning the fatefulness of January for the royal family of Belgium. The record of events that have caused the superstition has been increased of late years with remarkable rapidity. In January, 1867, the Empress Charlotte, sister of the Belgian king, be came insane in consequence of the shooting of her husband. The king's only son, crown prince and Duke of Brabant, died on Jan. 23, 1869. In January, 1881, the royal castle in which the Empress Charlotte lived was destroyed by fire. In January, 1889, Crown Prince Rudolf of Austria, the Belgian king's son-inlaw, was killed in the tragedy of Meyerling. On New Year's day, 1890, the royal castle at Laeken burned down. "Alas!" exclaimed the Belgian queen when the news of the fire was brough to her in Brussels, "it is this terrible January. It always brings us misfortune."-New York Sun.

The Carbons Ticked the Message.

A dozen people who stood chatting at San Antonio, Tex., were treated to a most remarkable electrical phenomenon At that time the elements had entered into a conflict, seemingly, with the electric fluid from the trolleys and telegraph wires, and blue and white flashes of flame were leaping wildly from water spouts and door casements. Suddenly the carbons within the large globes hanging in the center of the room began that incessant clicking heard in a telegraph office, and the experienced ear of an operator, who happened to be one of the group, detected the fact that it was a veritable message being transmitted in the usual symbols. A notebook and pencil were drawn and the message, which proved to be an Associated Press dis patch, was written out; it was the description of the Reform club banquet, and gave the speech of Mr. Cleveland in New York city. A telegraph and electric light wire coming together is supposed to have caused the phenomenon.

A STEADY DECREASE

ITALY WANTS REPARATION.

Secretary Blaine Disappointed in the Communication from the Governor of Louisiana-Government Officials Silent Regarding the New Hawaiian Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 26.-Superintendent Porter of the census bureau has in preparation an important bulletin giving the population of the south Atlantic and south central states, Missouri, and Kansas, by races. The total population embraced in this count is given as 23,875,-259, of which 16,868,205 were white, 6,996,-166 colored, and 10,888 Chinese, Japanese and Indians. In the states included were found in 1890 15-16 of the entire colored opulation of the United States, so that for the purpose of immediately ascertaining the percentage of increase of colored population, the returns of these states are adequate and not likely to be materially affected by the returns of the other states and territories, where the colored population is small.

During the past decade the colored race has not held its own against the whites in a region where the climate and conditions are, of all those which the country affords, the best suited to its development. In but three decades, that is from 1800 to 1830, during a part of which the slave trade was in progress, has the colored race increased more rapidly than the white. Since 1830 the whites have steadily increased at a more rapid rate than the colored people. The increase has not been effected by the aid of immigration, for, with the exception of Kansas and Missouri, these states have received com-paratively few emigrants, either from foreign countries or from the northern

Similarly the proportion of the colored inhabitants to the white increased somewhat between 1800 and 1830, but since that time it has steadily diminished. In 1830, when the proportion was at its maximum, there were nearly six colored inhabitants to ten white, but this proportion has been reduced to a trifle more than four at the present date, or by nearly one-third of its

Seven tables are given which show the movements of the colored element of the opulation during the last half century. An inspection of the tables makes it evident, says the bulletin, that there has been no extended movement of this element since the time of the Civil war. Indeed, with the exception of the District of Columbia, the border states appear to have lost rather than gained, and during the last decade there becomes perceptible a southward movement of the olored element from the border states into those bordering the gulf, particularly into Mississippi and Arkansas, where they have increased proportionately to the

ITALY'S LITTLE BILL.

It is understood that the minister is not altogether satisfied with the situation of affairs at New Again Quit Work at the Atlantic Mills. Orleans, and with the course which the pursuing concerning the killing of Italian ubjects. Secretary Blaine is somewhat disappointed in regard to the tone and meagerness of Governor Nicholls' communication. But as the matter is now under investigation by the grand jury, nothing can be done until the findings of that body are reported and all the facts in the case are made public. It is evident, from what has already transpired here, that the Italian minister intends, if possible, to secure reparation from the government and not from the state of Louisiana. Secretary Blaine's telegram to Governor Nicholls was promptly cabled by the minister to his government, thus committing our government in the matter.

THE NEW TREATY WITH HAWALL

Foreign Influence Said to Be at Work to Prevent Its Approval.

WASHINGTON, March 26 .- The state department officials are very reticent conerning the reciprocity treaty between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands. It appears that the old treaty is cancelled, and the new one which is to be substituted, permits the full and free interchange of all products, both natural and manufactured, of the two countries.
The clause relating to sugar is likely to lead to some friction, as the Hawaiian government desires that article put on equal terms with American sugar. It is understood that English and German influence is at work to prevent the approval of the treaty for the same reasons that these governments are seeking to prevent the adoption of the Brazilian reciprocity

Court of Appeals Says. Lawyers Hust Stick to the Evidence Can't Bring Outside Matters Into the Summing Up. NEW YORK, March 26. - The court of appeals has revised the judgment of the supreme court, general term, in the case of Patrick Williams against the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad company. The opinion is written by Judge Andrews, and is of interest to lawyers on several grounds. It criticises adversely the course pursued recently in an address to the jury by Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, now secretary of the navy, who was at one time a judge of the court of appeals. It contains the first explicit pronouncement by this court upon the question of the right of counsel to go outside of the evidence in summing up a case before a jury. The question has arisen before in other states. In addressing the jury, at the close of the testimony, Gen. Tracy characterized in severe language "the utter disregard of the rights of the private citizen by corporations," and then proceeded to read from The New York Tribune of a recent date an article entitled "Only a Boy Pedler." This article had no relation to the case at

Judge Andrews says: "The reading by counsel in summing up to the jury, of the newspaper article "Only a Boy Pedler," was wholly irrevelant to the case. It could have been read for no purpose except to influence the jury against corporations and to lead them, under the influence of a just anger, excited by the incident narrated, to give liberal damages to the plaintiff in the case on trial. The refusal of the court to interfere, under the circumstances, was a legal error."

NINETEEN MEN DROWNED. Wreck of the Steamer Strathairly on the

which went ashore a mile below Chicamicomico life-saving station, on the North Carolina coast, is the British steamship Straitherly, bound from Santiago de Cuba to Baltimore. Out of a crew of twenty-six nineteen were lost, including all the officers, except the second mate. The steamer will be a total loss.

It is difficult to imagine a more desolate coast than that upon which the unfortunate steamship Strathairly wrecked. For a hundred miles south from Cape Henry, there extends a strip of sand cast up from the sea and separated from the mainland by many miles of broad belt sounds. Sometimes this strip broadens to a width of a few miles and then shrinks to a mere thread of gray sand. The inhabitants are few in number, scattered in solitary dwellings and without means of communication from the world save the occasional oyster sloop or fishing boat, that at irregular intervals cruise along the sounds. Their living is derived from the sea, and the strip is nearly barren of vegetation. On the seaside long sand bars run out and reefs abound so that the vessel wrecked upon this coast is sure to strike at a distance from the shore, and be speedily torn to pieces by the tremendous Hatteras surges that have made the vicinity the dread of navigators for a century, and has strewn the white beaches with the timbers of numberless vessels and the remains of countless sailors. The life-saving service is of the best in the country, but owing to the character of the coast the most useful of their appliances-the life-line thrown from a gun-can rarely be used, and the crews are compelled to rely largely upon their surf boats.

RAILROAD TO BLAME

THE LAW NOT COMPLIED WITH

Regarding the Use of Stoves in Cars-Findings of the New York State Railroad Commission - Recommendations

ALBANY, March 26 .- The state railroad commission has completed its investiga-tion into the matter of the Fourth avenue tunnel accident, and has made public a lengthy opinion and the results of its findings. After reviewing the circumstances of the accident the board is of opinion that the lighting of the tunnel by electricity would but tend to renter signal lights less visible. As regards the ventilation of the tunnel, the board thinks a plan both feasible and desirable is to entirely close the openings between the center and side tunnels and construct ventilating towers at certain points from the side tunnels in such a manner as to produce a strong draught through the side tunnels, ridding them of smoke and steam. The subject is such an important and difficult one that hasty conclusion is undesirable. The board is carefully considering it, and is in consultation with the railroad authorities and others as to the most practicable method of solving the difficulties. The most competent people that can be retained are now employed by the railroad companies in considering what methods can be adopted to improve ventilation light, signalling and other means of operating trains in the tunnel. In the meantime, however, the board deems that certain measures should be adopted, and that immediately, to prevent the possibility of a recurrence of such an accident, and recommends that every means be adopted by the railroad companies using the tunnel to improve the audible signal at the home signals, to insure its sounding under all circumstances if a train passes such home signal while set at dauger; approves of the companies again adopting the torpedo in addition thereto; that additional measures be adopted to constantly inspect the lights and wires moving the signals to insure their being in proper order, and that an electric device be adopted to show to the operator in the cabin the position of the signals; that no engineer or fireman be permitted by the railroad companies to run a locomotive through the tunnel until such engineer and fireman shall have a certificate of perfect eyesight and perception of color; that no train be permitted to pass through the tunnel at greater speed than fifteen miles an hour, the rate to be reduced under un favorable conditions to a rate slow enough to insure the engineer and fireman seeing the signals, until improved methods shall have been adopted which shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the board that such a reduction in speed is no longer necessary; and that the railroad companies investigate and consider the best methods to be adopted to ventilate the tunnel, and report to the board their conusions, with a view of recommending to the legislature legislation necessary to carry the same into effect. Subsequent to the accident the board made a personal examination of the tunnel. After passing the centre and side tunnels upon a locomotive and carefully watching the conditions obtaining there, the board is satisfied that the present sys tem of signals is insufficient to secure safety. Indeed, the wonder is that no serious accident has happened before. It is difficult enough to distinguish distant and home signals in the center tunnel where there are a number of openings under the most favorable conditions of weather. In the side tunnels the dangers and difficulties are increased many times. The coroner's jury recommended that a uniform rate of speed should be adopted through the tunnels. On consultation with the railroad officials the board is of the opinion that this would be impracticmaintained. It is quite proper, however, that the maxium rate should not be extended that the maxim rate should not be extended to the control of the contro able and that a uniform rate cannot be mends that there should be two operators in the cabins where the signals are set. The board is of the opinion that two men are more li ely to create confusion than one careful man with an interlocked electrical system in operation. In conclusion the board finds that Lewis Fowler, engineer, and Charles A Wellington, fireman, were directly responsible for this accident in passing distance and home signals while set at danger; and that the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company is responsible for the death of the victims of the accident inso-far as such death was contributed to by the burning of the cars, because of the failure of the said company to conform to the law requiring its cars to be heated other than by stove or furnace.

IN THE SWIM!

The Story of Ethel Jones, Related by Herself.

COPYRIGHTED AND ILLUSTRATED.

"IN THE SWIM" is a brilliant satire aimed at a phase of social folly which is politely called "rapidity," but which would be better expressed by the term "wild recklessness." The author, Thos. Wharton, is a Philadelphia Journalist, and belongs to the bright Wharton family of the Quaker City. The story is extremely fascinating and witty, and has been known to drive off a bad headache in a few minutes and give the patient a dollar's worth of amusement during the operation.

Dates for Easter.

In 1883 Easter fell on March 25, and it will only once again in this century, namely, in 1894, fall on so early a date. In the three following centuries it will occur only eight times on the same date -namely, in 1951, 2035, 2046, 2057, 2103, 2114, 2125 and 2198. The earliest date on which Easter can fall is on March 22, and this only in case the moon is full on March 21, when this date happens to fall on Saturday. This combination of circumstances is extremely rare. It occurred in 1390, 1761 and 1817, and will happen again in 1990, 2076 and 2144, while during the three following centuries it is not once "on the books" at this in New Haven on a charge of forgery. early date. They have entrenched themselves in the ruins of their former homes and prepared to stand a siege. They have posted sentinels who will announce the approach of any strangers, and have announced that they intend to cultivate the land. The rebellious crofters were yesterday engaged in doing their utmost, with the limited means at their disposal, to rebuild the demolished nomes which they formerly occupied in peace and contentment with their fami lies. POLITICAL, NOT PERSONAL.

homas P. O'Connor Explains Why He is Opposed to Parnell. LONDON, March 26 .- Thomas P. O'Couor, in a speech explaining his position to is Liverpool constituents, adopted a tone concerned, the strike is at an end. The of affectionate regret that he was comelled on political and not on personal grounds to oppose Mr. Parnell. He severely denounced the non-conformist social purity skirmishers who had forced Mr. Gladstone's hand when he desired to wait for Mr. Parnell's lips to be unsealed. The ranting, caluminous pharisess had lashed England into a fury and Ireland into a

con her people. Had Ireland, so goaded, resolved to tand by her leader, and the Tories orced an election, the Liberal party night have been demolished and the nopes of millions of innocent people frustrated. That would have been a noble work for these immaculates. For himself, he should reserve judgment on Mr. Parnell, whose unfortunate manifesto, breathing hatred of Mr. Gladstone and entirely precluding him from the eadership, compelled them to enlist under the banner of the unselfish, incorruptible and unflinchingly brave Justin McCarthy, recognizing that their only hope of home rule lay in the Liberal party. They might have extorted home rule from a weak Tory government, but they would not be justified in inflicting perhaps years of delay on Ireland. They had implicit confidence in Mr. Gladstone. How could any Irishman forget his splendid devotion or imagine that he would betray them? Mr. O'Connor in concluding his speech said that nothing would dim the glory of Mr. Parnell's past. It was a pity he had not been great enough to despise the petty struggles for the leadership and descend to the ranks instead of rending the party and depriving Ireland of his incomparable services.

The meeting unanimously adopted an expression of confidence in Mr. O'Connor Mr. Davitt has issued a manifesto warn ing the Sligo electors not to vote for Valentine Dillon, Mr. Parnell's candidate.

Marine Court Finds Capt. McKeague Guilty of Grave Errors of Judgment. GIBRALTAR, March 26.-The marine court which has been inquiring into the loss of the Anchor line steamer Utopia, which sank in Gibraltar bay during the night of Monday, March 16, after having been impaled on the spur of the ram of the British warship Anson, has decided that Capt. McKeague, commander of the Utopia, was guilty of a grave error of judgment in attempting to enter the anchorage behind the New Mole without knowing what vessels were there at anchor. The court also decided that Capt. Mc-Keague was guilty of a grave error of judgment in attempting to turn the Utopia out of the anchorage across the Anson's bows. The marine court was unanimously of the opinion that its decisions given above sufficiently marked the court's finding. OUR NEWS item of yesterday relative to the proposed amendment to the city charter, was gleaned from a Boston daily and time was not offered to obtain full particulars. The action of the Legislative committee is not what the Mayor desired, or what the majority of those citizens heard by the committee urged. Instead of requiring that the estimates shall be submitted to the Mayor, as are those of other departments, it simply adds the following paragraph to section 32 of city charter:

On or before the twentieth day of February in each year the School Committee shall furnish to the City Council an itemzed and detailed estimate of the moneys required for the school department during the ensuing financial year.

Section 32 relates to the duties of the School Committee.

Section 45 in which it was in hopes to inlude the School Committee, reads:

"The administrative officers and boards above-named in title six shall, annually, on or before the first day of March, furnish to the Mayor an itemized and detailed estimate of the moneys required for their respective DIRECTLY OPPOSITE POST OFFICE. departments or offices during the ensuing financial year. The Mayor and City Treasurer shall examine such estimates, and shall submit the same to the City Council on or before the first day of April, with their itemized and detailed recommendations thereon. No gross appropriation of money, and no item thereof, in excess of the recommendations of the Mayor and city treasurer, in case they shall agree in such recommendations, shall be passed by the Council, except by the affirmative vote of two thirds of the members present and the council of the members appears to the council of the council of the members appears to the council of the council of the members appears to the memb of two-thirds of the members present and

A Trinket Discovered in Boston Pawn Shop, But Birds Have Flown. The Herald of Wednesday says:

"Three days ago, in their rounds of the pawnshops of the North end, Special Officers Johnson and Trider discovered in one of them a bangle bracelet lying amid a lot of miscellaneous articles.

"The trinket interested them, and on examining it more closely they discovered the name "Floretta Vining" on one of the Mr. and Mrs.George W.Jones entertain a coins. This slight clew led to the discovery of a $1200 robbery. "After some difficulty the officers establishment, and an examination there, showed that a large quantity of silver ware, valued by the owner at $1200, had disappeared. Miss Vining's summer house was left in the care of Michael Williams. The house was searched by the officer, and the greater portion of the missing valuables was discovered in a trunk

"Williams was arrested last night, but professed his innocence, and accounted for the presence of the trunk by the assertion that, on the occasion of the recent fire at nome at West Quincy, after a trip through Miss Vining's house, he had moved the trunk to his own home as a place of greater safety. The Stable Statute.

To the Editors of the Daily Ledger. There is a recent law upon the statute book which stable keepers have ignored and defied which I desire to call to the attention of your readers and the city government. It has been in force since August 7, 1890, and reads:

"The Mayor and Aldermen of any city, town, may license suitable persons to keep more than four (4) horses i license at pleasure. Whoever, not being place, and in like proportion for a longer may issue an injunction to prevent such occupancy or use without such license." Their is in my neighborhood such an illegal stable, but the worse feature of it is the annoyance, the foul odors, rats and flies. Then there is the noise of horses at night, the hangers-on generally to be found there, and the increased rate of insurance to surrounding property. No more stables should be licensed than are necessary, and locations should not be permitted in thickly settled residental neighborhoods. There should be stringent regulations to restrain abuses when licenses are granted.

Sherman's Memoirs.

The death of General Sherman has had the effect of creating a demand for his memoirs. The publishers tell me that the demand is something wholly unexpected, and yet they might have known from past experience that the death of a famous and great man is sure to arouse such interest. Sherman's memoirs are pronounced by literary critics, in some respects, the most fascinating literature

In his style Sherman was unique and original, just as he was in his action and habits of thought. A distinguished teacher of Connecticut said recently that he had advised his scholars to read Grant's memoirs and those of Sherman, so that they might learn what a splendid thing simplicity, lucidity and directness were in a literary style. Sherman's memoirs never had the sale that was expected of them, and in fact none of the recollections published by the distinguished actors in the civil war ever made much money, excepting "Grant's

In his case, the extremely dramatic with the writing of them did as much to bring about the enormous sale as did Grant's reputation as the great commander.-E. J. Edwards in Philadel-

One Maine Boy.

The son of Mr. Alvin Howes, of Palmyra, is considered about the smartest boy in this section. He is 9 years old and is master of Greenleaf's Complete Arithmetic, having interest, equation of payments, mensuration, square root, cube root, etc., at his tongue's end. He will perform calculations with large numbers readily without slate or pencil, and rarely, if ever, make a mistake. With him a thing once learned is never forgotten. He began to learn geography when he was 3 years old by hearing his brother reciting his lessons to his mother. and now it is next to an impossibility to ask him a question in that study that he cannot readily answer.

He has a better knowledge of physiology than most teachers possess, and withal is quite a politician, being better posted on the events of the day than many who go to the polls and vote. He has not been drilled at home to show off: he has only been assisted when he called for help. He is a well developed, healthy looking child of modest and pleasing manners.—Hartland Cor. Pittsfield (Me.) Advertiser.

Wall-Leveling Rifles.

The new rifle with which the German army and navy have been armed during the last few months is a terror in the way of small weapons. The gun has a bore .31 inch, and throws a projectile of lead coated with nickel steel weighing 14.5 grains, or about half an ounce. The cartridge used weighs nearly an ounce, and is 3.25 inches in length. The magazine of the rifle carries five cartridges. The speed of the bullet on leaving the muzzle of the gun is about 2,200 feet per second, and the limit of its effective range is a little under two miles. Brick walls of small thickness are not absolute proof against this gun, as several shots striking the same spot will make a breach.—New York Journal.

Killed Himself for a Friend. E. C. Collins, a sewing machine agent, committed suicide at Memphis the other day. First it was supposed he was a defaulter, but that didn't pan out. Then it was assumed that he loved a girl and she wouldn't have him, but that was dispelled. Then came the announcement that he had killed himself to shield a friend, and that friend a plain man. It seems the story is true too. Collins had a friend who was charged with a serious offense. Collins was the most damaging witness in the case. His testimony would undoubtedly salt his friend, and rather than do that he committed snicide. - Detroit Journal.

WAITING FOR BLAINE

Arising from the Conference for Reciprocal Trade Relations.-The Liberal Press Not Favorably Inclined Toward Sir Charles Tupper.

OTTAWA, March 27 .- A meeting of the cabinet was held in connection with the proposed visit of the Canadian commissioners to Washington, but no decision as to the date of departure was reached.

For several days past a continuous correspondence has been passing between Sir Julian Pauncefote and the Dominion government regarding important preliminaries which Secretary Blaine insists upon being definitely settled before he will receive the Dominion representa-

It was learned in the highest official circles that Sir Charles Tupper and his colleagues are ready to start at a moment's notice, when Secretary Blaine intimates he is ready for a conference.

A prominent member of the cabinet said that he had little faith in anything being accomplished in the direction of recip-rocity with the United States, and he believed that Canada could pull through and be better in the end with the proposed mmercial alliance.

The Liberal press is coming out very strongly against sending Sir Charles Tuper as the Dominion commissioner to Washington. The Toronto Globe says, with reference to the proposed negotiations, the Dominion government is committed to various reservations which must render negotiations difficult. The Globs thus summarizes the situation.

To carry the Cape Breton constituencies the government promised that there should be no reciprocity in coal. In Ontario reciprocity in pork was denounced. Mr. Blaine, on his part, will not hear of a reciprocity in natural products until our minimum that a product supplies the products of the p ministers have pledged their word not to prejudice the national policy by allowing American manufactures to come in free. In Nova Scotia the Tory press has pro-tested against any scheme for throwing open the inshore fisheries to the Amerians, or even for granting them commercans, or even for granting them commer-tial privileges in our ports.

Sir Charles 'i upper, therefore, has his hands tied. He is encumbered by the dis-criminations now practiced against the United States. The government's policy discriminates against the States by levy-ing duties on tea, coffee and silver coin, while it discriminates against American lake vessels in the matter of canal tolls and harbor fees, a subject discussed by Mr. Dingley and others in congress.

In order to obtain any sort of a reciprocity convention from Mr. Blaine it will be necessary for Tupper to jettison a good reciprocity convention of the national network as good portion of the national policy and to force the cabinet to abandon, once for all, the sport of "Yankee baiting," which it has pursued so assiduously of late.

The most serious obstacle to Tupper's success at Washington, however, is the belief of all intelligent men at home and abroad that the Ottawa administration cannot long survive. When parliament meets, the two parties will stand—Tories, 120; Liberals, 95; or thereabouts. Of the Tories, no fewer than 45 hail from the outlying provinces, which have always been in favor of the closest trade relations with the United States, and which were seduced from that faith on March 5, only by the extraordinary exertions of govern-ment boodlers, with Tupper at their head. The Tory minority from Quebec consists of two, if not three factions, under the nominal leadership of Sir Hector, who stands charged with a serious crime, and who is to be put on trial when the house assembles, not by his Liberal opponents, but by a Tory member acting, so it is said, in behalf of the other French ministers.

The condition of agriculture in Quebec is such as to alarm even the Tories, and there is no telling when Mr. Chapleau and his Montreal contingent may resolve to save the habitant by sacrificing the Ontario manufacturer, and putting the

Among the Missing. BRISTOL, Tenn., March 27.—David H. Morrison, deputy clerk of the Scott county ourt in Virginia, has, it is alleged, by various sharp transactions, obtained and appropriated to his own use from $10,000 $30,000 and left the state. He married a lady living near Washington and is supposed to be there. An order for his arrest has been issued.

She had drawn the money from the bank during the day, and was on her way to a steamship office to buy tickets for Denmark. when two men attacked her and got away with the money.

It Looks Serious.

NEW YORK, March 27 .- The death rate of this city is reaching a large figure. Up to noon yesterday 151 deaths were reported, at which rate the daily record would exceed 300. To the grip and its several ramifications is attributable much of this mortality. Over 170 policemen are on the sick list, about double the ordinary

A PROFITABLE BUSINESS.

Sait in Court Brings Out Interesting Figures Concerning Cigarets. NEW YORK, March 27 .- Theodore E. Allan of 18 Broadway has brought suit in the supreme court against tht Kinney Tobacco company for $50,000, in payment for his services in organizing the Ameri-

BUT SMALL HOPE OF SUCCESS He avers in his complaint that in the sun mer of 1889, members of the Kinney firm agreed to pay him a commission of 1 per cent. in consideration of his employing his knowledge, acquaintance and experience to consoli late the firms of Allan & Ginter, W. S. Kimball, Duke, Sons & Co., Goodwin & Co. and the Kinney Tobacco company. The consolidation was effected, and the new concern was organized under the laws of New Jersey.

As the result, Mr. Allen says, the Kinney Tobacco company received stock certificates to the amount of $5,000.000. The commission has not been paid. Mr. Allan has instituted suits on ground similar to his ground in the Kinney company case against all the parties to the combination. The suits already brought by him indicate that the capital stock held by four of the parties to the consolidation amount to $22,000,000. With the addition of the capital stock in the hands of Goodwin & Co., the total can hardly fall below $25,000,000. Just how large the dividends on this enormous sum have been no one who knows is willing to say. They have been estimated at 17 per cent. Judging from what Allan said, it would appear that any great increase of profits since the consolidation of the five concerns have been due exclusively to the saving of most of the $1,800,000 formerly expended annually on advertising and salesmen.

Swift Vengeance Overtakes a Negro

Murderer in Kentucky. MIDDLESBOROUGH, Ky., March 27 .- J. A. Burke, the telegraph operator at .Cumberland Gap, Tenn., was shot and instantly killed by Tom Hurley, a negro. After a dispute over some trifling matter in a saloon, Hurley left, and, procuring a shotgun, laid in ambush for Burke. The latter was on his way home when the negro discharged the contents of both barrels at him, tearing out his eyes, cheeks and teeth. He died instantly. The murderer then fled, but was captured here. While the officers were taking him back to the Gap, they were met by sixty tional American conference. armed men, who took Hurley from them and then went into the mountains with him. Hurley was hanged to a tree and his body riddled with bullets.

Boston, March 27 .- Robert Cunningham, a colored waiter, called last evening on Elizabeth Castine, a white woman, 19 years old, in the rear of No. 17 North Anderson street, with whom Cunningham has been associating. The woman told him that she did not wish to continue his acquaintance, when he drew revolver and fired three shots at her, one of which took effect in her cheek. Her assailant then shot himself in the left jaw. Failing to produce the desired effect, he attempted to cut his throat with a case knife, inflicting a wound about an inch long. Both were taken to the Massachusetts general hospital and neither is considered dangerously wounded.

FEARS OF A BAD MISTAKE

In the Appointment of Mr. Foster as Special Agent to Spain-Senator Edmunds Denies Stories Circulated by Gossips-Interesting Census Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, March 27.-It is learned at the department of state that there have been no negotiations with Switzerland for several years directly upon the subject of an arbitration treaty between that country and the United States. About eight years ago such a treaty was under consideration, and the negotiations proceeded so far that the treaty was ratified by the Swiss government. It is the practice in that country to submit the draft of a treaty to the legislative branch of the government before it can be definitely proposed to the other party to the treaty, which amounts to ratification in advance of negotiation. In the case of the arbitration treaty, however, when it reached Secretary Frelinghuysen he noted a number of objections to the text, finding it generally too vague and without proper limitations; so the next negotiations lapsed. When the arbitration agreement was made between the natives of North, South and Central America, a copy of the treaty was sent to each European government. This treaty was much more elaborate and and specific in its terms than that proposed to Mr. Frelinghuysen, and therefore more likely to meet with the approval of punctilious nations. It is presumed at the department of state that if any action has been taken recently by the Swiss government, upon the subject, as reported in in the press dispatches, it was probably the submission by the president of Switzerland of a copy of this Pan-American treaty to the legislature with a recommendation that Switzerland signify her adherence to its provisions, in response to the invitations extended to European nations by the late Interna-

IN THE SENATE TO STAY.

What Senator Edmunds Has to Say About Tales of Gossip. WASHINGTON, March 27 .- Senator Ed munds, who left Washington for the south after the adjournment of congress, has returned. When asked concerning the aunouncement that he was arranging his plans with the view of resigning his seat in the senate, the senator smiled and "Well, you know, I can't properly discuss that matter with you. But let me ask, did you ever know of a man resignng from the senate except for the purpose of attending to neglected business interests and making money by managing some manufacturing establishment or enterprise of that sort? No? Well neither did I. And that is all I can say about the eport that I am to resign the senator

The senator's attention then was called to the statement published that he is to go upon the bench of the supreme court in

It is the general opinion in Washington that all the talk about Senator Edmund's resignation grows out of the fact that he has rented his house for four years to Senator Washburn of Minnesota. THE AIR WE BREATHE. Some Interesting Statistics Furnished by the Census Office. WASHINGTON, March 27 .- The census office has issued a bulletin upon the subject of the distribution of population in accordance with the mean relative humidity of the atmosphere. The reason for publishing these statistics is because of climatic influences on diseases. It shows that nearly all the population of the United States breathe an atmosphere containing 65 to 75 per cent. of its full capacity of moisture; that is, the atmosphere is from two-thirds to three-fourths saturated. In 1890, 57,036,000 out of 62,622,250 were found in this region; in for mending roads. They are to work 1880, 46,559,000 out of 59,155,783, and in eight hours a day and if refractory put in 1870, 36,273,000 out of 38,558,371. The numphere was at each census comparatively trifling, numbering in 1870 less than 500. 000, and in 1890 less than 2,000,000. In the moister atmosphere were found larger numbers scattered along the Gulf coast The most rapid increase, says the bulletin. has been found at the top and bottom of nearly doubled during each of the last two periods.

IN THE SWIM!

The Story of Ethel Jones, Related by Herself.

"IN THE SWIM" is a brilliant satire aimed at a phase of social folly which is politely called "rapidity," but which would be better expressed by the term "wild recklessness." The author, Thos. Wharton, is a Philadelphia Journalist, and belongs to the bright Wharton family of the Quaker City. The story is extremely fascinating and witty, and has been known to drive off a bad headache in a few minutes and give the patient a dollar's worth of amusement during the operation.

If you are short and stout don't ask the poor artist to make a picture of you full ength. He will, if you insist; but he knows he is doing a great wrong thereby. Nothing is so graceful and pleasing in a picture of a stout lady as a sitting half length, the figure so turned as to hide the too too stoutness. Again, if you are slim and angular, do not for an districtinstant forget that a full length figure angular. Then the pretty bust picture is your only hope and you should insist on having no other. If a gentleman has a very long neckno matter how nicely he looks in a high collar-his picture if taken in such a high affair would look grotesque. Apple Blossoms in Winter. We all love the beautiful, deliciously ragrant apple blossoms that charm us for a short season in the spring, and note adly the last shower of white petals over the emerald green carpet beneath the trees. All persons do not know, however, how easily these lovely flowers may e caused to bloom indoors in winter. If large branches are broken from the trees and placed in water in a warm, sunny window, they will soon flower, and many of the blossoms will be as beautiful and fragrant as those that bloom on the trees in the spring.

Care must be taken to select such branches as have an abundance of plump blooming buds, and some of these should be removed, as well as some of the more pointed leaf buds.

Wild pear and wild cherry branches may be flowered in a similar manner, but not so satisfactorily as apple tree limbs. No doubt many other kinds of early blooming shrubs and trees could be made to blossom in this way.

Here is an interesting field for experiment for flower lovers, particularly for invalids and children. The satisfaction of sending to a sick neighbor or presenting to a friend a bunch of fresh apple blossoms in winter amply repays the trifling labor required to produce them. -Youth's Companion.

PARNELL IN SLIGO.

McCarthyites "Get Back" at Him by Bringing a Fire Escape Into Use. SLIGO, March 27 .- Mr. Parnell unexectedly arrived in this town last night. He proceeded to a hotel and subsequently ddressed a crowd of his admirers who had gathered in front of the building. In the course of his remarks Mr. Parnell said that even if he were defeated in the coming election in North Sligo, he would never abandon the fight, but would oppose his enemies to the bitter end.

An incident which occurred during the evening, recalling the O'Shea case, caused considerable amusement among the people of the town. A party of McCarthyites btained possession of a fire escape and, amid a continuous choras of cheers and yells, wheeled their prize through the principal streets of the place and finally alted before the hotel at which Mr. Parnell was stopping, A large crowd had collected about the building to watch the un and when the fire escape was elevated o one of the windows of the hotel, the yelling and cheering was renewed with acreased vigor. REVIEW OF THE QUARTER

LESSON XIII, FIRST QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 29.

The Unity of the Israelitish Nation Destroyed-Rapid Decline and Demoralization of the Two Sections Despite the Labors of Elijah, Elisha and Others.

The quarter just completed and the next together cover one of the saddest passages in history. Borrowing a term from pro-War-President Carnot Decorated by fane history, it might be called the "Decline and Fall" of the divinely established nation. Every gracious promise to Israel had been coupled with a condition, expressed or clearly implied. Again and has fallen upon Ramiasatra, governor of again had the people been warned; again the province of Belanona, Madagascar, and again had they disregarded the warning, violated the laws against idolatry and March 4, massacred 278 men, women and entangled themselves with neighboring nations, until their measure of iniquity was complete and the judgment came.

the history of the kingdom into three stages. Samuel may be said to have organized the nation, but with so poor an instrument as Saul he could not organize the kingdom. That was the work of David, who was, in the broadest sense, a man of war. He brought the national spirit to its highest development. He repelled all the attacks of his neighbors and compelled them to respect Israel. To his son and successor he left a united people, whom no other nation dared to attack, and a fair field for the arts of peace. Solomon brought the kingdom to its highest point of glory Education, agriculture and commerce were rought to a flourishing condition. This was the golden age of Israel. The fame of solomon filled the earth. He is still the theme of a thousand legends among the nations of southern Asia, and the Jews through all the twenty-nine centuries since his day have pointed with mingled pride and sadness to the glory of Solomon The third stage—the four centuries of almost continuous decay and demoralization -began with Rehoboam, though the seeds of decay were thickly sown before. For some reasons not well understood there had long been a division in feeling, the tribe of Judah and some fractions of other tribes standing together, and the rest of the nation occasionally breaking away Again and again during the life of David did this spirit produce dangerous or bloody results, nor did David succeed in uniting the tribes till the heir of Saul, Ishbosheth, had been assassinated. Twice during that reign there were bloody insurrections. It is but reasonable to conclude that the men of Judah were greatly favored at the court of Solomon, and that the jealousy of other tribes smoldered all through the forty years of his glorious reign. Nevertheless the kingdom left by Solonon extended northeast to the Euphrates and south as far as the Red sea. His death was the signal for the old jealousy to revive, and the folly of Rehoboam completed the division. There were ther eforth two HOUSES. LAND. INSURANCE kingdoms and internecine strife, and the hatred on both sides was so intense that even the prophets were affected by it, as we see in many of their utterances. Against the dark background of war and apostacy stand out the mighty figures of Elijah and Elisha, heroes and patriots, almost mar tyrs, yet miraculously sustained and preserved, struggling mightily but in vain to bring back a deluded people to their duty to God and their native land. As the northern kingdom began its career under Jeroboam by systematically excluding the Mosaic institutions, so its downward career was most rapid. Idolary, despotism and corruntion were its "Nero," a production similar to that coward and a sneak in addition to a atry, despotism and corruption were its most of the 250 years of its troubled existence. Once Elisha succeeded in restoring ence. Once Elisha succeeded in restoring additional cost, a Map of Quincy, made by a faint spirit of piety and patriotism, and under the dynasty of Jehu (who was another the price asked for the book. under the dynasty of Jehu (who was anmurdered by Shallum (773 B. C.), who was murdered a month later by Menahem whose son Pekahiah was slain by Pekah, who was in turn assassinated by Hoshea with whom the kingdom was destroyed amid unspeakable miseries. The ten tribes were taken into captivity, and so disappeared from history. Many fanciful accounts of them have appeared, and many earned men, whose learning was not tempered with judgment, have maintained ex travagant theories concerning "The Lost Tribes," but there is every reason to be lieve that they were never reunited. Their idolatry and neglect of the Mosaic law would naturally cause them to be absorbed and lost as a race in the nations among whom they settled.

The history of the other kingdom, com nonly called Judah, is far more important and interesting; for it continued a kingdom till 588 B. C., was partially restored after the captivity, and maintained a deserate struggle for nationality for nearly ive centuries longer. Nor was the Jewish ommunity completely broken up and the people scattered till the reign of the Ronan emperor, Hadrian, about 131 A. D. when the last insurrection under Bar-Cok heba was suppressed in frightful massa cres, after which the Jews were forbidden to enter Jerusalem under penalty of death, and the dispersion was complete. Never theless it is Judah that has preserved the national name and blood, and the Jews remain a people apart among all nations to this day. It is fitting to cite here a few facts as to that portion of Jewish history between the lose of the Old Testament and opening of the New. Cyrus decreed the return of the Jews, but of the whole dispersion certainly not more than a third, and some think no more than a fifth, came back, and these ompleted the new temple about 576 B. C. Ezra somewhat later brought a colony from beyond the Euphrates, and Nehemiah another in 445 B. C. There was a long peace, during which the sacred books were DUBLIN, March 27.—In the Tipperary completed, and the canon of the Hebrew enspiracy trial Messrs. Dillon and Scriptures made up. Nor was this peace broken till Alexander the Great conquered the Persian empire (334 to 331 B. C.).

Palestine remained a Greek province, though under various rulers, for a century and a half; all the educated people read and to some extent spoke Greek, and the Scriptures were translated into that tongue (the Septuagint). In 170-160 B. C. the land became again independent under the Maccabees, but a century later a hor-rible civil war resulted in an appeal to the Romans, who took the country. The lessons just closed, the careers of Elijah and Elisha, cover the first stages of this dreadful history, and it may with everence be said that they deserve the study of those who would be statesmen almost as much as that of those who would be enlightened Christians. In these chapwith an apostate and decaying nation. The moral is set forth in Scripture lanhere, who recently failed, has committed gnage, which cannot be improved, "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God."

The Little Old Lady Thought That Too Many Candles Were Burning, A dear old lady from the country sat with her son, also from the country, in the big dining room of the Astor house a few evenings ago. Men who have come to New York from the country, if they had seen her, would have been reminded of their grandmothers. Her face was kindly, and there was just a little color in it. She wasn't very tall, and her fig-ure was comfortable. She wore a shawl. Her bonnet was a little one, and in the front of it was some white lace. Her gown was of bombazine and of some.

The big, brightly lighted room interested her. So did the people at the tables. While the son was engaged in Manet No. 75, I. O. O. When they agreed to settle, nearly a year later, he had a bill against her of a little more than $3 for loss of time for "gaping" at the cars as they went to and fro. It seems that after the construction train got to running she would go every time it passed to the door, look at it, throw up her hands and apron and laugh, so pleased at the sight. DR. GENTRY'S DISCOVERY.

Claims to Have Captured a Long. Sought

Microbe of La Grippe. CHICAGO, March 28.-Dr. William D. Gentry of this city claims to have captured a microbe of la grippe. Ever since the disease made its appearance a year ago, the doctor has been on a still hunt for the microbes, if any existed. He found that thirty-four years ago, and again sixteen years ago, la grippe was epidemic among human beings, and seventeen years ago it attacked horses, causing the still remembered "epizootic." Owing to the reoccurrence of the disease, Dr. Gentry was inclined to believe that the earth, at such intervals, passed through a stretch of spice impregnated with what astronomers call "star dust." Four days ago it recurred to him that he might trap some of the dust, or microbes, or whatever it was. Carefully polishing a blank slide be took it out of doors and passed it through the air. Placing the slide under his microscope, which magnifies 1170 times, work conducted under eminent Christian he counted seven heretofore unidentified microbes in the field of the instrument. Finally he secured several, and had them mounted for the microscope. Then he procured some mucous from a patient afflicted with la grippe, and discovered in the mucous the same sort of microbes. The grip microbes, as described by Dr. Gentry, are generally of a round form, varying occasionally in outline, but always distinctly marked by a series of seven lines surrounding them. Radiating from these lines are other lines which, in the magnified image, resemble fine, irregular hairs.

TREASURY OFFICIALS CONFIDENT

That They Can Meet the 4 1-2 Per Cent. Loan Which Matures Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON, March 28 .- The 4 1-2 per cent. loan, of which a little more than $50,000,000 is now outstanding, will mature Sept. 1 next. Treasury officials say there will be no trouble whatever in meeting it, and that it was regarded as a mat-ter of so little concern that it was not thought necessary to bring it to the attention of congress. The department stands ready now to redeem these bonds with interest to maturity, and the small amount presented each day is taken as an indication that the holders are in no par-ticular hurry to dispose of them. A promment official said that the department will be able to redeem them all on the date of maturity, if they shall be presented, but that the history of all government loans indicates that there is no possibility of such a thing, and that it will be found that a large amount of these bonds will not be presented for redemp tion for many months after the interest has ceased to run. While the available cash balance in the treasury is now only about $13,000,000, the govern-ment has about $30,000,000 additional on deposit in national banks which car te

The requisition arrived, and at once gave rise to the question, "Would his excellency recognize Bulkeley as governor?" Consider-any official intercourse with him, the point was one of delicacy. To a Journal reporter Democratic Governor Davis said: "It seems to me that I have but one clear course. This officia document bears the seals of the state of present administration. The subject was | Connecticut. I am aware that all over the country, and especially in Connecti cut, the opinion prevails that Mr. Bulke the two governments parted, the way was ley is not the lawful governor; but who clear for an amicable adjustment of the is to decide? My personal opinion is that Morris is the lawful governor, and if his signature, with the official seals were attached to these papers, I should not hesitate to surrenger Garnett. As Bulkeley is in possession of the seals, Bulkeley is governor de facto, and I do not feel that I can properly decline to recognize him as the executive. So I have made up my mind to rec gnize the validity of the papers. I am now sending the requisition papers to the attorney general to see if they are all right."

Garnett is the man who was convicted of forging orders on several Burrillville tradesmen.

THE SWIM!

The Story of Ethel Jones, Related by Herself.

"IN THE SWIM" is a brilliant satire aimed at a phase of social folly which is politely called "rapidity," but which would be better expressed by the term "wild recklessness." The author, Thos. Wharton, is a Philadelphia Journalist, and belongs to the bright Wharton family of the Quaker City. The story is extremely fascinating and witty, and has been known to drive off a bad headache In a few minutes and give the patient a dollar's worth of amusement during the operation.

At first she was very well contented with the change she had made. She practiced all her old music, read every book which came in her way and did large amount of worsted work. But after a while time dragged very heavily. The small circulating library was exhausted, and every bureau and mantle in the house was supplied with worsted mats. The days grew weary again, and Lucille began to question whether she was making a better use of her life in Barristown than she had made in her own home. During this season of doubt a letter came from Emily containing great news. "Congratulate me, dear Lu," so the letter ran, "for I have bagged my bird. Yes, I am actually engaged to that golden haired Adonis, Geoffrey Wayne, and have a solitaire diamond three times as large as the one Will Gorham gave Mollie Prichard. Of course Lucille met with opposition from her friends. They thought she would find the life of a governess very irksome, and that her grandmother wouldn't approve of the plan at all.

"But I can leave the place whenever. please, and I don't intend to tell grandma a word about is. You can forward all her letters to me, and I will send all my letters to you to post here. She will never know that I am not with you, and I am bent on being Mrs. Lamotte's governess if Mrs. Lamotte will have me. So lon't try to stop me."

Mrs. Winter and Amy at length ceased to oppose the wishes of their guest, and Mrs. Lamotte's answer to Lucille's letter having been favorable, she found herself a week later on her way to Queenstown. A carriage drawn by a pair of handsome bays was in waiting for her at the station, and she was driven rapidly toward Wildwood park. So anxious was Mrs. Lamotte to se whether the homeliness of her new gov erness was as pronounced as she wished it to be that she came herself to the hall door when the carriage arrived, and after one glance into Lucille's face gave her a cordial greeting and led the way to a handsome parlor.

heartily, "and it shows to advantage in this fresh springtime, with the green grass springing up everywhere and the trees putting forth their young leaves and buds." "You are enthusiastic," said Mrs. La motte, "and I feel sure I shall like you.

Draw your chair nearer, and I will tell you in confidence why I advertised for a nomely governess." Lucille, who had called herself Miss Danvers (her middle name), did as Mrs. Lamotte requested, and that ladv began

The Characters Represented at Hancock Hall Last Evening

A number of social dances held during the past few months by Paul Revere W.R. C. was brought to a close Friday evening by a bal masque at Hancock hall.

The variegated costumes were marked by originality and elegance, with just enough grotesque costumes in the throng of masqueraders to give a charming kaleidoscopic effect to the animated picture. Altogether the carnival was a fine success and fully met the expectations of the assemblage, which comprised many wellknown people of Quincy and neighboring

The floor was in charge of Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, who appeared in three different costumes during the evening, the first being as a domino, then as a nightcap and lastly as a school girl. Miss Furnald was assisted by Mrs. Emma Marnock and Mrs. Alice Litchfield.

The dance order contained seventeen numbers and several extras which kept the ball rolling merrily until a late hour.

Quincy Granite Can be Successfully Drilled by Electricity.

The usages to which electricity is applied is legion. One of the latest is its use for drilling granite. The apparatus which is controlled by the Edison General Electric Co., being known as the Marvin system. invented by H. C. Marvin, a young man about 27 years of age. Heretofore this work has been done by steam drills which would drill not over two inches per minute and rarely that. With the electric drill, four inches per minute are drilled in the hardest of granite.

An exhibition of the workings of this wonderful machine was given Friday afternoon at the quarry of Churchill & Hitchcock, by the Edison Company, the machine being operated by its inventor, in the presence of a large number of well known granite men, who were more than pleased at its workings.

Among those present at the exhibition were:-Sidney B. Payne, E. A. Todd, A. T. Starkey, A. B. Bush, W. H. Austin, George F. Steele, W. G. Spear and Charles Pierce of the Edison Company: William A. Chinese Burial Lot Desecrated by Crowd of Pittsburg Hoodlums.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 30.-The Chinese burial lot in Uniondale cemetery was the yesterday. The burial of Jon Sou, a high Mason, was taking place, when a mob of white roughs trampled over the graves, tore down shrubbery and jostled the mourners. The Chinese reverently placed burning joss sticks, perfumed paper and printed prayers beside the grave, only to have them almost snatched out of their hands by the excited mob. They also wrapped small coins in paper and scattered them on and in the grave, but boys and men snatched them up, and fought flercely for possession of the curious mementos. Cat-calls, jeers and howls added to the desecration.

been a series of attempts during the past few years to swindle people of prominence in this country, the person who launches the fish schemes being generally an alleged Spanish priest. Soon after President Harrison assumed his office he re-ceived a letter from a Catholic priest, as the writer described himself, saying that a Spanish army officer, after undergoing incredible vicissitudes of fortune, had died in Spain, leaving the priest a satchel containing $200,000, which was to be turned over to President Harrison on the sole condition that he would assume charge of the official's little daughter Incidentally, the amount of $5000 was needed 10 pay necessary expenses. The matter was confidential, and the president was to direct his reply in Spanish to the priest and enclose it in a letter addressed to a Spanish lady. The priest also enclosed a letter from a bishop, testifying to the good character of the priest, but curiously enough the testimonial was made out for a person of different name from that signed by the alleged priest.

The next person selected as a victim was Gen. Bartlett of the pension office in Washington. In this case a great quantity of valuable plate was at stake cumbered with an innocent angelic child of a Spaniard, whom the general really recalled as an acquaintance of his early years. His suspicions were aroused by the usual precautions that were to be observed, and he escaped without loss. A member of the United States house of representatives also came in for one of these prize packages, which were warranted to contain a fortune and a beautiful heiress. A letter was addressed /to this member from the "Paris church of San Jaime Atreida," bearing the seal of the church and the seal of the archbishopric of Toledo. Alberto Senar is the priest in this case. His letter is chiefly remarkable for the crafty manner in which he seeks to prevent the exposure of the recipient's interest to maintain silence. According to the priest's story, an illustrious prisoner has died in a castle, leavng a fortune of $1,800,000 in the Bank of London: The congressman was asked to act as executor and share in the fortune, but as one of the preliminaries was the scene of most disgraceful proceedings paying down of $5000, he did not even ibble at the bait.

Bankers and other rich men throughout the country have been approached in much the same manner, but as yet the under which the American government swindler + have not apparently found any victims. Meanwhile the authorities at certain Spanish cities, from which the cheating schemes are supposed to emanate, have been notified.

Dr. Crosby was chosen moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in 1873, and in 1877 he was a delegate to the first Presbyterian general council at Elinburgh. As an author he has written a number of scholarly theological works. Dr. Crosby's interest in public affairs was shown a year since by the active part he took in the People's Municipal league movement, which ain ed

Death of John McEnery, Who Was Once Governor of Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, March 30.-Ex-Governor John McEnery, died here of pneumonia, after a short illness. He was a native of Virginia, where he was born in 1833. He was practising law during the Civil war, organized a company for the Confederate army, rose to be lieutenant-colonel of the Fourth Louisiana and was twice wounded, the last wound ncapacitating him from further service. He was elected district judge and a member of the legislature after the war, acting as the Democratic leader. In 1872 Judge McEnery was the Democratic can-didate for governor. He was elected by a popular majority of 11,000, but the returning board counted him out. For the next forces made an attack on the supreme court building, but were defeated. In September, 1874, the Kellogg government was overthrown and McEnery installed as governor, but only for a few days, the comotive engineer, aged 27, returned United States trooops restoring Kellogg to longing to the club, also forty-one boats power. The Story of Ethel Jones, Related by Herself.

COPYRIGHTED AND ILLUSTRATED.

"IN THE SWIM" is a brilliant satire aimed at a phase of social folly which is politely called "rapidity," but which would be better expressed by the term "wild recklessness." The author, Thos. Wharton, is a Philadelphia Journalist, and belongs to the bright Wharton family of the Quaker City. The story is extremely fascinating and witty, and has been known to drive off a bad headache in a few minutes and give the patient a dollar's worth of amusement during the operation.

MINISTER BALTCHEFF'S FUNERAL. Grief-Stricken Crowd Testifies to His

Great Popularity. SOFIA, March 30.-The men arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the murder of Minister Baltcheff are detained, but an examination has shown that the actual assassin has not yet been captured. The funeral of Minister Baltcheff took place yesterday and was a pompous affair. Among the mourners were Prince Fer linand and Princess Clementine, who returned to this city for the purpose of attending the funeral. They were greatly distressed. They laid a beautiful wreath on the coffin and followed on foot to the Cathedral. All the ministers, diplomatic representatives and government officials and thousands of the grieved populace took part in the funeral procession, the whole forming an imposing cortege. The remains were interred in the cemetery outside the town.

Strange and Fatal Accident. A peculiar and fatal accident happened recently to a man named Dunham who lived in Kechi township, Sedgwick county, Kan. A farmer named Martin had killed a number of hogs, which he left hanging in his yard over night. In the morning one was gone, and in looking around for some trace which might reveal the cause of its disappearance, he noticed, a short distance from his house, something strange propped against a rail fence, and on investigating found his hog hanging by the gambrel stick around the neck of Dunham.

The thief's neck was broken, and he had evidently been dead some hours. The supposition is that while climbing the fence Dunham's burden had slipped and caught his head in the noose formed by the two legs and the cross stick, and the heavy weight had instantaneously cracked his neck.—Kansas City Star.

Jumped the Rails and Jumped Back Again A peculiar accident happened recently on the local Omaha line. In going to the junction, and before reaching Hersey & Bean's mill, the passenger and smoking cars left the track, owing to a broken rail, ran some distance on the ties, struck a switch and regained the rails. The engine and tender had not left the rails.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

ESSAY ON AMBITION.

Delivered by Mr. John Wyllie before the Clan McGregor Literary Society.

The Clan McGregor literary society met in Doble's hall on Saturday, the subject being "Ambition," and the essayist Mr. John Wyllie, who, though young in years, gave a thoughtful and well-meaning contribution.

Mr. Wyllie says:-In all the world's history ambition has prevailed amongst men and they seem to be growing more Braintree ambitious every day. We find on looking over the works of men that they have first originated in the mind of one man, the man that starts the work and see how quickly people become fired with the same zeal. Even after the originator of a work is dead, the labor is being carried on to perfection by those who come after him.

Let us take Julius Cæsar as a representative of early times. He might have been desirous of power, yet the work he accomplished in carrying to Great Britain the civilization of that period covers many faults that he or any of his comrades had. Interesting Brief Locals Gathered by The civilization that was planted in those isles by him has gone on advancing till the Anglo-Saxon race is the foremost on the face of the earth It is seen by this, it was the spirit and ambition that pervaded the Roman nation at that time which laid the Boys, do you play ball? In the criticism that followed, the same error was committed except by Dr. McLennan and a few others. Abstract definitions are difficult, and would be out of place here. We may however say that ambition is commonly understood as "An inordinate desire of power or eminence, often accompanied with illegal means to obtain the object." We speak of patriots and reformers as being inspired by nobler instincts than the ambitious adventurer. 'Cromwell I charge thee, fling away ambition; by that sin fell the angels; how can man, then, the image of his maker, hope to win by it."

Growth of Public Libraries.

State Librarian Tillinghast says in his preface to his article on "The Free Public Libraries of Massachusetts," issued las week by the state: "In 1839 the Hon. Horace Mann, then secretary of the Board of Education, stated, as the result of a careful effort to obtain authentic informaion relative to the libraries in the State. that there were from ten to fifteen town ibraries, containing in the aggregate from three to four thousand volumes, to which all the citizens of the town had access; that the aggregate number of volumes in the public libraries of all kinds in the state was 300,000; and that but little more than 100,000 persons, or one-seventh of the population of the state, had any right of of things, the master says, calls loudly for access to them.

A little over half a century has passed. There are now 175 towns and cities having free public libraries under municipal control, and 248 of the 351 towns and cities contain libraries in which the people have rights or free privileges. There are about 2,500,000 volumes in these libraries, available for the use of 2,104,224 of the 2,238,943 inhabitants which the state con tains according to the census of 1890.

The gifts of individuals in money, not including gifts of books, for libraries and library buildings, exceed five and a half million dollars.

There are still 103 towns in the state, with an aggregate population of 134,719, which do not have the benefit of the free use of a public library. These are most all without exception small towns, with a slender valuation, and 67 of them show a decline in population in the past five

REVIEW OF ADAMS ACADEMY.

In the forthcoming City Book will be found the following report of the Managers of the Adams Academy, Messrs. Edward Norton, Luther S. Anderson, Josiah Quiucy, Charles H. Porter, Charles A. Howland and George F. Pinkham. It is brief and is printed in full:

"The past year with Adams Academy has been more than usually eventful. The master, at the opening of the year, was compelled by severe illness to leave his work. In the early spring, following the advice of physicians, he sailed for Europe in quest of health, and was absent from the country nearly six months. Mr. W. R. Tyler acted as master in his absence, and with Messrs, Campbell, Warren and Damon emergency---carried forward the work of the school to the following excellent

"The fund of the Academy, together with the fees from parents who are willing to pay, affords no proper compensation for the education of so many boys. This state a remedy, if it can be found. He also reports that countless improvements are possible, if funds were sufficient.

"The Managers believe that a good work is done in the school. They recognize, and would make mention of the generosity of the master in carrying it with the help and advantages afforded to the results secured. Her husband had been called away during the evening and she was left in the house alone with her two little children. Some errand called her upstairs for a few minutes, and while there she fancied she heard a slight noise in the hall below. but, it ceasing in a moment, nothing more was thought of it. When she re turned to her sitting room, however, she soon noticed that the clock had stopped running.

It was an old fashioned eight day piece nearly nine feet high and very massive. Mrs. Bittlemorgan, thinking it had run down and needed winding, started toward it with the intention of getting it going again, and had nearly reached it when she saw a man about to dart out of it. As he made the movement, however, he brought the clock down on its face and upon himself as well. In trying to get out of the way he tripped and fell over a rug.

Before he could scramble from under its very considerable weight the quickwitted lady seated herself on the clock calling at the same time to the children to run out of the house and scream for help. This speedily came, and the man, who confessed to having secreted himself in the clock for the purpose of burglarzing the house, was carried to jail, and Mrs. Bittlemorgan much complimented on her bravery and presence of mind.-Philadelphia Times.

There Is No Death.

There is no death! The stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore; And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown

There is no death! The dust we tread Shall change beneath the summer show ers To golden grain or mellowed fruit, Or rainbow tinted flowers. The granite rocks disorganize,

And feed the hungry moss they bear: The forest leaves drink daily life From out the viewless air. There is no death! The leaves may fall, And flowers may fade and pass away:

They only wait through wintry hours
The coming of the May. There is no death! An angel form Walks o'er the earth with silent tread;

He bears our best loved things away: And then we call them "dead." He leaves our hearts all desolate:

He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers; Transplanted into bliss, they now Adorn immortal bowers.

The birdlike voice, whose joyous tones Made glad these scenes of sin and strife, Sings now an everlasting song Around the tree of life.

Where'er he sees a smile too bright, Or heart too pure for taint and vice, He bears it to that world of light, To dwell in Paradise.

Born unto that undying life, They leave us but to come again; With joy we welcome them the same— Except their sin and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen, The dear immortal spirits tread: For all the boundless universe Is life—there are no dead.

to tame it into docility. Sunday afternoon he had the snake out as usual, displaying it to a young man named Cresswell. He had it lying on his lap, his right hand closed loosely around the body just back of the head. It writhed about and finally freed its head. Then the reptile formed itself into a curl and like a flash of lightning buried its deadly fangs in the flesh of Duc's right hand. He appeared to think little about the matter and did not even bandage the wound. On Tuesday C. N. Flattery, of the San Diego Undertaking company, received a telephone message from Tia Juana saying, "Bring coffin (giving size) and come at once." The coffin was for Duc, and he died in horrible agony from the bite of the snake. -San Diego Sun.

New Zealand's Wild Horses.

"Aboard the ship that carried me from New Zealand to San Francisco were six thoroughbred New Zealand horses," remarked T. Harding McLaurin, a wealthy sheepgrower of that British possession, soon after he arrived at the Grand Pacific hotel. "And the owner expects to accomplish wonders with these animals. It is a strange thing to many that good horses should be bred in New Zealand. I dare say that when I get to England, and when I relate various matters, my friends will answer with a stare of incredulity. As a point of fact the vast plains to the north of my place-Otago-are the homes of great herds of wild horses that roam about as fearlessly as did the mustangs or broncos of your western plains.

"Are they better horses than the mus tangs? Well, they are as far above the American article as the pure blooded Arabian is above an ordinary draught horse. They are large and well built, and there is no uniformity of color. They live upon the rich tassocks and peelie grass that abound on their once volcanic fields. "The New Zealand wild horse is a hard one to break, but once brought under control he makes a magnificent driving or carriage animal. Cheap too. I have seen beautiful fourteen hand horses sold for fifteen pounds to be used for coaches. Breeding with imported stock produces a variety such as would be well adapted to America. Just now sheep raising is the great industry of the island, but I predict a great future for the horse trade."-Chicago News

The was hurt. chief commissioner while pursuing his inquiries into the disputes between the chiefs occupied a camp which was garrisoned by a strong force of Goorkhas, Suddenly this camp was attacked by a lowed the onslaught of the tribesmen. The Goorkhas fought most determinedly against heavy odds, and according to the report 470 of the Goorkhas were killed. Seven of the British officers who accompanied the chief commissioner, and that official himself, are reported to be missing.

The news of the massacre was brought to Kohima, on the Assam frontier, by two Goorkhas who arrived there yesterday. The massacre originated in a feud between the rajah of Manipur and a leading tribal chief. The rajah was deposed and he appealed to the viceroy. Mr. Quinton was sent to settle the troubles; started from the headquarters at Shillong, escorted by the Forty-second and Fortyfourth Goorkha light infantry. After crossing the frontier Mr. Quinton summoned the chiefs to a durbar at Manipur for the purpose of arresting the rebellious chiefs. The tribesmen, pretending to obey the summons, mustered in force, and at midnight on the day before the day on which the durbar was to be held, suddenly attacked the camp of Commissioner Quinton, which lay between Kohima and Manipur. The attempt to surprise the camp failed and the tribesmen were driven back. They returned, however, and kept up the attack and siege night and day for forty-eight hours. Finally the ammunition of the Goorkhas gave out and Commissioner Quinton was obliged to give the order 'sauve qui peut." During the fight at the camp scouts were sent out to try to communicate with Schillong, but they never returned. The Manipur natives cut the telegraph wires and killed the messengers. Fugitives report that a general massacre followed the taking of the

There is reason for believing that the estimate that 470 were killed is incorrect. One account of the affair reports that Commissioner Quinton and his staff were made prisoners. The Indians re also to be told that the superintendent of Indian schools is now investigating the matter of establishing a large boarding chool at Rosebud, improving the boarding schools at Pine Ridge and elsewhere and locating and building the thirty-day chools provided for, and that it is hoped that before the opening of the new school year in September all of this work will either be completed, or well under way, so that they will have next year better school facilities than they have ever had. The agents are also instructed to inform the Indians that probably within the next month a commission will be appointed to settle the question of a boundary line between Pine Ridge and Rosebud, and that orders have already been given for the establishment of sub-issue stations at convenient places. Larger and better cattle will also be furnished the Indians. The commissioner directs that the agents state to the Indians very fully and very uphatically that a renewal of the disturbances will postpone the payment of money and the furnishing of supplies.

FINE POINTS TO SOLVE.

Difficulties in the Way of Settling Direct Tax Claims of Individuals.

WASHINGTON, March 31 .- Treasury offiials are considering the best method of ettling the direct tax claims of individuals in those states where the tax was collected directly by United States officers. The act provides that in such cases the oney in settlement of direct tax claims shall be paid to the governors of the states in trust for the claimants. It so happens, nowever, that the records of these collections are in the custody of the government and that the governors have no record information on the subject. Several ways out of the difficulty have been suggested, and the one most likely to be adopted is for the governors to appoint agents to make transcripts in accordance therewith. Under this plan the states would be allowed to retain all that portion of its allotment for which claims shall not be presented within six years from the date of the passage of the act. Applications for their share of the tax | $4 60 to 5 35.

"IN THE SWIM" is a brilliant satire aimed at a phase of social folly which is politely called "rapidity," but which would be better expressed by the term "wild recklessness." The author, Thos. Wharton, is a Philadelphia Journalist, and belongs to the bright Wharton family of the Quaker City. The story is extremely fascinating and witty, and has been known to drive off a bad headache in a few minutes and give the patient a dollar's worth of amusement during the operation.

The suggestion is made by the commissioners:

1. That the name of Samuel Adams be emoved from the pedestal;
2. And that the name of Washington e inscribed in its place.

Much better would it have been if they nad suggested that the bust be sold to some dime museum, or better still dumped into the sea. A bust which passes so long for to real person it is suppose to represent, can serve no useful nor ornamental purpose at the State house .- Cape Ann Breeze.
